'Hitler-Like' M'Carthy Actions Help Reds, Flanders Charges

Attack Branded Attempt To Raise "Racial Issues"

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) today accused Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) of Hitler-like tactics which, the Vermonter said, have sown division and confusion in the nation, besmirched responsible government, and created "foreboding" among such minorities as the Jews.

McCarthy replied by charging Flanders with a "vicious" attempt to inject racial issues into the hunt for Communists.

Flanders, raking McCarthy in a Senate floor speech, took the position that McCarthy's actions have aided the Communists' divide-and-conquer drive.

"Were the junior senator from Wisconsin in the pay of the Communists, he could not have done a better job for them," Flanders said.

Relationships Questioned

The 73-year-old Vermonter, now in his eighth year in the Senate, also raised the question whether Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the McCarthy subcommittee, has some kind of hold on McCarthy to influence his actions. Flanders also asked why Cohn showed "an almost passionate anxiety" to retain G. David Schine as a collaborator on the staff of the McCarthy committee.

Flanders said the Senate subcommittee now investigating McCarthy's dispute with Army officials has not yet "dug into the real heart of the mystery." That mystery, he said, "concerns the personal relationships of the Army private, the staff assistant (Cohn), and the senator (McCarthy)."

That brought from McCarthy a demand that Flanders be called before the subcommittee as a witness, put under oath, and asked to tell "what that mystery is." At one point he suggested that Flanders be subpoenaed, but he withdrew the suggestion.

McCarthy Fires Back

McCarthy was not present when Flanders spoke in the Senate, but he spoke up a short time later during the televised hearing in the Senate office building.

He said Flanders had done a "vicious and dishonest" thing in raising "racial issues" concerning the search for communism. McCarthy said he is a Catholic, Cohn a Jew and staff chief Francis P. Carr a Protestant, but the three have worked together to fight communism without regard to religious issues.

"It is dishonest beyond words," McCarthy said, "for a senator to take the Senate floor to try to inject religious and racial bigotry in this search we are making for Communists."

Boone Is Named Naval Academy Superintendent

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 1 (AP)—Rear Adm. Walter Frederick Boone, who began his fighting days as a midshipman in World War I, was named superintendent of the Naval Academy today.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas announced in Washington that Boone will succeed Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, who retires July 1. When Boone takes over was uncertain, but presumably before Joy departs.

Boone Native Of California

Boone is now a member of the Strategic Survey Committee of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington. He is 56, a native of Berkeley, Calif., and a veteran of both World Wars and the second Nicaraguan campaign in 1926.

He will be the 38th superintendent at Annapolis for a tour of duty that usually lasts two or three years.

Joy, 59, came to Annapolis in August, 1952, after a stretch as chief United Nations peace negotiator in Korea. He plans to live in La Jolla, Calif.

Received Silver Star

Boone received the Silver Star for action as executive officer of the Carrier Enterprise while the ship was under attack by Japanese aircraft in the battle of Santa Cruz, Oct. 26, 1942.

He later was awarded the Legion of Merit for command of the Carrier Yorktown in operations against the Japanese in 1945. His decorations also include a presidential unit citation for the Yorktown and Enterprise and a commendation ribbon for service as commander of naval air base in the 12th District between September 1944 and February 1945.

Airline Founder Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 1 (AP)—Paul R. Braniff, 56, aviation pioneer and founder of Oklahoma's first commercial airline, died in a hospital early today.

10 Die In Crash Of Guard Plane

DULUTH, Minn., June 1 (AP)—Death toll in the crash of an air National Guard C47 mounted to 10 tonight when William Lange, 25, Duluth, died in a hospital here.

The plane, making a second landing approach under fog conditions, crashed into a tree-edged gravel pit one mile from the Duluth Airport's main runway Monday night. The wreckage did not burn.

Two of the 14 aboard staggered away from the wreckage, where five bodies were recovered. Five others, including Lange, died either en route to or in hospitals, where two more still are reported

All of the 14 airmen aboard were from northern Minnesota, most of them from Duluth. They were returning from a training flight to Indianapolis where they took in the 500-Mile Speedway Race on the stopover.

"It was heart breaking," Lt. Col. Ralph Jerome, 179th commander, said. "They were only 45 seconds away from home, then it happened."

House Votes To Boost Social Security Rolls

Expansion Bill Approved 355-8

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—A bill to open the social security rolls to almost 10 million more Americans, increase the benefits and boost the tax take was passed overwhelmingly by the House today. The rollcall vote was 355-8.

Now the big expansion measure goes to the Senate for final congressional action.

It embodies most of President Eisenhower's social security recommendations and is designed to make 75 per cent of the nation's old folks eligible for benefits by 1960. An estimated 47 per cent of the population is covered now.

An estimated 3,600,000 farmers would become eligible for social security under the expanded system, as well as about 3,500,000 state and municipal employes, a large group of professional people, clergymen and others not covered now.

Benefits Increased

The legislation also provides for a minimum boost of $5 a month in benefit payments, larger annual contributions, or taxes, by many employes and employers, and more liberal provisions for old folks who want to continue work after their payments start.

Drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee, the bill was thrown open to brief debate under a rule barring any amendments. Thus the House was limited to voting for or against the bill in its entirety.

Some members who thought the changes in the 17½-year-old social security plan didn't go far enough, or thought they went too far, objected to what they called "A gag rule."

Rep. Lyle Complains

Rep. Lyle (D-Tex) complained the rule "disenfranchises members of Congress."

Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind) told the House a bill so big and complicated must be presented on a basis of "actuarial soundness." To permit important changes to be made on the spur of the moment, he said, might jeopardize the entire social security structure.

One major provision would raise from $3,600 a year to $4,200 the maximum wage on which both benefits and taxes are based. This would mean an additional contribution of $12 annually by each covered worker earning $4,200 or more and a similar payment by his employer. The current tax rate for both is 2 per cent.

Milton Berle's No. 1 Fan–His Mother–Dies

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—The greatest fan comedian Milton Berle ever had—his mother—died late last night.

"She was my inspiration, my life," he said as, haggard with grief, he landed by plane from California just before noon today. "Since I was five, she plugged for me. She was my backbone."

A stroke killed Mrs. Sandra Berle in her Central Park South apartment at the age of 77. She had been ill for several days.

Memorial Day Weekend Death Toll Breaks Record

[By The Associated Press]

The Memorial Day weekend—a period dedicated to honoring America's war dead—was sullied by a record high three-day toll for the holiday of 539 violent deaths.

The traffic toll reached 362, only one shy of the all-time high record for the holiday set in 1952.

President Eisenhower expressed distress over the "very high highway fatalities." He noted more persons are killed on the highways each year than the number of Americans who met death in Korea.

Something could be done about it, the chief executive went on, if the nation put its mind to the problem.

The overall toll broke the previous record of 510 for a three-day Memorial Day holiday set in 1952.

There were 93 drownings during the holiday this year and 84 perished in miscellaneous accidents.

The traffic toll was greater than advance estimates, higher than the average rate for the year thus far and larger than that for a random non-holiday May weekend compiled earlier last month.

The high number of traffic deaths also brought an expression of disappointment from Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council. The council made a pre-holiday estimate of 340 such deaths.

Dearborn said:

"Bad as the holiday death toll was, we believe it would have been worse without the safety activity on state and local level resulting from the White House conference on highway safety called by President Eisenhower in February."

Security Council To Take Up Thai Plea Tomorrow

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Thailand's appeal for a U. N. peace observation committee to make an on-the-spot check on the war in Southeast Asia will be taken up by the Security Council Thursday morning (9:30 a.m. EST).

Chief American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., president of the council for June, called the meeting after consulting delegates. The big question is: what will the Soviet Union do? The Russians have not yet tipped their hand on the new case. If they veto the appeal, Thailand then is expected to go to the General Assembly for help.

Plea Filed Saturday

Thanat Khoman, Thailand's acting permanent delegate who filed the plea formally Saturday, appeared satisfied with the speed of the meeting. He had no other comment.

The action means that after long years of struggle in Indochina between the French and the Communist-led Vietminh the U. N. finally is being asked to do something in that part of the world. Thailand did not mention Indochina in its appeal, but its delegates said they want the U. N. to examine the Indochina War and do what it can to save the free lands of Southeast Asia from onrushing Communists.

Dulles Favors Move

Secretary of State Dulles already is on record as favoring the Thai move. He tried unsuccessfully to work out a united action program by consultations with the British, French, Australians and New Zealanders outside the U. N. The Thai appeal will give him an opportunity to come to the U. N. for whatever collective security he can achieve here.

France and Britain are believed to have agreed on putting the Thai appeal before the council, at least as far as it concerns sending a peace observation group to Thailand. So far France has not shown signs of inviting the group into Indochina proper, which Khoman would like done. Khoman hopes an invitation will be sent once the committee has reached Bangkok.

High Court Overturns Murder Conviction On Unusual Grounds

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The Supreme Court today overturned a murder conviction on the ground that a psychiatrist threw the defendant into an "almost trance-like" state and helped police extract a confession from him.

This will mean a third trial for 54-year-old Camilo Weston Leyra, twice convicted of beating his aged parents to death with a hammer in their Brooklyn apartment in 1950 after an argument over business matters. He was sentenced to death in both previous trials.

Leyra's father, Camilo Leyra, was 75 and his mother 80.

In another decision the high court upheld 7-2 the right of a state to levy a property tax on the airplanes of air lines when the planes make regular interstate stops in the state. This rejected an appeal by Braniff Airways of Dallas against a Nebraska levy.

Veterans Day Bill Signed By President

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed legislation changing Armistice Day—November 11 each year—to Veterans Day in honor of all of the servicemen and women who have served America.

The President put his name on the bill at a White House ceremony witnessed by members of Congress who sponsored the measure, and by officials of the various veterans organizations.

Group Would Deny Scientist Atom Secrets

Special AEC Panel Says, However, Noted Physicist "Loyal"

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—A special security board has voted 2-1 to bar Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer of atomic bomb fame from further access to the nation's atomic secrets.

The board, it was disclosed tonight, reached the conclusion that the physicist, who had scientific charge of the creation of the first atomic bomb, is "a loyal citizen" but is nevertheless a security risk.

For one thing, it said, he was an active fellow traveler of the Communists at one time and showed "poor judgment in continuing some of his past associations into the present."

For another, it held that his past opposition to all-out research on the hydrogen bomb delayed, in effect, a concerted attempt to make such a weapon. Thus, it said, the "security interests of the United States were affected."

The board's findings and recommendations were dated May 27 and addressed to Atomic Energy Commission general manager K. D. Nichols.

AEC Review Of Case Asked

They were made public today by Herbert S. Marks, a lawyer for Dr. Oppenheimer. Marks also made public a letter to Nichols from Lloyd K. Garrison, Oppenheimer's chief counsel, in which an appeal was made to have the case reviewed immediately by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC set up the special security board which made the findings issued tonight.

Gordon Gray, former secretary of the Army and now president of the University of North Carolina, voted with Thomas A. Morgan, former president of the Sperry Corp., to recommend that Oppenheimer's security clearance not be reinstated.

The third member of the special board, chemistry Prof. Ward V. Evans of Loyola University of Chicago, filed a dissenting opinion in which he said Oppenheimer had been cleared of the same charges in 1947. He added:

"Our failure to clear Dr. Oppenheimer will be a black mark on the escutcheon of our country."

Evans said, among other things, that Oppenheimer "did not hinder the development of the hydrogen bomb."

Four Considerations

The majority recommendation signed by Gray and Morgan said "particular attention (was paid) to the question of his loyalty."

"We have come to a clear conclusion, which should be reassuring to the people of this country, that he is a loyal citizen," they added.

"If this were the only consideration, therefore, we would recommend that the reinstatement of

Hensel Demands Right To Testify

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—H. Struve Hensel today demanded the right to testify in his own behalf unless Sen. McCarthy withdraws his original charges against Hensel or else the senators investigating the McCarthy-Army row specifically dismiss the charges on the ground that they are without foundation.

Charges against Hensel were dropped by the subcommittee conducting the hearings last Wednesday. At the same time, the senators dismissed Army charges against Francis Carr, staff director of McCarthy's committee. Democratic senators said the dropping of the Carr charges amounted to a "whitewash."

McCarthy had alleged that Hensel, who is assistant secretary of defense in charge of international security affairs, had master-minded the Army charges brought against McCarthy, Carr and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy committee, in an effort to ward off a probe of Hensel's World War II activities in connection with a shipping firm.

Hensel made his demand in a letter to Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) asking him to turn over a stenographic record of statements Hensel said had been made at an executive session of the subcommittee on May 17.

Secretary Testifies

Mrs. Mary Driscoll, Sen. McCarthy's secretary, testifies before the Senate Investigations subcommittee hearing on McCarthy's dispute with the Army. Special Counsel Ray Jenkins asked Roy Cohn to step aside as a witness so that Mrs. Driscoll could be heard regarding 11 office memoranda prepared by Cohn, McCarthy and Francis Carr in connection with the dispute.

Better Business Prayers Planned

FULTON, Ky., June 1 (AP)—Local businessmen plan prayers for better business.

A half-hour devotional is planned every Monday morning, before beginning the week's work, with a member of the Fulton Ministerial Alliance in attendance.

The prayer sessions were decided upon by members of the Retail Merchants Bureau, representing Fulton and South Fulton.

Edgewater, N. J., Blaze Checked

EDGEWATER, N. J., June 1 (AP)—A spectacular fire roared out of control for two hours today in a two-block area of this congested industrial city's Hudson River waterfront. Damage was estimated at one million dollars by Fire Chief George Lasher.

The blaze burst through a five-story warehouse where the Ford Motor Co. had a store of rubber, ruined at least 95 new cars in and outside the building and destroyed three old raw sugar docks.

A nine-story brick building, formerly occupied by the National Sugar Co. and now being demolished, and part of the municipal dock housing the civil defense headquarters were damaged.

At one time, a 26-acre tract was ablaze, sending a rain of sparks that ignited two houses several blocks away. The Borough Hall and other buildings in the center of town were threatened for a time.

Socarras Indicted

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Carlos Prio Socarras, former President of Cuba, and 16 others were charged in federal indictments today with conspiring to export war materials from the United States to Cuba in violation of the Neutrality Act.

French, Vietminh Military Leaders Will Meet Today

GENEVA, June 1 (AP)—The Geneva conference on Indochina achieved the relatively small success today of arranging a meeting between military leaders of the antagonists here tomorrow.

But in the broad political view the peace effort was still tied in a tight knot.

The diplomats from East and West will go into their 14th session on Indochina tomorrow miles apart on the question of supervising the hoped for cease-fire in the long, Asian jungle war.

The military talks will be held at the Palace of Nations between Gen. Henri Delteil of the French command in Indochina and Ta Quang Buu, Vietminh vice minister of defense. At the same time the political wrangle will be resumed by the foreign ministers in another chamber of the palace.

At a preliminary meeting today, military representatives of the two sides reached complete agreement on questions of procedure concerning tomorrow's meeting, a communique said.

Agreement also was reached on the exchange of mail with war prisoners who are seriously ill or badly wounded.

The conference was in recess today, but Western diplomats conferred among themselves. They considered mainly means of meeting the Communist demand for armistice supervision machinery in Indochina, which in the Western view would be packed in favor of the Communists.

Battered Mountain Climber Flown To Fairbanks, Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, June 1 (AP)—A battered Brooklyn soldier, still strapped to the small sled used in his rescue from Mt. McKinley, split his bushy beard with a feeble grin and winked a blackened eye as he was unloaded from an Air Force plane here today.

Pfc. George Argus, 25, was unable to talk because of sedatives given to kill the pain of his badly injured hip, hurt in a fall over a 1,000 foot precipice May 16.

He was only semiconscious but managed the grin that showed a gap in his upper front teeth.

Argus was taken to surgery at Ladd Air Force Base Hospital. Doctors said an operation was needed on his hip, which they found badly dislocated but not broken.

This was the final chapter in the perilous rescue mission begun last Wednesday when two of Argus' companions stumbled off 20,690-foot McKinley, the continent's highest peak. They brought word of the tragedy in which one member of their four-man climbing party was killed and Argus was injured.

Air Force helicopters airlifted eight expert mountaineers a mile up the mountain. They fought their way in the next five days to the 11,000-foot level where Argus had been left in a tiny tent at the head of a crevasse-lined glacier.

The Brooklyn GI was reached Sunday, put on the air dropped aluminum sled and brought nearly a mile down the mountainside.

Late last night Capt. Ralph Searle of the 74th Air Rescue Squadron nursed his helicopter to a landing far above its usual maximum operating altitude. Searle said he "squeezed every inch out of the altimeter."

The 'copter hopped to a mining village where a small Air Force plane took Argus to Minchumina. There he was transferred to a twin-engined plane which brought him here.

Army Tactics "Dishonest," Senator Says

McCarthy, Attacking Challenge, Proposes Lie Detector Tests

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The Army side fired a new challenge today at the honesty of an exhibit by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). McCarthy denounced the challenge as "dishonest" and proposed that all principals in his dispute with Army officials submit to lie detector tests.

Joseph N. Welch, counsel to the Pentagon officials, voiced "deepest suspicions about the genuineness" of 11 memoranda submitted as the work of McCarthy aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr.

Welch asked that an independent expert on documents be called in to pass on these memos, which Cohn said were dictated by himself and Carr at various times between last Oct. 2 and March 11.

The memos recited what the McCarthy camp terms improper attempts by the Army to use Pvt. G. David Schine as a hostage to induce the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee to call off its probe of alleged Communists in the Army.

Welch's Strategy

Although Welch did not say so, he evidently was attempting to show that the documents were not "spot memos" dictated at the time of the alleged improper Army actions, but were prepared in a bunch after the Army accused McCarthy and aides of pressure tactics to obtain preferential treatment for Schine.

However, Welch withdrew his request for an expert to examine the documents, after Ray Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, told him the FBI already has advised that such an examination would not disclose whether the memos were typed at the time they were dated or later.

"If there is a riddle," Welch said, "it was wrapped in an enigma, and we won't be able to solve it."

Welch uttered his challenge in cross-examination of McCarthy's personal secretary, Mrs. Mary Driscoll, a peppery brown-haired woman who said she undoubtedly typed the documents on the dates stated—although she said she had "no independent recollection" of having typed any of them.

McCarthy Challenges Welch

McCarthy accused Welch of "browbeating" the blue-eyed Mrs. Driscoll and of attributing perjury to her. He demanded Welch take the stand and tell under oath whether he had "one iota of evidence the memoranda weren't exactly what they purported to be.

Then the Wisconsin senator urged lie detector tests for all the key figures—himself, Secretary of the Army Stevens, Cohn and Army Counselor John G. Adams. And he volunteered to take the test first.

"In that way," McCarthy said, his voice rising, "Maybe we can end this whole hassle in 24 hours—instead of 24 days."

Nobody took him up on the lie detector proposal.

McCarthy made this same proposal before the hearings opened. It won no acceptance then, either.

This was the third time since the televised hearings began that the Army side has questioned McCarthy evidence. One previous instance was the senator's use of a cropped photograph. The other was

Final Rail Fight Score Week Off

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Reckoning the score in the fight for control of the huge New York Central Railroad will continue to next Tuesday at least, the election inspectors reported today.

The forces of Central President William White and the opposition of financier Robert R. Young maintained their confident attitudes they displayed at the noisy stockholders' meeting last Wednesday.

Only a dozen stockholders were here today to hear White read an interim report from the inspectors at a meeting in the Washington Ave. Armory.

Last Wednesday 2,000 stockholders packed the drill floor.

The report from the election inspectors, requesting the recess until noon June 8, said:

"We regret to report that the counting and tabulation of the vote is incomplete. The existence of the contest, the size of the vote, the number of proxy papers and supporting documents and the checking of papers by representatives of the two sides make difficult the expedition of the count."

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The Supreme Court today overturned a murder conviction on the ground that a psychiatrist threw the defendant into an "almost trance-like" state and helped police extract a confession from him.

This will mean a third trial for 54-year-old Camilo Weston Leyra, twice convicted of beating his aged parents to death with a hammer in their Brooklyn apartment in 1950 after an argument over business matters. He was sentenced to death in both previous trials.

Leyra's father, Camilo Leyra, was 75 and his mother 80.

In another decision the high court upheld 7-2 the right of a state to levy a property tax on the airplanes of air lines when the planes make regular interstate stops in the state. This rejected an appeal by Braniff Airways of Dallas against a Nebraska levy.

Veterans Day Bill Signed By President

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed legislation changing Armistice Day—November 11 each year—to Veterans Day in honor of all of the servicemen and women who have served America.

The President put his name on the bill at a White House ceremony witnessed by members of Congress who sponsored the measure, and by officials of the various veterans organizations.

Group Would Deny Scientist Atom Secrets

Special AEC Panel Says, However, Noted Physicist "Loyal"

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—A special security board has voted 2-1 to bar Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer of atomic bomb fame from further access to the nation's atomic secrets.

The board, it was disclosed tonight, reached the conclusion that the physicist, who had scientific charge of the creation of the first atomic bomb, is "a loyal citizen" but is nevertheless a security risk.

For one thing, it said, he was an active fellow traveler of the Communists at one time and showed "poor judgment in continuing some of his past associations into the present."

For another, it held that his past opposition to all-out research on the hydrogen bomb delayed, in effect, a concerted attempt to make such a weapon. Thus, it said, the "security interests of the United States were affected."

The board's findings and recommendations were dated May 27 and addressed to Atomic Energy Commission general manager K. D. Nichols.

AEC Review Of Case Asked

They were made public today by Herbert S. Marks, a lawyer for Dr. Oppenheimer. Marks also made public a letter to Nichols from Lloyd K. Garrison, Oppenheimer's chief counsel, in which an appeal was made to have the case reviewed immediately by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC set up the special security board which made the findings issued tonight.

Gordon Gray, former secretary of the Army and now president of the University of North Carolina, voted with Thomas A. Morgan, former president of the Sperry Corp., to recommend that Oppenheimer's security clearance not be reinstated.

The third member of the special board, chemistry Prof. Ward V. Evans of Loyola University of Chicago, filed a dissenting opinion in which he said Oppenheimer had been cleared of the same charges in 1947. He added:

"Our failure to clear Dr. Oppenheimer will be a black mark on the escutcheon of our country."

Evans said, among other things, that Oppenheimer "did not hinder the development of the hydrogen bomb."

Four Considerations

The majority recommendation signed by Gray and Morgan said "particular attention (was paid) to the question of his loyalty."

"We have come to a clear conclusion, which should be reassuring to the people of this country, that he is a loyal citizen," they added.

"If this were the only consideration, therefore, we would recommend that the reinstatement of

Hensel Demands Right To Testify

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—H. Struve Hensel today demanded the right to testify in his own behalf unless Sen. McCarthy withdraws his original charges against Hensel or else the senators investigating the McCarthy-Army row specifically dismiss the charges on the ground that they are without foundation.

Charges against Hensel were dropped by the subcommittee conducting the hearings last Wednesday. At the same time, the senators dismissed Army charges against Francis Carr, staff director of McCarthy's committee. Democratic senators said the dropping of the Carr charges amounted to a "whitewash."

McCarthy had alleged that Hensel, who is assistant secretary of defense in charge of international security affairs, had master-minded the Army charges brought against McCarthy, Carr and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy committee, in an effort to ward off a probe of Hensel's World War II activities in connection with a shipping firm.

Hensel made his demand in a letter to Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) asking him to turn over a stenographic record of statements Hensel said had been made at an executive session of the subcommittee on May 17.

Secretary Testifies

Mrs. Mary Driscoll, Sen. McCarthy's secretary, testifies before the Senate Investigations subcommittee hearing on McCarthy's dispute with the Army. Special Counsel Ray Jenkins asked Roy Cohn to step aside as a witness so that Mrs. Driscoll could be heard regarding 11 office memoranda prepared by Cohn, McCarthy and Francis Carr in connection with the dispute.

Better Business Prayers Planned

FULTON, Ky., June 1 (AP)—Local businessmen plan prayers for better business.

A half-hour devotional is planned every Monday morning, before beginning the week's work, with a member of the Fulton Ministerial Alliance in attendance.

The prayer sessions were decided upon by members of the Retail Merchants Bureau, representing Fulton and South Fulton.

Edgewater, N. J., Blaze Checked

EDGEWATER, N. J., June 1 (AP)—A spectacular fire roared out of control for two hours today in a two-block area of this congested industrial city's Hudson River waterfront. Damage was estimated at one million dollars by Fire Chief George Lasher.

The blaze burst through a five-story warehouse where the Ford Motor Co. had a store of rubber, ruined at least 95 new cars in and outside the building and destroyed three old raw sugar docks.

A nine-story brick building, formerly occupied by the National Sugar Co. and now being demolished, and part of the municipal dock housing the civil defense headquarters were damaged.

At one time, a 26-acre tract was ablaze, sending a rain of sparks that ignited two houses several blocks away. The Borough Hall and other buildings in the center of town were threatened for a time.

Socarras Indicted

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Carlos Prio Socarras, former President of Cuba, and 16 others were charged in federal indictments today with conspiring to export war materials from the United States to Cuba in violation of the Neutrality Act.

French, Vietminh Military Leaders Will Meet Today

GENEVA, June 1 (AP)—The Geneva conference on Indochina achieved the relatively small success today of arranging a meeting between military leaders of the antagonists here tomorrow.

But in the broad political view the peace effort was still tied in a tight knot.

The diplomats from East and West will go into their 14th session on Indochina tomorrow miles apart on the question of supervising the hoped for cease-fire in the long, Asian jungle war.

The military talks will be held at the Palace of Nations between Gen. Henri Delteil of the French command in Indochina and Ta Quang Buu, Vietminh vice minister of defense. At the same time the political wrangle will be resumed by the foreign ministers in another chamber of the palace.

At a preliminary meeting today, military representatives of the two sides reached complete agreement on questions of procedure concerning tomorrow's meeting, a communique said.

Agreement also was reached on the exchange of mail with war prisoners who are seriously ill or badly wounded.

The conference was in recess today, but Western diplomats conferred among themselves. They considered mainly means of meeting the Communist demand for armistice supervision machinery in Indochina, which in the Western view would be packed in favor of the Communists.

Army Tactics "Dishonest," Senator Says

McCarthy, Attacking Challenge, Proposes Lie Detector Tests

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The Army side fired a new challenge today at the honesty of an exhibit by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). McCarthy denounced the challenge as "dishonest" and proposed that all principals in his dispute with Army officials submit to lie detector tests.

Joseph N. Welch, counsel to the Pentagon officials, voiced "deepest suspicions about the genuineness" of 11 memoranda submitted as the work of McCarthy aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr.

Welch asked that an independent expert on documents be called in to pass on these memos, which Cohn said were dictated by himself and Carr at various times between last Oct. 2 and March 11.

The memos recited what the McCarthy camp terms improper attempts by the Army to use Pvt. G. David Schine as a hostage to induce the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee to call off its probe of alleged Communists in the Army.

Welch's Strategy

Although Welch did not say so, he evidently was attempting to show that the documents were not "spot memos" dictated at the time of the alleged improper Army actions, but were prepared in a bunch after the Army accused McCarthy and aides of pressure tactics to obtain preferential treatment for Schine.

However, Welch withdrew his request for an expert to examine the documents, after Ray Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, told him the FBI already has advised that such an examination would not disclose whether the memos were typed at the time they were dated or later.

"If there is a riddle," Welch said, "it was wrapped in an enigma, and we won't be able to solve it."

Welch uttered his challenge in cross-examination of McCarthy's personal secretary, Mrs. Mary Driscoll, a peppery brown-haired woman who said she undoubtedly typed the documents on the dates stated—although she said she had "no independent recollection" of having typed any of them.

McCarthy Challenges Welch

McCarthy accused Welch of "browbeating" the blue-eyed Mrs. Driscoll and of attributing perjury to her. He demanded Welch take the stand and tell under oath whether he had "one iota of evidence the memoranda weren't exactly what they purported to be.

Then the Wisconsin senator urged lie detector tests for all the key figures—himself, Secretary of the Army Stevens, Cohn and Army Counselor John G. Adams. And he volunteered to take the test first.

"In that way," McCarthy said, his voice rising, "Maybe we can end this whole hassle in 24 hours—instead of 24 days."

Nobody took him up on the lie detector proposal.

McCarthy made this same proposal before the hearings opened. It won no acceptance then, either.

This was the third time since the televised hearings began that the Army side has questioned McCarthy evidence. One previous instance was the senator's use of a cropped photograph. The other was

Final Rail Fight Score Week Off

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Reckoning the score in the fight for control of the huge New York Central Railroad will continue to next Tuesday at least, the election inspectors reported today.

The forces of Central President William White and the opposition of financier Robert R. Young maintained their confident attitudes they displayed at the noisy stockholders' meeting last Wednesday.

Only a dozen stockholders were here today to hear White read an interim report from the inspectors at a meeting in the Washington Ave. Armory.

Last Wednesday 2,000 stockholders packed the drill floor.

The report from the election inspectors, requesting the recess until noon June 8, said:

"We regret to report that the counting and tabulation of the vote is incomplete. The existence of the contest, the size of the vote, the number of proxy papers and supporting documents and the checking of papers by representatives of the two sides make difficult the expedition of the count."

10 Die In Crash Of Guard Plane

DULUTH, Minn., June 1 (AP)—Death toll in the crash of an air National Guard C47 mounted to 10 tonight when William Lange, 25, Duluth, died in a hospital here.

The plane, making a second landing approach under fog conditions, crashed into a tree-edged gravel pit one mile from the Duluth Airport's main runway Monday night. The wreckage did not burn.

Two of the 14 aboard staggered away from the wreckage, where five bodies were recovered. Five others, including Lange, died either en route to or in hospitals, where two more still are reported

All of the 14 airmen aboard were from northern Minnesota, most of them from Duluth. They were returning from a training flight to Indianapolis where they took in the 500-Mile Speedway Race on the stopover.

"It was heart breaking," Lt. Col. Ralph Jerome, 179th commander, said. "They were only 45 seconds away from home, then it happened."

Memorial Day Weekend Death Toll Breaks Record

[By The Associated Press]

The Memorial Day weekend—a period dedicated to honoring America's war dead—was sullied by a record high three-day toll for the holiday of 539 violent deaths.

The traffic toll reached 362, only one shy of the all-time high record for the holiday set in 1952.

President Eisenhower expressed distress over the "very high highway fatalities." He noted more persons are killed on the highways each year than the number of Americans who met death in Korea.

Something could be done about it, the chief executive went on, if the nation put its mind to the problem.

The overall toll broke the previous record of 510 for a three-day Memorial Day holiday set in 1952.

There were 93 drownings during the holiday this year and 84 perished in miscellaneous accidents.

The traffic toll was greater than advance estimates, higher than the average rate for the year thus far and larger than that for a random non-holiday May weekend compiled earlier last month.

The high number of traffic deaths also brought an expression of disappointment from Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council. The council made a pre-holiday estimate of 340 such deaths.

Dearborn said:

"Bad as the holiday death toll was, we believe it would have been worse without the safety activity on state and local level resulting from the White House conference on highway safety called by President Eisenhower in February."

Battered Mountain Climber Flown To Fairbanks, Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, June 1 (AP)—A battered Brooklyn soldier, still strapped to the small sled used in his rescue from Mt. McKinley, split his bushy beard with a feeble grin and winked a blackened eye as he was unloaded from an Air Force plane here today.

Pfc. George Argus, 25, was unable to talk because of sedatives given to kill the pain of his badly injured hip, hurt in a fall over a 1,000 foot precipice May 16.

He was only semiconscious but managed the grin that showed a gap in his upper front teeth.

Argus was taken to surgery at Ladd Air Force Base Hospital. Doctors said an operation was needed on his hip, which they found badly dislocated but not broken.

This was the final chapter in the perilous rescue mission begun last Wednesday when two of Argus' companions stumbled off 20,890-foot McKinley, the continent's highest peak. They brought word of the tragedy in which one member of their four-man climbing party was killed and Argus was injured.

Air Force helicopters airlifted eight expert mountaineers a mile up the mountain. They fought their way in the next five days to the 11,000-foot level where Argus had been left in a tiny tent at the head of a crevasse-lined glacier.

The Brooklyn GI was reached Sunday, put on the air dropped aluminum sled and brought nearly a mile down the mountainside.

Late last night Capt. Ralph Searle of the 74th Air Rescue Squadron nursed his helicopter to a landing far above its usual maximum operating altitude. Searle said he "squeezed every inch out of the altimeter."

The 'copter hopped to a mining village where a small Air Force plane took Argus to Minchumina. There he was transferred to a twin-engined plane which brought him here.

French Drive Forces Reds Back Six Miles

Land-Sea Assault Pushes Vietminh Away From Key Highway Junction

HANOI, Indochina, June 1 (AP)—French tanks, artillery, infantry and planes today drove Vietminh troops six miles back from Phu Ly, key road junction 30 miles south of Hanoi, French Army headquarters announced.

The Red-led rebels fled in sampans and junks across the Day River to seek protection in the limestone hills as French B26s pounded them with 1,000-pound hign explosive bombs.

The big French sweep along the southern rim of the Red River Delta's defenses followed a sudden offensive last week in which 8,000 or more French Union troops broke the long Vietminh encirclement of Yen Phu, defending Phu Ly on the south. The French reinforced Yen Phu, which had been harassed for 18 days by about 12 rebel battalions using mortars, heavy machineguns and recoilless rifles.

The continued French drive cleaned up a triangular area embracing Phy Ly and the nearby towns of Ninh Binh and Thai Binh, apparently ending any immediate threat of attack on those towns whose defenses shield a rich rice granary and direct routes to Hanoi itself.

Elsewhere in the Red River Delta the French reported today killing 71 Vietminh and capturing 10 in scattered mopups.

The rebels who have infiltrated the delta in numbers estimated at between 70,000 and 100,000 stepped up their attacks near Hanoi, assaulting and capturing one small post. French Union defenders who withdrew reported suffering "some losses."

Vietminh also attacked but failed to take two Vietnamese-manned posts six miles southeast of Hanoi.

his clearance would not be a danger to the common defense and security."

However, the report said, the majority could not reach this conclusion "to reinstate Dr. Oppenheimer's clearance and, therefore, do not so recommend."

There were then listed four "controlling" considerations leading to the decision to continue barring Oppenheimer from access to atomic secrets.

These, briefly, were that he showed a "disregard for the requirements of a security system," displayed a "susceptibility to influence," conducted himself in a "disturbing" manner toward the hydrogen bomb program and was "less than candid" at times during the board's hearing.

an alleged letter from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

McCarthy Denies Bad Faith

McCarthy denied any bad faith in either instance. He charged in turn that the Army made up a dishonest chart to show the absences of Schine, former McCarthy aide, from Ft. Dix, N.J. The Army side insisted there was nothing wrong with its chart.

The argument over the Cohn-Carr memoranda, introduced as proof of the McCarthy camp's charges, was the second squabble of the day.

In the first one Cohn produced a big box of documents in response to a call for evidence that Schine really did work for the McCarthy subcommittee when he was given time off from Ft. Dix.

McCarthy refused to let this heap of material go into evidence, however, until he had made sure it didn't contain the names of any of his confidential informants.

And so he and the Democrats proceeded to debate all over again McCarthy's row with President Eisenhower over the question of federal employes telling Congress about matters which have been officially classified as secret.

In the end Cohn took away the big box and laid before the investigators some of the material from it. Most of that, he said, concerned Schine's work before he entered the Army. But some of it, Cohn said, showed Schine did subcommittee work after he was inducted.

Other Developments

There were these other main developments:

1. Cohn denied under oath sworn testimony by Adams that he said it would "wreck the Army," and sweep Stevens from office, if Schine was sent overseas. Likewise Cohn denied cursing and abusing both McCarthy and Adams over the Schine affair at a New York luncheon last December.

2. Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel announced he intended to be heard in these hearings unless McCarthy withdrew all charges against him. The subcommittee has voted to throw out all charges against Hensel and Carr, but Hensel said he still wanted a retraction from McCarthy.

3. Cohn testified he asked an investigation of Schine's regimental commander at Ft. Dix, Col. Earl Ringler, upon hearing — from Schine—that the colonel regarded the subcommittee's Ft. Monmouth investigation as a "witch hunt." Cohn didn't say what if any result the investigation had.

Mahoney Calls For Additional Parole Officers

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said today he advocates paroling Maryland prisoners "only to the extent that parolees can be given adequate supervision."

In the 74th of his 100 daily pre-election statements Mahoney criticized Republican Gov. McKeldin for proposing a 1954 budget which reduced the number of parole officers from 23 to 20.

"In other words," said Mahoney, to supervise more than 1,500 paroled prisoners, Maryland had a staff of parole officers which was only a little larger than the crew of the governor's yacht."

The governor's 1955 budget, providing for seven additional parole officers, was a step in the right direction, Mahoney admitted.

"There's no point in releasing large numbers of prisoners until we can supply the necessary supervision," he said.

Mahoney also used the same subject to press his primary campaign against Dr. H. C. Byrd, former University of Maryland president opposing him for the Democratic nomination.

"Dr. H. C. Byrd said that 'something is lacking' in our parole system," said Mahoney. "But he didn't say just what it was or what he proposed to do about it. He is for parole 'in theory'."

Academy Of Public Affairs Urged By Women's Clubs

DENVER, June 1 (AP)—Establishment of a national academy of public affairs to fill "the need for trained men and women on every level of public life" was urged today by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The 63rd annual convention of delegates representing 11 million members also urged that the Communist party in the United States and other organizations with similar purposes be declared illegal and that membership in or participation in the revolutionary activities of the Communist party be declared a criminal offense."

The resolutions were adopted on voice vote at the convention's first business session.

Another resolution recommended that "qualified women from all walks of life, including homemakers, be included in the program of the United States Travel Commission."

Promise Of Sainted Pope To Be Fulfilled

VATICAN CITY, June 1 (AP)—The body of newly-sainted Pope Pius X will be returned to Venice, fulfilling his 1903 promise to sorrowful Venetians that "Alive or dead, I will come back."

The forthcoming return of the saint's body to St. Mark's Cathedral, is believed to be the first such journey of its kind in the nearly 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church.

Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, present patriarch of Venice, today informed the Italian government of the Vatican's decision to transport the body of St. Piux X and to obtain, at the same time, the government's concurrence for the transport over Italian territory.

Magistrate Elevated

ANNAPOLIS, June 1 (AP)—Robert E. Dammeyer was elevated today from substitute to full-time magistrate for the state capital.

Dammeyer was sworn in to succeed Douglas F. Lyons, his partner in an Annapolis law firm. Lyons, unopposed for the Republican nomination as state's attorney, resigned in deference to Gov. McKeldin's suggestion that all magistrates campaigning for office step off the bench.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

More than 22 million couples have married since 1940

Today a larger proportion of our population is married than ever before

ABOUT one-third more people are married than in 1940. And, of the 38 million married couples living together in the United States today, over half were married in the last 14 years.

This great increase in the number of families in America has brought about a great demand for new homes, household furnishings, automobiles and other goods. And with the trend toward larger families, there have been more children to feed, clothe, and educate. As a result, these families now have much more to protect.

And the life insurance business is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet their new needs.

The life insurance companies have developed new ways for young couples to protect their needs more adequately. For example, through policies that call for a relatively small premium outlay in the first few years but are designed to give permanent protection . . . or through family income plans that give extra protection for the years of greatest need.

Throughout their married lives, millions of couples also use life insurance to meet many other needs—to make sure the mortgage will be paid off, or to assure funds for their children's education, or to provide retirement income.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it fits in with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

VATICAN CITY, June 1 (AP)—The body of newly-sainted Pope Pius X will be returned to Venice, fulfilling his 1903 promise to sorrowful Venetians that "Alive or dead, I will come back."

The forthcoming return of the saint's body to St. Mark's Cathedral, is believed to be the first such journey of its kind in the nearly 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church.

Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, present patriarch of Venice, today informed the Italian government of the Vatican's decision to transport the body of St. Piux X and to obtain, at the same time, the government's concurrence for the transport over Italian territory.

Magistrate Elevated

ANNAPOLIS, June 1 (AP)—Robert E. Dammeyer was elevated today from substitute to full-time magistrate for the state capital.

Dammeyer was sworn in to succeed Douglas F. Lyons, his partner in an Annapolis law firm. Lyons, unopposed for the Republican nomination as state's attorney, resigned in deference to Gov. McKeldin's suggestion that all magistrates campaigning for office step off the bench.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

More than 22 million couples have married since 1940

Today a larger proportion of our population is married than ever before

About one-third more people are married than in 1940. And, of the 38 million married couples living together in the United States today, over half were married in the last 14 years.

This great increase in the number of families in America has brought about a great demand for new homes, household furnishings, automobiles and other goods. And with the trend toward larger families, there have been more children to feed, clothe, and educate. As a result, these families now have much more to protect.

And the life insurance business is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet their new needs.

The life insurance companies have developed new ways for young couples to protect their needs more adequately. For example, through policies that call for a relatively small premium outlay in the first few years but are designed to give permanent protection . . . or through family income plans that give extra protection for the years of greatest need.

Throughout their married lives, millions of couples also use life insurance to meet many other needs—to make sure the mortgage will be paid off, or to assure funds for their children's education, or to provide retirement income.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it fits in with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

Cohn, M'Carthy Democratic Aide, Gives National Stature To Whisper

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Roy Marcus Cohn has accomplished much in his 27 years. Not the least of which is to give national stature to the whisper.

To millions of watchers of the Army-McCarthy hearing's first 20 days, Cohn was a pair of lips against McCarthy's ear. During one five-hour stretch, he whispered on the average of once every seven minutes.

The high - domed, slick-haired young man is the only registered Democrat in Washington to command McCarthy's ear with such regularity. As chief counsel of the Senate's Permanent subcommittee on investigations, and as a defendant to charges he threatened to wreck the Army, he had much to discuss with his boss—and he did.

The hassle has dragged in eight senators, including McCarthy, other members of the committee staff, Secretary of the Army Stevens, an assortment of generals and lesser Army rank, Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel, various civilians attached to the military, the office of the U.S. attorney - general and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It has also attracted the unfavorable attention of the President.

That's quite a hornet's nest for a 27-year-old to stir up.

Cohn was born Feb. 20, 1927, only child of Albert Cohn, former Bronx politician and now a New York Appellate Court judge in Manhattan. His parents are described by a friend as the doting type:

"Roy as a boy was the center of the family. He still is. It is doubtful that Roy ever received a spanking."

In any case, Cohn became—literally—a clean young American. He likes to bathe twice a day. He is a confirmed comb carrier, and insists on draping a freshly pressed suit on his 5 foot 8, 160-pound frame each day.

He is well known on the New York night club circuit, and his appearances occasionally are noted by the gossip columnists. Often he turns up with one of three very pretty girls whom he dates with fair regularity. He is known as a light drinker, usually an aperitif on the rocks.

One close friend insists Cohn is not by nature a nightclubber.

"He doesn't go to the clubs for relaxation," this friend says. "but to meet people he has to see. If you want to see people, you go where they are."

A frequent companion has been G. David Schine, his close friend and committee aide. The Army says it was Cohn's insistence on preferential treatment for Schine that sparked the current controversy.

Cohn has rarely been far from controversy since his early days as a lawyer.

His handling of a federal grand jury's investigation of subversives among Americans at the United Nations brought on a row which was investigated by a House subcommittee.

A whirlwind 18-day through Europe by Cohn and Schine produced congressional debate and a rash of unfavorable comment in the foreign press.

There has been a running debate over the manner in which McCarthy's subcommittee has treated witnesses, and Cohn has done a lot of the questioning.

A New York lawyer with whom the hazel-eyed Cohn worked in the U.S. attorney's office in New York, even before his admission to the bar, says:

"He was put to work in the appeals division as a clerk. He worked on 15 or 16 appeals. By the time he became a lawyer, all those cases had produced favorable comment from the courts.

"There is no doubt the boy is a legal genius. Hours mean nothing to him. He did have an intolerance of almost everyone, however, that amounted to smugness. He was hard on inferiors."

Cohn moved up to assistant U.S. attorney, then to confidential assistant.

"He really threw his weight around then," the lawyer recalls. "The district attorney had a long black car with red lights and a siren. Cohn couldn't understand why he couldn't have one, too."

He was No. 3 man on the prosecuting staff in the trials of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, executed as atomic spies. He also worked on the Harry Gold spy case and on the first perjury trial of William Remington, convicted of lying when he said he never belonged to the Communist party and now in prison. He handled the questioning of Louis Budenz, a former Communist, in the trial of the so-called "second string" Communists. Another of his jobs was handling the U.N. grand jury inquiry.

A grand jury usually returns its findings just before retiring from office. But Cohn drew them up two months earlier—naming witnesses and quoting testimony, and delivered them to the grand jury by messenger. Cohn's boss, U.S. Dist. Atty. Myles Lane, hit the roof. He personally appeared before the jury to have the presentment withdrawn, explaining that

Adm. Libby In Annapolis For June Week Ceremony

ANNAPOLIS, June 1 (AP) — Rear Adm. Ruthven E. Libby, commander of the Atlantic Fleet's battleship-cruiser force, flew into the Naval Academy by helicopter today to take the review of a dress parade on the fourth day of June Week.

Libby, who will be in overall command of a squadron which will take two classes of midshipmen on a summer practice cruise after Friday's graduation, used the helicopter to precede his fleet of 15 ships into Annapolis Roads.

Major units of the squadron moved into anchorage off Annapolis later in the afternoon with Libby's flagship, the battleship Missouri, in command.

Today's activities, started with presentation of some 700 awards for athletic and extracurricular achievements at Thompson Stadium.

Later in the day there was a demonstration by patrol boats, and many listened to a band concert before the Worden Field parade of the 3,400-member brigade.

Tonight Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, academy superintendent, entertained the 855 members of the graduating class and their guests at the traditional garden party.

The prizes will be passed out at tomorrow's afternoon dress parade. Not until Thursday will the color girl, Marna Schultz of Takoma Park, Md., present the brigade colors to her fiance, George B. Parks of San Francisco. Parks commands the company chosen best in the brigade.

Gambler Denied Tax Trial Shift

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut today denied a motion to transfer the income tax evasion trial of Emmitt Warring, 48-year-old Washington gambler, to the District of Columbia.

Warring was indicted Feb. 16 on a charge of attempting to evade $92,082 in income taxes for the year 1947. The indictment came less than a month before Warring would have been immune from prosecution under the statute of limitations.

Judge Chesnut had indicated he would entertain a motion to transfer the trial to Washington and attorneys for Warring acted April 29 on the eve of his scheduled arraignment here, automatically delaying the arraignment.

The motion requesting transfer of the trial said Warring was born in the District and is in business there. It said the documents, internal revenue agents concerned with the case and persons who prepared his returns are also in the District.

The government said Warring listed no occupation on his income tax returns but said "money won gambling" was the source of his income. It contends he reported a net income of $29,559.96 for 1947 and that it should have been $147,967.12.

A record $27,827,000,000 was spent by American business in 1953.

Spanish Officers Tour Army Posts

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — A group of Spanish officers arrived here today for a three-week tour of U. S. Army posts. The group is headed by Maj. Gen. Fermin Gutierrez de Soto, deputy chief of the Spanish general staff.

They made their first official calls at the Pentagon. They will go to Ft. Belvoir, Va., tomorrow to start off their tour, which will include the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground, Ft. Banning, Ga., Ft. Knox, Ky., Ft. Sill, Okla., Ft. Bliss, Tex., Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

They will leave for home on June 21.

State's Holiday Death Toll Drops

[By The Associated Press]

The traffic death toll for the Memorial Day weekend in Maryland dropped sharply from seven killed last year to three highway deaths this year.

There were no accidents on Memorial Day, all three occuring over Saturday and Sunday.

The victims were David Peter McCoy, 10 weeks, of Baltimore; Calvin Baublets, 75, of Parkton, and Charles Thomas Fisher, 60, of Baltimore.

The Baublets death was a pedestrian-car accident and the other two were the result of collisions.

Manslaughter charges were filed against George McNatt, 38, of Clayton, Del., whose truck collided with the Fisher car, and against Bureyguard Wessels, 37, of Baltimore, arrested in the pedestrian death.

Dr. Stephen Shillig, 26, of Baltimore, was charged with reckless driving and failure to yield the right-of-way in connection with the collision that killed the baby.

Pearls traditionally are associated with brides since Hindu legends say a god took the pearl from the depths of the sea to adorn his daughter on her wedding day.

Welfare Bureau Plans Building Near Baltimore

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Hobby announced today that a 50-acre tract about one mile west of Baltimore has been selected as the site for a proposed new 26 million dollar Old-Age and Survivors Insurance building.

She said the General Services Administration had been authorized to purchase the land in the Woodlawn area of Baltimore County for $130,500.

The new building is planned mainly to house the accounting and record-keeping staff of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, now working in several different buildings in Baltimore.

Mrs. Hobby said consolidation of that part of the bureau's activity will increase efficiency and make it possible to work in single instead of the present double shifts.

She said the building will be designed to provide office space for 5,500 employes.

Construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in the summer of 1955 for completion in early 1958, Mrs. Hobby said.

She said the site was selected after study of 60 different areas.

Baltimore Power Firm Granted Rate Increase

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP)—About 450,000 customers of the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power Co. of Baltimore will start paying an estimated 30 cents more a month on their electric bills in July.

The Public Service Commission granted the company today an increase of about 5.7 per cent in its power rates. The raise is expected to add about $3,300,000 to the company's annual revenues.

The company, in an application originally entered in December, 1951, asked for a 10.4 per cent increase in both power and steam rates.

They made their first official calls at the Pentagon. They will go to Ft. Belvoir, Va., tomorrow to start off their tour, which will include the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground, Ft. Banning, Ga., Ft. Knox, Ky., Ft. Sill, Okla., Ft. Bliss, Tex., Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

They will leave for home on June 21.

State's Holiday Death Toll Drops

[By The Associated Press]

The traffic death toll for the Memorial Day weekend in Maryland dropped sharply from seven killed last year to three highway deaths this year.

There were no accidents on Memorial Day, all three occuring over Saturday and Sunday.

The victims were David Peter McCoy, 10 weeks, of Baltimore; Calvin Baublets, 75, of Parkton, and Charles Thomas Fisher, 60, of Baltimore.

The Baublets death was a pedestrian-car accident and the other two were the result of collisions.

Manslaughter charges were filed against George McNatt, 38, of Clayton, Del., whose truck collided with the Fisher car, and against Bureyguard Wessels, 37, of Baltimore, arrested in the pedestrian death.

Dr. Stephen Shillig, 26, of Baltimore, was charged with reckless driving and failure to yield the right-of-way in connection with the collision that killed the baby.

Pearls traditionally are associated with brides since Hindu legends say a god took the pearl from the depths of the sea to adorn his daughter on her wedding day.

Welfare Bureau Plans Building Near Baltimore

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Hobby announced today that a 50-acre tract about one mile west of Baltimore has been selected as the site for a proposed new 26 million dollar Old-Age and Survivors Insurance building.

She said the General Services Administration had been authorized to purchase the land in the Woodlawn area of Baltimore County for $130,500.

The new building is planned mainly to house the accounting and record-keeping staff of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, now working in several different buildings in Baltimore.

Mrs. Hobby said consolidation of that part of the bureau's activity will increase efficiency and make it possible to work in single instead of the present double shifts.

She said the building will be designed to provide office space for 5,500 employes.

Construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in the summer of 1955 for completion in early 1958, Mrs. Hobby said.

She said the site was selected after study of 60 different areas.

In a 25-mile-an-hour wind, the total sway of the top of the Washington Monument is one two-hundred-fiftieths of an inch.

Baltimore Power Firm Granted Rate Increase

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP)—About 450,000 customers of the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power Co. of Baltimore will start paying an estimated 30 cents more a month on their electric bills in July.

The Public Service Commission granted the company today an increase of about 5.7 per cent in its power rates. The raise is expected to add about $3,300,000 to the company's annual revenues.

The company, in an application originally entered in December, 1951, asked for a 10.4 per cent increase in both power and steam rates.

Effects, Timing Of Economic Dip Varied, Survey Discloses

Editor's Note—Sam Dawson, Associated Press business news writer and analyst, has returned from a coast-to-coast swing around the country, writing about business as he saw it. He spent nine weeks traveling, visited 17 states, 21 cities and logged 10,000 miles. Here is a review of what he found as to the state of the nation's economy.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — Statistics tell you one story about business.

People you talk to around the country tell you another—or, rather, many another. For the effects and timing of the slump have been varied.

One section's upset has been another's hiccup.

A trip around the country shows places where business has slowed to a crawl. In others, the local industry or leading factory is rolling right along and times are good.

A marked sectional shift in the economic makeup of the country has been going on since the war. In some places the business dip has held this up. It has accented the change in others.

Every place where they've been hit, the big thing they talk about isn't how far they've slipped from the top, but: "An upturn is sure to come — when?"

Let's take a swing around the land and see what the chances, and the changes are:

New England has been preoccupied for several years with the loss of many of its textile mills. During the recent boom it was busy replacing them with new industries — mostly small metal-working plants, or those supplying the growing electronics and aircraft industries, or the just-aborning atomic ones.

Loss of government contracts hurt these. And top industrial leaders say New England must now learn to live with a different kind of business cycle—the deeper, longer one that durable goods usually follow, rather than the sharp, short, soft-goods type the Yankees grew up with.

New England is capitalizing on the practical application of the research that flowers there, and expects its laboratories to spawn still more plants and industries in the six states.

In the Southeast the great cry since the war has been for industrialization—for factories to use its growing markets. Textile mills and furniture factories, chemicals and metalworking and electronic plants are changing the character of the once mainly agricultural section.

And in agriculture there has been a revolution of sorts. Travel the Southland today and you see many an era once given over to cotton share-croppers now filled with fat livestock on lush pastures.

The South, by and large, is now learning for the first time what happens when an industrial society stumbles. It believes, however, that its industrial slip is less than the North's, its economy more nearly balanced.

The economic sniffles afflicting the nation upset the South less than most.

Other problems, however, are beginning to appear. It's mostly just talk so far, but the textile industry which moved from the Northeast into the Southeast is now flirting with other regions.

Certain types of textile mills are going up in Texas. California talks about its own textile industry. So does Arizona, another cotton-producing state. And in North Carolina they'll tell you the day might come when they'd worry about the loss of their mills to Mexico.

In the oil country, from New Orleans west through Texas and Oklahoma and north to Wyoming and the Dakotas, the recession hasn't been high on the list of problems. The slump has cut the rate of growth of the demand, but the world is using more oil this year than last.

The trouble is that it's producing still more than that, and could produce a lot more besides, if restraints weren't applied. Production restraints hurt because overhead and maintenance costs go right along even when the oil doesn't flow to provide the money.

Oil wells and cattle mingle in most of this area. And throughout the livestock West there's been trouble—first from drought and then from price fluctuations, traced in part to the meat production cycles which the drought has accentuated.

Part of this vast section of the United States have been badly hurt. But the industrial slowdown itself added little to their worries. People go right on eating, and the higher priced meats go right on selling.

Drought has hurt the farmer too in many parts of the land—but his main trouble has been over-production, which piled up great surpluses of many foodstuffs, straining governmental price supports and kindling resentment among many consumers and taxpayers.

The West's mining camps see better days ahead. Falling lead and zinc prices have closed mines in many areas of mid-America and the West. For a time copper production was being cut back. But government stockpiling of metals and better industrial demand in recent weeks are regarded by many as foreshadowing the end of bad times, the dawn of brighter ones.

California has felt a setback in some lines. Yet, so much defense production is centered in the state—especially the aircraft and guided missels favored by the "massive retaliation" policy—that many areas of the state are unaware of a slump.

Business leaders are unanimous in expressing confidence of continued growth—what else, in a state so sure of the merits of what it has to offer?

U. S. Consulate Chief Hurt In Auto Crash

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 1 (AP) — Richard Godfrey, consulate chief with the U.S. Embassy here, suffered three fractured ribs and possible internal injuries in an automobile accident last night.

A Yugoslav physician, Dr. M. Medakovic, was killed.

Godfrey, 42, of St. Louis, Mo., was admitted to the Sremska Mitrovica Hospital, about 50 miles west of Belgrade. His condition was reported satisfactory today.

An embassy spokesman said Godfrey, his wife and daughter and a Yugoslav woman employed by the embassy were returning to Belgrade from Zagreb, when their car smashed into Medakovic's parked machine, where the doctor was changing a tire with the help of a truck driver.

Theater Club Officers Are Introduced

New officers for next year were introduced, the year's work reviewed and a program presented at the annual spring banquet of the Little Theater of Frostburg State Teachers College, held at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college, who spoke briefly, and Miss Edith E. Humphrey, director of dramatics and sponsor of the club, were guests. Miss Nancy Sitter presented the program, which included impersonations and skits by Charles Briggs, a sextette, and a musical charade by Miss Mary Kay Logsdon.

The new officers are Eugene Brown, president; Donald Drury, vice president; Larna Cutter, secretary; Mary Kay Poland, treasurer, and Ruth Schade, corresponding secretary. Retiring officers are Miss Logsdon, Lucy Kriechbaum, Susan Mosteller and Patrick Bohn.

Two amendments to the club's constitution were made and a report of "Give Us Time to Sing," "The Happy Time," "Watch Out for Aunt Hattie," "Alice in Wonderland," "Catch as Catch Can," and "A Hat for Mother," presented under the direction of Miss Humphrey.

A May flower theme was carried out in the decorations, with Miss Margaret Mongold and Miss Charlotte Northcraft in charge.

Others attending were Lois Neilson, Alice Neconi, Susan Richmond, Patricia Halloran, Eileen Millar, Ethel Houck, Janice Spessard, Beverly Merriman, Joseph T. Butler, Gloria Wilson, Pauline House, Mary C. Maher, Clover Clopper, Gail Snyder, Janet Taschenberg, Diane Wilson, Bruce Ambrose and June Mowbray.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wagner and sons, Jeffry and James, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Jean Merdith, and son, Thomas, Akron, Ohio; and Mrs. Betty Yates and daughter, Rebecca, Pittsburgh are visiting their sister, Mrs. John Kienhofer, Columbia Avenue, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Conner, Frostburg.

Couple Marks 10th Wedding Anniversary

Capt. and Mrs. Daniel K. Biggs celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary with a family dinner yesterday at the Salvation Army Citadel. Gladioli and summer flowers decorated the table, centered with an anniversary cake.

The former Miss Thelma Patricia Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hall, Baltimore became the bride of Capt. Biggs, son of Mrs. Julia Biggs, Charlotte, N. C., June 1, 1945 in Winston-Salem, N. C. The couple has four children, Richard, Carol Joyce, Robert and Sharon Elaine.

For one year prior to her marriage, Mrs. Biggs was a lieutenant in the Salvation Army at Wilmington, N. C. Since coming to Cumberland, she is responsible for the girls activities and Ladies League.

Capt. Biggs, who has been an officer for 13 years, has been here for 15 months, coming from Weirton, W. Va., he has overall charge of the Salvation Army program.

Mrs. Bender Heads WSCS Of MB Church

Officers were elected and a program presented at the meeting of the WSCS of the Murley's Branch Church, recently at the home of Mrs. R. L. Wittig.

The purpose and introduction of the theme was given by Mrs. Eston Heavner. Mrs. Robert Yonker spoke on the Sue Bennett College; Mrs. Paul Browning, Seward Sanatorium; Mrs. Walter Bender, an inter-racial workshop of Lincoln Leadership Training School; Mrs. Justin Heavner, United Nations in Action, and Mrs. Paul Robinette, Money Serves Overseas.

A poem was read by Mrs. Homer Willison and Mrs. Paul Robinette and Mrs. Eston Heavner sang "My God and I," with Mrs. Robert Yonker at the piano.

Rededication prayers were given by each member before a lighted cross surrounded by dogwood. The group sang, "Where He Leads I'll Follow." A candlelight service was conducted by Mrs. Wittig with the group singing, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Closing prayer was offered by Rev. William Anderson. Rev. Benny Myers also took part. A duet was sung by Rev. and Mrs. Anderson and a solo by the former. Rev. Wittig offered prayer and each member gave a Scripture verse. Routine reports were given.

Refreshments were served and secret sisters exchnged gifts.

Mrs. Walter Bender was elected president; Mrs. Wittig, vice president; Mrs. Paul Browning, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Yonker, missionary treasurer; Mrs. Ora Thompson, local treasurer; Mrs. Vernon Shriver, promotion secretary.

Departmental secretaries are Mrs. Paul Robinette, Missionary Education and Service; Mrs. Justin Heavner, Local Church Activities; Mrs. Eston Heavner, Youth Work; Mrs. Wittig, Spiritual Life; Mrs. Homer Willison, Supply Work; Mrs. Gay Stonestreet, Literature and Publication; Mrs. Marshall Wilson, Jr., Key Women, Asbury Home; Mrs. Dewey Weicht, Sunshine; Mrs. Gene Kisamore, librarian.

Devotions were under the leadership of Mrs. Eston Heavner. "Not above His Master," was the theme of the program, which consisted of a meditation with a recording of the Lord's Prayer. After prayer, Mrs. Eston Heavner's Group sang, "Take Time To Be Holy." The Scripture was read by Mrs. Dewey Weicht.

BPW Board Outlines Plans, Program For Coming Year

Board members of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club decided the local theme, based on the national, "Adventures in Achievement," will be "Achievement in Action," at the meeting last evening at the home of Miss Gerardine Pritchard, Park Heights.

The club is going to celebrate Business and Professional Week October 10-16. The celebration is to start with a church service and include a dinner, a coffee and a game party. Its radio series will begin that week also.

It was decided that the club again will sponsor the hobby show, started last year; and the state News Service contest. A theater party, probably at Jennerstown, was discussed for the fall; and a board meeting August 3 at 6:30, probably at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The final general meeting before the summer recess will be a picnic at 5:30 at the Celanese pool June 8. Mrs. Ellen McKenzie, chairman of arrangements, will entertain the club at her home, Cresaptown, for moving pictures of the state convention at Mt. Lake Park following the picnic.

Attending were Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, Miss Dorothy Manley, Mrs. Karl Perry, Mrs. Carl Hollis, Miss Olive Simpson, Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Claude Twigg, Miss Eudora Jochum, Mrs. Effie Parsons, Miss Anna Durst, Miss Edna Seifert, Mrs. Dessie Williams, Miss Margaret Walsh, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Miss Anna Nicht, Miss Millie Gottlieb, Miss Marian Dennison, Miss Theresa Nicht, Miss Kathleen Swann, Mrs. Lewis Millholland and Mrs. Gladys Daniels.

North End Club Plans Garden Party

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club held its monthly meeting in the form of a tea, honoring Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Maryland in the Mrs. America contest. Mrs. Lucile Roeder welcomed Mrs. Smith as a guest of the club and honored her as a homemaker. She responded with a resume of her trip to Florida and was presented a ceramic vase.

Held Thursday in the recreation room of Fairview Avenue Church, the meeting was opened with a prayer and flag salute led by Mrs. Margaret Valentine, president. Roll call was answered with "Your Interest in Music, and Favorite Program."

Mrs. J. Frank Young spoke on College Park and the courses that will be available. She also gave an outline of the tours to be made. Mrs. Helen Wineow demonstrated different cutlery for the kitchen and step-saving ideas. Mrs. Margaret Brotemarkle showed a doll she dressed in Spanish costume and the group sang the song of the month.

An invitation was received to attend the county homemakers tea, to be held at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook Sr., Bowling Green, June 3 from 2 until 4.

Next month the meeting will be in the form of a lawn party. It is to be at the home of Mrs. John Haus, Dilley Street, June 24. All members are to meet at 1:45 o'clock, June 2 in front of the telephone company building, to make a tour in conjunction with the company's open house. A hand-crocheted bed spread was presented to the club and Mrs. Madelyn Fanelli and Mrs. Brotemarkle was named in charge of selling it.

For the entertainment the Bedford Road Barber Shop Quartet sang several selections. Mrs. Roeder and Mrs. Dorothy Bauer were honored for their birthdays and presented gifts. Flowers were used in the decorations and refreshments were served. Approximately 60 members attended.

Polish Mt. Club Greets New Member

The Polish Mountain Homemakers Club welcomed Mrs. Jack Bowman as a new member at the meeting recently at the club house.

Mrs. Richard Grubb opened the meeting and reported on the executive board meeting and announced the county tea June 3 at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook, Bowling Green; and the county picnic July 29 at Mrs. Cook's cottage, Fort Ashby. She also read a poem, "Love Cake for Mother," and gave a demonstration on time management in household tasks.

The flag salute was given and members sang "America." Roll call was answered with favorite musical programs and routine reports were given by Mrs. Emory Davis and Mrs. Broze Lough. Mrs. Willis Rice spoke on Short Course. Mrs. Davis also gave the history and words of the hymn of the month, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." The hostess prize was won by Mrs. Rice. Mrs. Thomas Dixon and Mrs. Grubbs were hostesses. Others attending were Mrs. George McKenzie, Mrs. Josephine Smith and Mrs. Horace Fisher.

The next meeting will be June 12 with Mrs. James Fisher and Mrs. Horace Fisher cohostesses.

Violent Anti-Foreign Propaganda Seeks To Make Hay In Stormy French Morocco

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

RABAT, Morocco, June 1 (AP)—Violent anti - foreign propaganda from the Moslem Mideast and Cairo is being aimed at North Africa today in what appears to be an attempt to seize pan-Islamic opportunity from the deepening Nationalist crisis.

A dangerous vacuum has been created in Morocco with the ouster of Sultan Sid Mohammed Ben Youssef, 47, now exiled in Madagascar. The ouster had the result of turning devout Moroccan Moslems away from Mosques in anger and bitterness, prey to all sorts of opportunities, including Communists and fanatically anti-foreign champions of pan-Islam (world Mohammedan unity).

France has protested at least twice to Cairo about broadcasts of the "Voice of Arabs" on Radio Cairo, these call Moroccans to violence in the name of Islam. French here say there has been no response from Cairo.

The propaganda should gladden the hearts of Communists, for whom it is ready made. For example, Voice of Arabs broadcast this reaction on the fall of Dien Bien Phu to Communist forces:

"Arabs: The most celebrated battles fought by the liberation movement, that of Dien Bien Phu, is over and the Indochinese patriots are victorious. Voice of Arabs has faith in the liberty planted in history by bodies of martyrs and vivified by blood of patriots. It is through this that the battle of Dien Bien Phu becomes in the eyes of voice of Arabs another battle of liberation in the course of which right won over injustice, just as justice will triumph everywhere over weeds of falseness. The victory of those who were slaves of the colonialists should not pass unnoticed. The triumph of patriots at Dien Bien Phu should not pass without attracting great attention."

Voice of Arabs brought Dien Bien Phu to the attention of Moroccans many times as an example of how a battle can be waged against the French. Moroccans admitted to me they had been watching Dien Bien Phu and progress of the Indochina war carefully.

They say to themselves that regardless of the ideological issues involved, it is "living proof that a colony can break away from French domination."

Radio Cairo on one hand and Radio Tetuan from Spanish Morocco on the other hand add fuel to flames here.

The Spanish Moroccan radio calls terrorists of French Morocco "redeemers" and applauds their activities against the French, whose relations with Franco Spain have been cool ever since the deposing of Sidi Mohammed. Radio Cairo's Voice of Arabs calls on terrorists to struggle to "build a free and independent Arabia."

After the first attempts on the life of the new Sultan, Moulay Mohamed Ben Arafa, by terrorist Allal Ben Abdullah last September, Radio Cairo began broadcasts with lyric tribute to the would-be assassin, ending with the words "down with colonialism." Thereafter Voice of Arabs has frequently called on Moroccans not to "miss the fact that France has been seriously wounded" in Indochina.

The broadcasts went so far as to name the specific house where "enemies of Arabism and Islam" were supposed to be plotting, thus inviting terrorist attack. They carried reports of violence which never occurred in what looked much like an attempt to inflame Moroccans. One broadcast urged that "hatred of England and France shall embrace all Arab hearts." Meanwhile Communists, who number no more than 500 card-carriers, are stepping up activities under Ali Yata, secretary of the Moroccan Communist party, who has been urging Moroccans to form a "national unity" front. He has instructed Moroccan Communists that they are "brothers" of the Istiqlal party and the Democrat Independence party (both nationalist).

Both parties disavow any connection with communism. Indeed they have been attempting to fight Red influence and infiltration, but as the Moroccan situation worsens, neutral observers worry about the possibility of alliances of opportunity in the future arising from activities of young hothead extremists and the desperation of a movement, all of whose leaders are jailed.

The Communists are attempting to move in on the young people, students and intellectuals. They are trying to capitalize on the vacuum created by Moslem avoidance of mosques, which Moroccans shun rather than have to pray for the new Sultan. The Communists are becoming monarchists, protesting violently the ouster of Sidi Mohammed and demanding return of "his majsty."

names of witnesses and testimony were secret by law.

The House Judiciary Committee entered the dispute saying a charge had been made (it didn't say by whom) that the Department of Justice was trying to censor and obstruct the jury's work. The committee cleared the Justice Department, and noted that "Cohn left it with the impression that he is an able and extremely bright young man, aggressive in the performance of his duties and probably not free from the pressures of personal ambition."

Transferred to the Justice Department in Washington in 1952, Cohn drew up the indictment of Owen Lattimore, former Johns Hopkins University professor, on charges of perjury. Lattimore was accused on seven counts of lying when he told a congressional committee he had not been a Communist sympathizer. Four of the counts were thrown out by a federal judge who expressed some doubt as to the other three. The case is pending.

In January, 1953, Cohn resigned from the Justice Department to go with the McCarthy subcommittee at $11,700 a year. Soon after, he and Schine started investigating the Voice of America and other State Department foreign information programs.

There were charges and denials that people with pro-Communist leanings guided the Voice; that 20 million dollars was being wasted on two radio stations designed to penetrate the Iron Curtain.

Cohn and Schine turned up in Paris. Their mission is still undefined, but for 18 days they flitted about Germany, Austria and England. First they said they were hunting for inefficiency, then for subversives.

The German press greeted them as "the McCarthy kids." A State Department employe, Theodore Kaghan, called them "junketeering gumshoes." He was recalled to the United States and later asked to resign. He did.

The State Department investigation dwindled away. The information services were set up as independent agencies, and more than 800 employes discharged. Construction of the radio stations was halted, although two million dollars had been spent.

Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) called the Cohn-Schine trip a "Keystone Cop" chase and said: "It would seem to me that attacks on the Voice of America programs made what should have been a strong voice for freedom at the time of Stalin's death a stammer that rendered it ineffectual."

Although he has been on the government payroll since he left school, Cohn has been a member of a New York law firm since 1952. A close friend says he does most of his work for the firm by telephone or on the weekends he is in New York, where he lives in an apartment within the Park Avenue apartment of his family.

His Washington home is in a hotel across the street from the Senate Office Building.

Since the hearing started, there have been repeated rumors that McCarthy would like to jettison Cohn. McCarthy, however, has described him as "one of the most brilliant young men I have ever met. He is extremely valuable to the committee. I should be very disappointed if he left."

Conflicting views come from other associates:

A young lawyer in the committee office says: "I've known him for six years. I like him and I think he is brilliant."

Another, who resigned from the committee after working with Cohn for a year said: "I'm the wrong man to ask about Cohn. I couldn't stand him . . . Everybody isn't as stupid as Cohn thinks."

A secretary on the committee staff called him "very smart—too smart for his own comfort."

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

RABAT, Morocco, June 1 (AP)—Violent anti - foreign propaganda from the Moslem Mideast and Cairo is being aimed at North Africa today in what appears to be an attempt to seize pan-Islamic opportunity from the deepening Nationalist crisis.

A dangerous vacuum has been created in Morocco with the ouster of Sultan Sid Mohammed Ben Youssef, 47, now exiled in Madagascar. The ouster had the result of turning devout Moroccan Moslems away from Mosques in anger and bitterness, prey to all sorts of opportunities, including Communists and fanatically anti-foreign champions of pan-Islam (world Mohammedan unity).

France has protested at least twice to Cairo about broadcasts of the "Voice of Arabs" on Radio Cairo, these call Moroccans to violence in the name of Islam. French here say there has been no response from Cairo.

The propaganda should gladden the hearts of Communists, for whom it is ready made. For example, Voice of Arabs broadcast this reaction on the fall of Dien Bien Phu to Communist forces:

"Arabs: The most celebrated battles fought by the liberation movement, that of Dien Bien Phu, is over and the Indochinese patriots are victorious. Voice of Arabs has faith in the liberty planted in history by bodies of martyrs and vivified by blood of patriots. It is through this that the battle of Dien Bien Phu becomes in the eyes of voice of Arabs another battle of liberation in the course of which right won over injustice, just as justice will triumph everywhere over weeds of falseness. The victory of those who were slaves of the colonialists should not pass unnoticed. The triumph of patriots at Dien Bien Phu should not pass without attracting great attention."

Voice of Arabs brought Dien Bien Phu to the attention of Moroccans many times as an example of how a battle can be waged against the French. Moroccans admitted to me they had been watching Dien Bien Phu and progress of the Indochina war carefully.

They say to themselves that regardless of the ideological issues involved, it is "living proof that a colony can break away from French domination."

Radio Cairo on one hand and Radio Tetuan from Spanish Morocco on the other hand add fuel to flames here.

The Spanish Moroccan radio calls terrorists of French Morocco "redeemers" and applauds their activities against the French, whose relations with Franco Spain have been cool ever since the deposing of Sidi Mohammed. Radio Cairo's Voice of Arabs calls on terrorists to struggle to "build a free and independent Arabia."

After the first attempts on the life of the new Sultan, Moulay Mohamed Ben Arafa, by terrorist Allal Ben Abdullah last September, Radio Cairo began broadcasts with lyric tribute to the would-be assassin, ending with the words "down with colonialism." Thereafter Voice of Arabs has frequently called on Moroccans not to "miss the fact that France has been seriously wounded" in Indochina.

The broadcasts went so far as to name the specific house where "enemies of Arabism and Islam" were supposed to be plotting, thus inviting terrorist attack. They carried reports of violence which never occurred in what looked much like an attempt to inflame Moroccans. One broadcast urged that "hatred of England and France shall embrace all Arab hearts." Hi Dee Club License Suspended 40 Days

The Hi Dee Club, 136 North Mechanic Street, received a 40-day suspension of its license yesterday following a hearing before the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A conviction in Trial Magistrates' Court several weeks ago for the sale of a bottle of wine to a minor resulted in the board citing the club operator, Edward Belfoure, to appear to show cause why the license should not be revoked or suspended.

Simon F. Reilly was attorney for the club. He told the board that the circumstances surrounding the incident were such that a minimum suspension would be warranted. Reilly said the bartender had asked for the youth, who purchased the wine, to show an ID card which is issued to members of the armed services. This was done by the youth and it showed his age as 23, according to the bartender.

The Hi Dee Club was fined $100 by a magistrate after the testimony several weeks ago. It was the second conviction of the club. Several years ago the club was fined $500 in Circuit Court after being found guilty of selling intoxicants to a minor.

Belfoure said the youth in question should have been prosecuted under the Maryland law which provides for penalties for any minor to misrepresent their age when purchasing intoxicants. He told the board that the youth in question left Cumberland the day following the hearing in court.

Reilly also said the conviction in court recently resulted after city police arrested the youth, after an officer saw a young girl drinking from the wine bottle while they were in a car parked on a street. This occurred several hours after the wine was purchased at the Hi-Dee Club.

Nun Is Feted On 50th Anniversary

Sister Louis, of St. Patrick's Convent here, was honored Saturday with a dinner and reception on the occasion of her 50th anniversary as a member of the religious order of the School Sisters of Notre Dame.

Sister Louis taught the Sixth Grade at St. Patrick's School for many years.

Over 100 nuns from the teaching and nursing orders from Western Maryland attended the event held in the convent Monday.

Murder Lead Fizzled Out By New Data

One of the hottest leads in several years in the redhead murder case at Berkeley Springs was chilled yesterday by Cpl. C. C. Burke, of the Berkeley Springs detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Over the weekend State Police picked up a description of a woman missing since September 1949.

It seemed, at first, to tally with the description of the woman found murdered on May 10, 1950, near the Maryland border in Morgan County, W. Va.

The missing woman's description was printed two weeks ago in a Washington, D. C., labor newspaper by Elmer Thompsen, retired railroader who lives in Eau Gallio, Fla.

The description seemed to pair up quite well. Thompsen, however, was visiting in New York State and could not be reached for further information when the West Virginia authorities found the ad.

Yesterday, Cpl. Burke said a brother of the missing redhead, James, called him from North Springfield, Pa., and said his sister, Miss Dorothy L. Thompsen, who disappeared from their home in that town near Erie September 2, 1949, had false teeth and weighed about 150 pounds.

Cpl. Burke said this information immediately quashed his hottest lead, as the murdered woman had good teeth, with none missing and weighed between 120 and 130 pounds.

The father is en route to Florida and plans to stop in at Berkeley Springs to see Cpl. Burke anyway.

Cpl. Burke said he is continually receiving inquiries on the murdered woman from persons seeking missing women.

The population of the world is increasing at a rate of about 1.4 per cent a year.

Bowman's Addition Firemen Are Granted Beer License

The Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company was granted a beer license yesterday by the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A decision by the board to grant the license followed formal rejection of the petition made by a group of residents of the community, who filed a remonstrance against issuance of the permit. A hearing on the remonstrance was held May 18 at the Court House.

The fire company was denied a license when an application was made in May of 1953 and it has been without a beer permit for a year. The board's opinion, signed by Walter C. Capper, chairman, Stanley O. Hamilton and James E. Kenny, members of the board, stated:

"No witnesses whatever were produced by the remonstrants showing any violations of the law during the past year. The testimony of the remonstrants showed that the place has been peaceful and generally free of disturbances.

"The officials (of the fire company) now assure the board that teen-agers will not be permitted in the fire hall, except on Thursdays, at which time the bar will be closed and the board believes the promise will be kept. If it should happen that the officers do not run the fire hall properly another remonstrance can be filled at any time and the officers must understand that if the place is not run properly then the license will be suppressed."

Principal spokesman for the remonstrants was Rev. Elva C. Brotemarkle while Urcel S. McCullough, president of the fire company, was the main speaker for the applicants when the hearing on the remonstrance was held.

McCullough cited the financial loss to the fire company due to the lack of a beer license. Last year only eight groups held dinners at the hall while the previous year more than 100 such events took place. This is one of the main sources of revenue for the organization, McCullough pointed out.

Hi Dee Club License Suspended 40 Days

The Hi Dee Club, 136 North Mechanic Street, received a 40-day suspension of its license yesterday following a hearing before the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A conviction in Trial Magistrates' Court several weeks ago for the sale of a bottle of wine to a minor resulted in the board citing the club operator, Edward Belfoure, to appear to show cause why the license should not be revoked or suspended.

Simon F. Reilly was attorney for the club. He told the board that the circumstances surrounding the incident were such that a minimum suspension would be warranted. Reilly said the bartender had asked for the youth, who purchased the wine, to show an ID card which is issued to members of the armed services. This was done by the youth and it showed his age as 23, according to the bartender.

The Hi Dee Club was fined $100 by a magistrate after the testimony several weeks ago. It was the second conviction of the club. Several years ago the club was fined $500 in Circuit Court after being found guilty of selling intoxicants to a minor.

Belfoure said the youth in question should have been prosecuted under the Maryland law which provides for penalties for any minor to misrepresent their age when purchasing intoxicants. He told the board that the youth in question left Cumberland the day following the hearing in court.

Reilly also said the conviction in court recently resulted after city police arrested the youth, after an officer saw a young girl drinking from the wine bottle while they were in a car parked on a street. This occurred several hours after the wine was purchased at the Hi-Dee Club.

Nun Is Feted On 50th Anniversary

Sister Louis, of St. Patrick's Convent here, was honored Saturday with a dinner and reception on the occasion of her 50th anniversary as a member of the religious order of the School Sisters of Notre Dame.

Sister Louis taught the Sixth Grade at St. Patrick's School for many years.

Over 100 nuns from the teaching and nursing orders from Western Maryland attended the event held in the convent Monday.

Murder Lead Fizzled Out By New Data

One of the hottest leads in several years in the redhead murder case at Berkeley Springs was chilled yesterday by Cpl. C. C. Burke, of the Berkeley Springs detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Over the weekend State Police picked up a description of a woman missing since September 1949.

It seemed, at first, to tally with the description of the woman found murdered on May 10, 1950, near the Maryland border in Morgan County, W. Va.

The missing woman's description was printed two weeks ago in a Washington, D. C., labor newspaper by Elmer Thompsen, retired railroader who lives in Eau Gallio, Fla.

The description seemed to pair up quite well. Thompsen, however, was visiting in New York State and could not be reached for further information when the West Virginia authorities found the ad.

Yesterday, Cpl. Burke said a brother of the missing redhead, James, called him from North Springfield, Pa., and said his sister, Miss Dorothy L. Thompsen, who disappeared from their home in that town near Erie September 2, 1949, had false teeth and weighed about 150 pounds.

Cpl. Burke said this information immediately quashed his hottest lead, as the murdered woman had good teeth, with none missing and weighed between 120 and 130 pounds.

The father is en route to Florida and plans to stop in at Berkeley Springs to see Cpl. Burke anyway.

Cpl. Burke said he is continually receiving inquiries on the murdered woman from persons seeking missing women.

The population of the world is increasing at a rate of about 1.4 per cent a year.

994 Students Graduate In This County

Fort Hill Boasts Largest Class

The limelight will be on the 994 graduates of Allegany County's public and parochial high schools this week.

St. Mary's High School of Cumberland had the first commencement exercises Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Tonight at 7 p.m. the graduation for Ursuline Academy will be held in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Thursday at 8 p. m. will see the graduates of Fort Hill High School, Bruce High School, Westernport; Mt. Savage High School, and Carver High School, receiving their diplomas.

Friday at 8 p. m. is the time for commencements at Beall High School, Frostburg; Allegany High School, Cumberland; Valley High School, Lonaconing, and Oldtown High School.

Saturday at 7:30 p. m. graduation is set at Flintstone High School.

For the seniors of Catholic Girls Central High School, the graduation will be held following the noon mass at St. Patrick Catholic Church next Sunday, June 6.

That evening at 7:30 p. m. in Carroll Hall the seniors of LaSalle High School, will receive their diplomas.

The last class to be graduated will be the seniors at St. Peter's High School in Westernport. Sunday, June 13, following the 10:30 a. m. mass in St. Peter's Catholic Church.

The number of graduates are: Fort Hill, 251; Allegany, 189; Carver, 16; Flintstone, 40; Oldtown, 26; Bruce, 86; Valley, 88; Beall, 133, Mt. Savage, 61; St. Mary's, 8; St. Peter's, 10; LaSalle, 43; Catholic Girls Central, 20; and Ursuline, 22.

Bowman's Addition Firemen Are Granted Beer License

The Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company was granted a beer license yesterday by the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A decision by the board to grant the license followed formal rejection of the petition made by a group of residents of the community, who filed a remonstrance against issuance of the permit. A hearing on the remonstrance was held May 18 at the Court House.

The fire company was denied a license when an application was made in May of 1953 and it has been without a beer permit for a year. The board's opinion, signed by Walter C. Capper, chairman, Stanley O. Hamilton and James E. Kenny, members of the board, stated:

"No witnesses whatever were produced by the remonstrants showing any violations of the law during the past year. The testimony of the remonstrants showed that the place has been peaceful and generally free of disturbances.

"The officials (of the fire company) now assure the board that teen-agers will not be permitted in the fire hall, except on Thursdays, at which time the bar will be closed and the board believes the promise will be kept. If it should happen that the officers do not run the fire hall properly another remonstrance can be filled at any time and the officers must understand that if the place is not run properly then the license will be suppressed."

Principal spokesman for the remonstrants was Rev. Elva C. Brotemarkle while Urcel S. McCullough, president of the fire company, was the main speaker for the applicants when the hearing on the remonstrance was held.

McCullough cited the financial loss to the fire company due to the lack of a beer license. Last year only eight groups held dinners at the hall while the previous year more than 100 such events took place. This is one of the main sources of revenue for the organization, McCullough pointed out.

Route 40 Group Protests Against Bridge

The Route 40 Association Inc., has protested construction of the overhead bridge here in a telegram to Governor McKeldin, U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Congressman Dewitt S. Hyde.

A copy of the wire was presented the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Signed by Edward Wolfe, president, the telegrams said the association was shocked at plans for plans for destruction of homes and places of business for the cross-town project.

Urges Improvements

It urged that the funds be used to improve Route 40 and bring traffic and business into Western Maryland to aid the economy and not destroy it. The association said it had written a letter with full particulars, as a follow-up to the telegram.

Council received and filled a number of routine reports from departments on last month's activities.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said there were 737 arrests with fines totaling $1,051. The Fire Department answered 29 calls but damage was minor.

Meter collections increased $137.98 for the week May 16-23, Inspector Harry Whisner reported.

Building and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum listed 22 new building permits, 12 for new construction, with an estimated expenditure of $54,025. Eight sewer permits were granted. There were six applications for occupancy permits, all referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

No Race Damage

Charles F. Heller, airport maintenance superintendent, said no damage was caused at the airport by the recent sports car races although a "tremendous" cleanup job followed. He said it was estimated between 3,600 and 3,800 cars were parked at the port and praised the order and work of auxiliary police. Heller also said a mile of new fence has been constructed.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery listed receipts of $2,665.70. This included $535 from filing fees from candidates in today's primary election; $265 from bingo tax and recreation admission tax on bingo.

Commissioner Lucile Roeder reporting on street cleaning and the street and alley department said 581 street, 20 alleys, 6 catch basins and 3 manholes were cleaned; 20 streets had holes filled with blacktop and 14 with concrete. There were 14 sewers opened.

New Equipment Sought

The Water Department, according to Commissioner William I. Edwards, read 3,700 meters; renewed 11 lines and repaired 10 and laid 378 feet of new main. There were 13 applications for new taps and 12 for meters.

An order to pay Philip W. Ward $41.70 for damages to two auto tires on Piedmont Avenue was approved.

Council rescinded a previous order and authorized Commissioner Roeder to advertise for a tandem roller and trailer for the Street Department. The previous order was for roller only.

The Health Department was authorized to ask bids for a new automobile, purchase price to allow for trade-in of an older model.

Sanitation Staff Has Busy Month

The sanitation staff of the Allegany County Health Department made 435 trips during April in connection with sanitation problems of the area.

J. B. Dowling, chief of the staff, reported good progress on sewerage problems, adding that 29 new septic tanks were installed and correction made on defects in double that number of existing sewerage systems.

Progress was also noted on combating the tramp pigeon and starling nuisance in Cumberland.

Collected for sampling to guard the purity of supplies were 144 water, 338 milk and six ice samples. Some 120 swab tests were taken from equipment used in food and drink establishments.

dates, however, failed to carry their own territories, but made inroads in some other precinct, where it is evident, they or some of their supporters had concentrated their efforts.

Other candidates seemed to run equally well, or equally bad throughout the entire city, with about the same treatment, percentagewise everywhere. This would indicate either no effort anywhere, and no support, or general effort everywhere, and reasonable support.

In some elections past, candidates attempted to pile up huge pluralities in a couple of precincts, but in this primary, if the effort was made, it did not generally materialize. The leaders ran well almost everywhere. The losers ran poorly almost everywhere.

Incumbent Mayor Roy W. Eves, who resides at 101 Washington Street, claims Ward 1, Precinct 2 as his home precinct. The combined figure here is 1052 registered with 599 voting.

Mrs. Roeder lives at 808 Trost Avenue, and her home precinct is Ward 3, Precinct 2. At this place 480 of 850 cast ballots.

Marple lives at 234 North Centre Street, making his home precinct Ward 2, Precinct 1. Here there are 615 registered and 300 voted.

Sensabaugh lives at 404 North Centre Street and his home precinct is Ward 2, Precinct 2. There are 589 registered. A total of 313 voted.

claims Ward 6, Precinct 1. There are 606 registered and 284 voted.

Edwards resides at 225 Columbia Street and his home polling place is Ward 3, Precinct 1. There are 934 registered and 514 voted.

Griffin of 406 Prince George Street and Hauger of 631 Brookfield Avenue, along with the incumbent police commissioner, John J. Long, all claim Ward 6, Precinct 6 as their home territory. A total of 772 are registered and 430 voted.

Hensell, 447 Seymour Street lives in Ward 6, Precinct 4. There are 738 registered and 336 voted.

Keegan lives at 310 Cumberland Street and claims Ward 1, Precinct 2 as home territory. There are 1052 registered, 599 voted.

Keller resides at 113 Virginia Avenue and claims Ward 6, Precinct 3 as his home polling place. A total of 384 of 780 voted.

Lewis resides at 18 South Mechanic Street with Ward 5, Precinct 1 as his home place. There are 524 registered and 277 voted.

Sisk, 306 Bedford Street votes at Ward 3, Precinct 3. The registration is 302 and 172 voted.

Tederick, 186 Thomas Street, has Ward 6, Precinct 2 as his home precinct. The combined registration is 917 and 402 voted.

Weatherholt, at 419 Fairmont Lane and Zorick at 805 Manns Terrace vote at Ward 1, Precinct 4. A total of 367 out of 724 voted.

action to take from the board.

Traub stated the telegram didn't arrive at his office until 7:16 p. m. Saturday, April 25, when the office was closed and his staff did not know of the showing until the following Monday.

Magistrate Dick, in his summation, said he felt that Fisher, the projectionist, and the owners of the theatre, Harmon Theatres, were equally guilty under the law.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, who prosecuted the case, told the court "it is a deplorable situation. I venture to say many teen-agers were there as it is their custom to go to drive-ins at late hours. This type of film affects the public peace and morals and it is Rose's responsibility to designate the proper film print which was to be shipped."

William H. Geppert was attorney for the defendant.

"Come into my house ...said the spider to the fly"

They use a lot of lures, these days to get you to try certain beers.

One brewery says, "come into my house, buy my beer and we'll give you gifts."

Another says, "come into my house because we're BIG and that means we're better."

Still another says, "come into my house, and with my beer you'll never get fat."

Let's look at those claims.

Let's look at "gifts"

Gifts cost money. Old Export prefers to put all its money into giving you a better glass of beer. We don't see the sense of taking anything out of the beer.

Unchanging good taste is the best salesman Old Export ever had.

Claims of bigness

Then there's the one about "better because we're big."

Old Export brews all its beer in small quantities.

Those small quantities make for better . . . much better flavor control. (We'll never be big as the big boys . . . even though we're doing 5-times the business since Repeal). But no one bigger will ever make a better beer.

Unchanging good taste still wins people.

Sugar free claims

There have been some pretty reckless claims made about calories in beer. "Drink any beer but mine", the reckless say, "and you'll put on weight."

We simply ask you to read the box below entitled, "Official U.S. Government findings." This is the stand of the U.S. Treasury Department as released in a letter to all breweries and the public on May 22, 1953.

Unchanging good taste pays off

We've seen the claims come and go. We still think you'd rather have a beer that's made with patience...with pride ...in small quantities...rather than be handed a lot of hooey. Try Old Export. Chances are you'll agree with us that unchanging good taste never goes out of style.

Official U.S. Government Findings

"Analyses of beer samples have shown that the sugar content varied so little, amounting in no instance to more than negligible trace, as to have no appreciable effect on the caloric content."

Independent research proves that no leading beer has less calories than Old Export.

dates, however, failed to carry their own territories, but made inroads in some other precinct, where it is evident, they or some of their supporters had concentrated their efforts.

Other candidates seemed to run equally well, or equally bad throughout the entire city, with about the same treatment, percentagewise everywhere. This would indicate either no effort anywhere, and no support, or general effort everywhere, and reasonable support.

In some elections past, candidates attempted to pile up huge pluralities in a couple of precincts, but in this primary, if the effort was made, it did not generally materialize. The leaders ran well almost everywhere. The losers ran poorly almost everywhere.

Incumbent Mayor Roy W. Eves, who resides at 101 Washington Street, claims Ward 1, Precinct 2 as his home precinct. The combined figure here is 1052 registered with 599 voting.

Developing Nuclear Power For Peace

As much industry and energy should be put into the program for developing nuclear power for peace as is applied to the fashioning of atomic weapons, in the opinion of Robert Lebaron, who is chairman of the Pentagon committee maintaining liaison with the Atomic Energy Commission. Efforts now being made to amend the Atomic Energy Act are directed to this end, among others.

There is little doubt that when this nation sets its hand to something and goes all out it generally achieves results. Mr. Lebaron is convinced that if a program comparable to the "Manhattan Engineer District," which was the wartime front for the mammoth effort of making the first atomic bomb, is set up, rapid progress will be made in the effort to adapt the atom to industrial pursuits.

Mr. Lebaron's guess was that if the problem is tackled at an accelerated pace amazing results will be apparent within a span of five years instead of in a decade. What the nation needs, he said, in addition to money and government backing, is the "unique devotion" which successfully culminated in the first harnessing and control of atomic power.

Of course this "unique devotion" takes in much territory and many people. Industry generally is quite willing to share in the development for obvious reasons. Here is the promise of a new and almost limitless source of power, and those who gain depth of experience in its applications to peacetime pursuits will have a long lead when atomic energy comes out of the public domain.

There is a compelling basic reason for giving serious heed to Mr. Lebaron's advice. Russia, it is no secret, is diverting more and more of its fissionable output to power projects. The time may come when an atomic plowshare will be a potent argument in a world which must make a choice between freedom and communism.

Orloff v. Willoughby

In all the discussion of the Peress case little has been made of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case, Orloff v. Willoughby, in which the court held that the granting of a commission to a doctor was entirely within the discretion of the President of the United States and those acting under his authority.

The case was decided on March 9, 1953, and could have been a guide to the Army in the matter of Major Irving Peress, over the disposition of which the McCarthy-Stevens hearings are being held.

Stanley J. Orloff is a physician who was lawfully inducted into the Army under the doctor-dentist draft. Orloff was not given the specialized duties nor the commissioned rank to which he claimed to be entitled. Orloff, like Peress, was put into the Army under the Universal Military Training and Service Act which authorizes the conscription of certain medical and allied specialist categories. Orloff made the point that he could only be inducted as a doctor and that if the Army did not choose to use him as such, he ought to be released from any military duty. He swore out a writ of habeas corpus against Col. Rex E. Willoughby, commandant of Fort Lawton, Seattle, Wash.

The court stated, in a decision written by Justice Robert Jackson:

". . . This petitioner refused information as to his membership in or association with organizations designated by the attorney general as subversive or which advocated overthrow of the government by force and violence. He gave as his reason that 'as a matter of conscience, I object to filling out the loyalty certificate because it involves an inquisition into my personal beliefs and views. Moreover, the inquiry into organizational affiliations employs the principle of guilt by association, to which I am vigorously opposed. Further, it is my understanding that all the organizations were listed by the attorney general without notice or hearing which has caused the Supreme Court to invalidate it.' "

This is exactly the same situation as the Peress case, but it was handled differently. I quote further from the decision of the court:

". . . As to the question 'Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist party, U. S. A. or any Communist organization?' He (Orloff) said, 'Federal constitutional privilege is claimed.' "

Further the court said:

"The petitioner appears to be under the misconception that a commission is not only a matter of right, but is to be had upon his own terms."

The Army had the Orloff v. Willoughby decision before it when the Peress case arose and became an issue between the Army and the McCarthy Committee. The Army could have used the decision in Orloff v. Willoughby in the Peress case and there would have been no controversy, because the attitudes of Orloff and Peress toward loyalty questions were identical. The court said:

". . . But, if he is the first to be denied a commission, it may also be that he is the first doctor to haggle about questions concerning his loyalty. . ."

The Supreme Court held that it was not its view that Orloff himself could decide upon his own fitness. It held:

"It is argued that Orloff is being punished for having claimed a privilege which the Constitution guarantees. No one, at least no one on this court which has repeatedly sustained assertion by Communists of the privilege against self-incrimination, questions or doubts Orloff's right to withhold facts about himself on this ground. No one believes he can be punished for doing so. But the question is whether he can at the same time take the position that to tell the truth about himself would incriminate him and that even so the President must appoint him to a post of honor and trust. We have no hesitation in answering that question 'No.' "

I have quoted enough from this decision to indicate its applicability to the Peress case. Why was it not applied? Why was he promoted from captain to major and given an honorable discharge and the entire country thrown into the turmoil of the McCarthy-Stevens hearings? If the entire question is not political, why was not this decision applied rather than to have the current fracas? An explanation is needed.

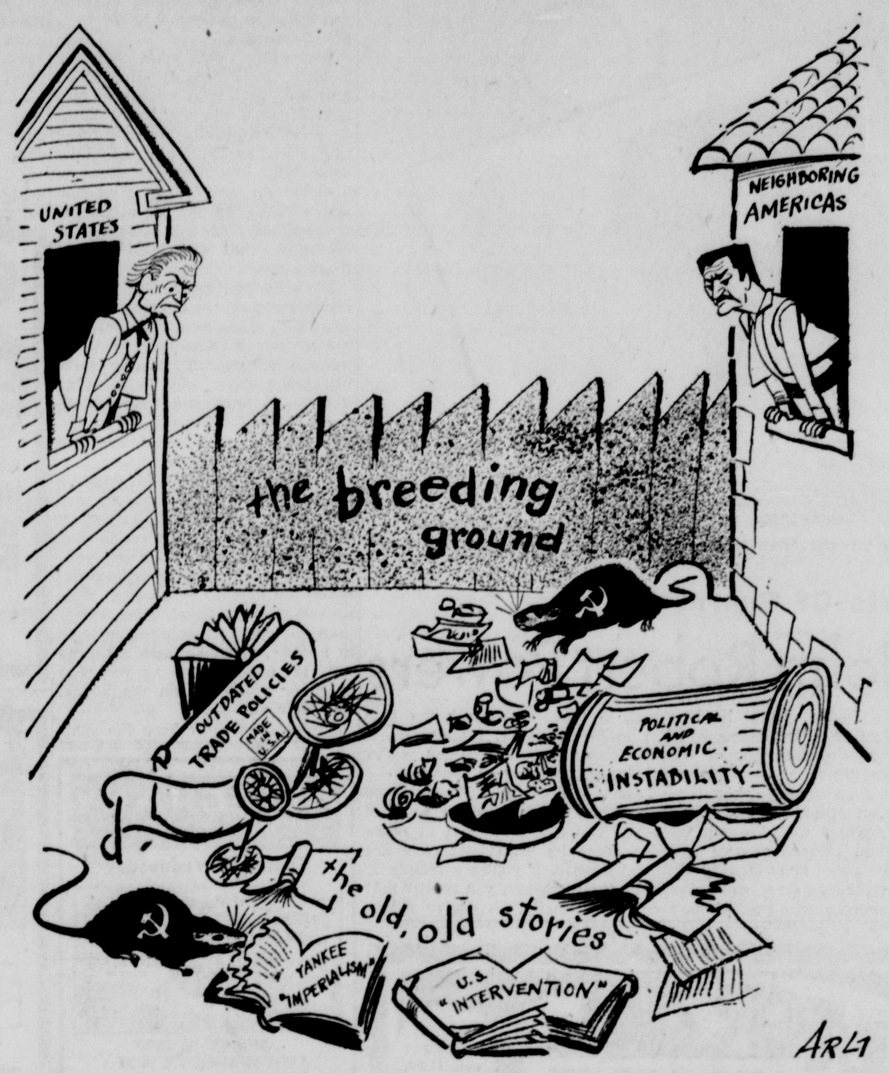
A Backyard Cleanup Is Long Overdue



Conquering Lion Of Judah Is Greeted By Cheering Crowds In Washington

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Thoughts On Welcoming The Lion Of Judah—Washington is a blase city . . . . It takes a lot to make people get out on the street corners and cheer. Visiting princes and potentates have toured the length of Constitution Avenue from Queen Marie of Romania in Hoover's day to the president of Turkey in Ike's day. The clerks and cliff-dwellers of the nation's capital remain unenthused and unimpressed . . . . But they turned out for a dusky, stately little man from Africa the other day . . . . I suppose one reason was basic sympathy of the American people for the underdog. They knew this little emperor had undergone the most ruthless invasion of any preceding World II, while the civilized world stood by, wringing its hands, but doing nothing . . . . So last week the Conquering Lion of Judah, the elect of God, rode down Constitution Avenue while blase Washington turned out and cheered.

Conquered By A Soiree—The altitude of Addis Ababa, where Emperor Haile Selassie lives, is about 8,000 feet. The altitude of Washington is about 35 feet. And at the sultry gala reception given by the Ethiopian ambassador, the emperor became slightly faint. He sat down, guests were asked to excuse him . . . . He had taken a lot of punishment in his 61 years, from Mussolini's Black Shirts to civil war with his uncle. But a Washington social soiree was a little more than he could stand . . . . I don't go to many of these brawls but I did this one . . . . Sampling the emperor's food — from beef stew to chop suey—my memory went back to the first plenipotentiary we sent to Ethiopia, Addison E. Southard, who, when presenting his credentials, was required to ride a mule decked out in red Moroccan trimmings. The automobile was taboo in those days . . . . Then there was the emperor's coronation, when gifts poured in from princes and presidents. The king of England sent a one-ton coronation cake. The president of France sent an airplane. But Herbert Hoover, then president, sent a photo of himself.

They Knew Selassie—Two men were at the reception with poignant memories of Haile Selassie—Arthur Sweetzer of the United Nations and Edgar Mowrer, the International News expert. In Geneva they had watched Haile Selassie make his historic plea to the League of Nations, a plea to help a little, unarmed nation resist the armed fist of a Roman dictator. They had watched the forlorn figure as his impassioned words fell on deaf ears, had watched him walk into the wings of that crumbling arena for peace . . . . And last week they watched him ride triumphant through Washington. . . . So there must be an Almighty who rights the wrongs of the downtrodden even among nations.

Little McCarthy Quiz — Wonder what the Rockefeller family now thinks of the Republican congressmen who inspire testimony that their foundation is the next thing to communism? . . . . The Rockefellers contributed a neat $84,000 in 1952 to elect a Republican administration. Today Congressman Carroll Reece of Tennessee and other Republicans have permitted testimony which makes the Rockefeller Foundation's great work in stemming typhoid, bubonic plague, disease all over the world, look as if it was dictated from Moscow.... The Fords also shelled out heavily for the GOP. Ford dealers all over the country were asked to pony up for the Grand Old Party in 1952. Last week GOP congressmen permitted testimony indicating that the Ford Foundation is akin to communism . . . . Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, two business buccaneers who were criticized for a lot of things, but never for being communistic, must be turning over in their graves!

Dr. Bunche's Loyalty—The loyalty of Dr. Ralph Bunche, the distinguished Negro diplomat, nearly gave the Republican high command heebee-jeebies. They figured they would lose the Negro vote, which—as a result of the Supreme Court's decision plus Senator Maybank's slap at nonsegregated public housing—seems leaning a bit toward the GOP . . . . Actually Dr. Bunche's loyalty investigation has been under way for about two months. It was kept so hush-hush that for a time not even he knew about it . . . . However, Dag Hammarskjold, secretary of the United Nations, did know, and was so furious at the Eisenhower administration he purposely promoted Bunche to be undersecretary of the U. N. . . . He had great confidence in Bunch as do everyone who has even known him . . . . It was to offset political repercussions of the Bunche probe that the White House carefully made it known that he was invited to the official dinner for Haile Selassie. . . . Sometimes it pays to be a member of a minority group. When Dr. Philip Jessup of Columbia was appointed delegate to the U. N., Senate Republicans refused to confirm him because he had belonged to one subversive group many years ago, even though he had an O.K. from his boss, President Eisenhower of Columbia . . . . But Channing Tobias, Negro leader who belonged to nine organizations listed by the Un-American Activities Committee as subversive, was confirmed as a U. N. delegate like a breeze. Republican senators, afraid of a well-organized minority group vote, were afraid to oppose him . . . . Today Dr. Oppenheimer's loyalty probe is still continuing. Dr. Bunche's has been terminated.

H-Bombs And Diplomats — The Army has two witnesses who will testify in rebuttal that Pvt. Schine spent much of his weekend time in night clubs when he was supposed to be working for the McCarthy Committee . . . . Adlai Stevenson couldn't get his youngest son into Princeton, but Princeton will give Adlai an honorary degree. He'll also pick two up from Columbia and Vassar . . . . Harry Truman will also come East—not for degrees but for the Shrine convention in Atlantic City.

Defection Of Secret Agents Is Serious Blow To Reds

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Two more Soviet secret agents of the highest rank have recently defected, and are now telling their stories to the American intelligence authorities.

The names and identities of the new defectors have quite properly not been revealed. It is known, however, that they were key figures in the Kremlin's espionage net in Europe. They are said to have worked in two of the great centers of European espionage, Vienna and Berlin; but this has not been confirmed.

The meaning of the news is far greater than may appear on the surface. There is much more to these defections than mere spy drama, with mingled overtones of E. Phillips Oppenheim and George Orwell.

To grasp the meaning, consider how Washington would react if half a dozen officials of the Central Intelligence Agency, including at least three in top positions, should suddenly defect to the Soviets. It would then have to be assumed that the whole American intelligence system had been compromised, and that many vital American secrets had fallen into Soviet hands.

The new defections, added to those which are already known, make just that kind of picture. The two men, whose whereabouts are a closely guarded secret, are understood to have occupied posts at least equal, and probably superior to that of Yuri Rastovorov. Rastovorov, who led the parade in Japan, was second secretary in the Soviet embassy in Tokyo for public purposes. It can now be stated, however, that he had Tokyo ministerial rank in the Soviet intelligence service.

The other known defectors are the somewhat lower ranking Australian pair, Vladmir Petrov and his wife Petrova, and the much publicized but relatively unimportant Nikolai Kohlkov, who is now in this country. Besides these, it is further reported that a number of other small fry of the Soviet intelligence have recently come over without attracting public attention.

Connected With Beria

With two defectors from key posts in the European net, and with Rastovorov from Japan and the Petrov couple from Australia, the free world now has in its hands a representative sample from the two critical areas, Europe and the Far East. It is not too much to say that the Soviet system is thoroughly compromised. Thus the Soviets will have to reconstruct it from the ground up.

The reason for this sudden rash of defectors among the secret agents, who are the most carefully tested of all Soviet officials, is not very difficult to find. Lavrenti Beria has fallen. The MVD was Beria's apparatus. And the fall of Beria has therefore sent a thrill of terror, a fearful spasm of doubt and apprehension, through the ranks of the MVD.

The suspicion directed at all Beria-linked officials, the even greater suspicion aroused by the recent defections, must surely have caused the Kremlin to lose faith in the MVD intelligence system everywhere in the world.

It is well to remember, however, that the first defector, Igor Gouzenko, revealed to the Canadian authorities that no less than three, and perhaps as many as five, different Soviet intelligence systems were all in business in Canada. The main net may be broken, but the subsidiary nets, not connected with Beria and indeed competitive with the MVD are no doubt still in working order.

The case of Yuri Rastovorov explains why the names and identities of the two new European defectors are being so closely guarded. Rastovorov originally intended to give himself up to the British Secret Intelligence Service. He had made the necessary contact with the SIS. He was even ready to board a British plane for London, when he changed his mind at the last moment.

After this disappointment of the SIS, contact was established between Rastovorov and Central Intelligence Agency representatives in Tokyo. Curiously enough, the tennis courts—for he was an enthusiastic player, and played often with the Americans and British—formed the needed bridge.

Serious Setback To Russia

When Rastovorov intimated his desire to defect to CIA representatives, he was in great agony of mind. He insisted, particularly, that the fact of his defection must never be published or admitted. That way, he said, members of his family and his friends in Russia would be far less likely to suffer. In the end, before taking his final decision to come over, he exacted an iron-clad promise of secrecy.

The promise even included a commitment to deny Rastovorov's defection to the Soviets, if they ever inquired officially about him. On this basis, Rastovorov finally came over. The fact may well be denied: but it is undoubted that the story was then leaked, complete with name, by Army G-2 in Tokyo. No doubt G-2 had been hankering for a little publicity since the dear, dead days of Gen. MacArthur, when the CIA was all but forbidden to operate in the MacArthur theater.

There are other curious facts about these defections. In the case of Kohlkov, for example, the man's story was at first not believed. On the one hand, his claim to be under orders as an assassin, sounded a bit high-colored. On the other hand, his plea to the CIA, to exact his wife and child from the very heart of the Soviet Union, sounded more than suspicious.

Before his bona fides were accepted, Kohlkov was subjected to the most ruthless grilling, of the ugly, scientific kind that is customary among intelligence agencies in this (Orwellian) world. He passed all tests, however. And so his firm convictions that the CIA could snatch his family from the heart of Russia, has now been taken as an indication of the fear of this country in the ranks of the Soviet intelligence system.

Overall, the significance of the pattern of Soviet defections can hardly be exaggerated. The setback to the Soviet Union has certainly been very serious. In achieving this setback for the enemy, the American intelligence service has done admirable work. But most of the credit must go to the Soviet system which, Meloch-like, consumes its own; in which the spies are those most spied upon, and those most feared have most to fear.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Unable to figure why England and France put the dampers on our H-bomb ceremonies. Understand those wax dummies at Yucca Flats were born in this country.

We just put over Operation Blister at Bikentoki that clipped 11 seconds off the International Date Line.

The head-shrinkers of the Upstrake Archipelago wired our energy commissars, "Thanks for that last atomic bowser with mushroom sauce. The room service is terrific. We now have hot and cold running waterspouts."

Captain Ahab's game of touch tag with Moby Deck is very microscopic potatoes compared with recent happenings in the Pacific. Captain Bligh wouldn't know the old place now.

The last flower-pot we touched off pock-marked windshields in Tacoma. Hasn't been so long ago us hoss-drawn cannoneers used the lone pine tree at 12 o'clock for an aiming point. Now they point the snozzle at eternity and jerk the string.

The next time Big Ben loses its minute hand and the Eiffel Tower takes a bow, we advise England and France to keep their nostrils out of our business.

Atomic Age Graveyard

By Bob Considine

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The atomic age has made a graveyard out of Pearl Harbor.

Its capacity to repair and house ships remains unimpared, and in the event of Communist conquest of the entire Far East it would become almost as important as it was in World War II. But as a target in any great war, it would be less attractive to an enemy than, say, Wichita, Kansas, where Boeing's 8-jet B-52 is being made.

"They'd by-pass us today," Adm. C. E. Olsen, boss of the Hawaiian sea frontier of 8,500,000 square miles of ocean told us the other day. "We would be down the list of targets. The enemy would want to take out the mainland's industrial and population centers."

Not far from Admiral Olsen's headquarters, "Battleship Line"—once a sight to behold—was an empty stretch of berthings. The flag fluttered over the crudely planked remains of the Arizona, on the mud since the morning of December 7, 1941, when she took either a 1,000 or 2,000 pound Japanese armor-piercing bomb right down her smokestack and into her innards. More than 1,000 men are entombed in the old battlewagon's hull.

Big ships will never be concentrated again as they were on the morning the Japanese struck. They were like fish in a barrel on that momentous day. The only battleship to get underway during the attack was the U.S.S. Nevada. Wounded by a torpedo at her pier, Nevada's crew got her into the channel and headed for the open sea. But she was jumped by divebombers. Five hits knocked her full of holes. To keep her from sinking in the channel, which might have bottled the harbor's 97 ships for weeks, her skipper ran her aground at what is now known as "Nevada Point."

"Were a transient base now," the admiral said, not without a wistful note in his voice. "I guess we're kept busiest looking out for ailing planes and sinking fishing boats in our area."

One day last week Pearl sent out 22 air missions to see what could be done about military and commercial planes which had lost radio contact with the base or had engine trouble, and three fishing smacks in distress. Several days previously, Pearl's amazing searching planes spotted by radar the debris of the Martin Mariner that crashed on a flight from the coast. The discovery led searchers to four life-jacketed survivors being tossed about in the endless ocean.

Adm. Olson doesn't see Pearl or adjacent Hickam Field ever serving as a base from which a retaliatory raid might be staged on an enemy.

"We're just too far away from everything," he said. But it does not follow that Pearl Harbor can be permitted to doze off to the heady perfume of pikake and the sweet strains of hula. The admiral's a great believer in drills, alerts and unscheduled calls to battle stations.

Still, war is a remote thought around the place where it all started for us the last time. Everyone appears convinced beyond any question that there could never be another attack such as the one which paralyzed the place in 1941. The huge sea frontier (three times larger than the U.S.) is swept by planes and ships each day, all equipped with detection devices unknown at the time of our entrance in World War II. And, besides, there's nothing in the way of ship concentrations left to hit.

Pearl Harbor has become a great tourist attraction. Fourteenth Naval District "guides," under the command of Lt. Comdr. Jay Smith, public information officer, do a fine job of showing folks around. The spiel is a combination history lesson and military briefing. In it the tourist learns such things as:

As late as a day and a half after the U.S.S. Oklahoma had turned upside down, survivors were pulled through holes burned i. her keel... Only 38 of the 450 American planes in the area got off the ground during the two-hour raid. All 450 were destroyed or damaged... The flag over the sunken Arizona is not at half-mast because the Navy sentimentally regards her as still commissioned.

The battleships caught in the attack averaged 21 years old. Only two of the eight had radar. . . The Jap task force was made up of 33 ships. All reached the homeland, but 32 of the 33 were eventually sunk. . . We shot down 29 of the 353 Jap planes used . . . The Navy counterpunched quicker than most people think: a sub sank a Jap freighter December 11, 1941. . . If the Navy ever pulled out of Hawaii the place could hardly afford to be a state. The 1953 total income of the islands was $600 million. The Navy alone chipped in better than $200 million.

Identification Of Insects Sometimes Aids Diagnosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

From time to time strange items are sent to scientific laboratories for identification. Some of our readers also mail us dead worms or bugs; imagine the squeals that come from the secretaries when they open a letter or box and out pop such specimens.

William Headlee, Ph.D., was working in his parasitology laboratory at the University of Indiana, when he was summoned to the office of the state toxicologist, who introduced the manager of an industrial cafeteria and an officer of the state police.

On the table were three bologna sandwiches, two bites having been removed from one. An industrial plant worker had been eating the sandwich when he noted some white material on the meat. The war was in progress at the time and sabotage was suspected. Was the material arsenic? Tests showed none of the characteristics of arsenic or any other chemical but when a small portion wa placed under the microscope, the material looked like insect eggs. The sandwiches were placed in an incubator to hatch the eggs and a few days later, wormlike maggots appeared. They turned out to be larvae of the green bottle fly.

Professor Headlee also wrote about an experience with a student who brought him an insect for identification. It was a bedbug. For several weeks the young man had been suffering from dermatitis on the arms that was thought to be of allergic origin but the young man wondered if the rash might be related to the bedbug. Headlee learned that evenings, the student sat in a wicker chair he had bought from a local used furniture dealer. It was infested, and as soon as the chair was burned the eruption disappeared.

The parents of two little girls who were thought to be suffering from chicken pox came to the laboratory with an insect that had been found on the scalp of one of the children. It was recognized immediately as a flea. Investigation showed where the fleas were coming from. The family lived in an upstairs apartment and a den of squirrels was found in the attic. The rodent borne fleas rather than chicken pox were the cause of the eruption.

An epidemic of grain or straw itch in 1950, also was studied in the Headlee laboratory. This skin condition is caused by a mite that lives on the larvae of grain moths, or joint worms which in turn are harbored in the stems of weeds or other plants. Infestation is noted most frequently among workers who handle contaminated straw. The epidemic was traced to the straw used at the Indiana State Fairgrounds and estimates showed that 1,700 cases of grain itch dermatitis developed from this single source.

LUMPY VEINS

E. R. M. writes: After walking a while, a varicose vein in my leg knots up and I have to rest until the lump goes down. Have you any suggestions for relief?

REPLY

As soon as the varicosed veins are eliminated, your problem will be solved.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Some bright advertising lads in the Madison Avenue sector have invented a new method of torturing people on the telephone. At a very late hour, one will call a number culled at random from the directory and inquire sweely, "Is this Mr. Oberender?" "It is," says Oberender. "Is Clarence there?" "Clarence? There's nobody here named Clarence." "Whoops—sorry." Then he hangs up.

At ten-minute intervals, three or four other geniuses go through the same routine. By this time, Oberender is fit to be tied. The last joker completes the torture. When he gets Oberender on the phone, he booms, "Hi there, Oberender! This is Clarence. Any messages?"

Developing Nuclear Power For Peace

As much industry and energy should be put into the program for developing nuclear power for peace as is applied to the fashioning of atomic weapons, in the opinion of Robert Lebaron, who is chairman of the Pentagon committee maintaining liaison with the Atomic Energy Commission. Efforts now being made to amend the Atomic Energy Act are directed to this end, among others.

There is little doubt that when this nation sets its hand to something and goes all out it generally achieves results. Mr. Lebaron is convinced that if a program comparable to the "Manhattan Engineer District," which was the wartime front for the mammoth effort of making the first atomic bomb, is set up, rapid progress will be made in the effort to adapt the atom to industrial pursuits.

Mr. Lebaron's guess was that if the problem is tackled at an accelerated pace amazing results will be apparent within a span of five years instead of in a decade. What the nation needs, he said, in addition to money and government backing, is the "unique devotion" which successfully culminated in the first harnessing and control of atomic power.

Of course this "unique devotion" takes in much territory and many people. Industry generally is quite willing to share in the development for obvious reasons. Here is the promise of a new and almost limitless source of power, and those who gain depth of experience in its applications to peacetime pursuits will have a long lead when atomic energy comes out of the public domain.

There is a compelling basic reason for giving serious heed to Mr. Lebaron's advice. Russia, it is no secret, is diverting more and more of its fissionable output to power projects. The time may come when an atomic plowshare will be a potent argument in a world which must make a choice between freedom and communism.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Orloff v. Willoughby

In all the discussion of the Peress case little has been made of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case, Orloff v. Willoughby, in which the court held that the granting of a commission to a doctor was entirely within the discretion of the President of the United States and those acting under his authority.

The case was decided on March 9, 1953, and could have been a guide to the Army in the matter of Major Irving Peress, over the disposition of which the McCarthy-Stevens hearings are being held.

Stanley J. Orloff is a physician who was lawfully inducted into the Army under the doctor-dentist draft. Orloff was not given the specialized duties nor the commissioned rank to which he claimed to be entitled. Orloff, like Peress, was put into the Army under the Universal Military Training and Service Act which authorizes the conscription of certain medical and allied specialist categories. Orloff made the point that he could only be inducted as a doctor and that if the Army did not choose to use him as such, he ought to be released from any military duty. He swore out a writ of habeas corpus against Col. Rex E. Willoughby, commandant of Fort Lawton, Seattle, Wash.

The court stated, in a decision written by Justice Robert Jackson:

". . . This petitioner refused information as to his membership in or association with organizations designated by the attorney general as subversive or which advocated overthrow of the government by force and violence. He gave as his reason that 'as a matter of conscience, I object to filling out the loyalty certificate because it involves an inquisition into my personal beliefs and views. Moreover, the inquiry into organizational affiliations employs the principle of guilt by association, to which I am vigorously opposed. Further, it is my understanding that all the organizations were listed by the attorney general without notice or hearing which has caused the Supreme Court to invalidate it.' "

This is exactly the same situation as the Peress case, but it was handled differently. I quote further from the decision of the court:

". . . As to the question 'Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist party, U. S. A. or any Communist organization?' He (Orloff) said, 'Federal constitutional privilege is claimed.' "

Further the court said:

"The petitioner appears to be under the misconception that a commission is not only a matter of right, but is to be had upon his own terms."

The Army had the Orloff v. Willoughby decision before it when the Peress case arose and became an issue between the Army and the McCarthy Committee. The Army could have used the decision in Orloff v. Willoughby in the Peress case and there would have been no controversy, because the attitudes of Orloff and Peress toward loyalty questions were identical. The court said:

". . . But, if he is the first to be denied a commission, it may also be that he is the first doctor to haggle about questions concerning his loyalty. . ."

The Supreme Court held that it was not its view that Orloff himself could decide upon his own fitness. It held:

"It is argued that Orloff is being punished for having claimed a privilege which the Constitution guarantees. No one, at least no one on this court which has repeatedly sustained assertion by Communists of the privilege against self-incrimination, questions or doubts Orloff's right to withhold facts about himself on this ground. No one believes he can be punished for doing so. But the question is whether he can at the same time take the position that to tell the truth about himself would incriminate him and that even so the President must appoint him to a post of honor and trust. We have no hesitation in answering that question 'No.' "

I have quoted enough from this decision to indicate its applicability to the Peress case. Why was it not applied? Why was he promoted from captain to major and given an honorable discharge and the entire country thrown into the turmoil of the McCarthy-Stevens hearings? If the entire question is not political, why was not this decision applied rather than to have the current fracas? An explanation is needed.

A Backyard Cleanup Is Long Overdue

Conquering Lion Of Judah Is Greeted By Cheering Crowds In Washington

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Thoughts On Welcoming The Lion Of Judah—Washington is a blase city . . . . It takes a lot to make people get out on the street corners and cheer. Visiting princes and potentates have toured the length of Constitution Avenue from Queen Marie of Romania in Hoover's day to the president of Turkey in Ike's day. The clerks and cliff-dwellers of the nation's capital remain unenthused and unimpressed . . . . But they turned out for a dusky, stately little man from Africa the other day . . . . I suppose one reason was basic sympathy of the American people for the underdog. They knew this little emperor had undergone the most ruthless invasion of any preceding World II, while the civilized world stood by, wringing its hands, but doing nothing . . . . So last week the Conquering Lion of Judah, the elect of God, rode down Constitution Avenue while blase Washington turned out and cheered.

Conquered By A Soiree—The altitude of Addis Ababa, where Emperor Haile Selassie lives, is about 8,000 feet. The altitude of Washington is about 35 feet. And at the sultry gala reception given by the Ethiopian ambassador, the emperor became slightly faint. He sat down, guests were asked to excuse him . . . . He had taken a lot of punishment in his 61 years, from Mussolini's Black Shirts to civil war with his uncle. But a Washington social soiree was a little more than he could stand . . . . I don't go to many of these brawls but I did this one . . . . Sampling the emperor's food — from beef stew to chop suey—my memory went back to the first plenipotentiary we sent to Ethiopia, Addison E. Southard, who, when presenting his credentials, was required to ride a mule decked out in red Moroccan trimmings. The automobile was taboo in those days . . . . Then there was the emperor's coronation, when gifts poured in from princes and presidents. The king of England sent a one-ton coronation cake. The president of France sent an airplane. But Herbert Hoover, then president, sent a photo of himself.

They Knew Selassie—Two men were at the reception with poignant memories of Haile Selassie—Arthur Sweetzer of the United Nations and Edgar Mowrer, the International News expert. In Geneva they had watched Haile Selassie make his historic plea to the League of Nations, a plea to help a little, unarmed nation resist the armed fist of a Roman dictator. They had watched the forlorn figure as his impassioned words fell on deaf ears, had watched him walk into the wings of that crumbling arena for peace . . . . And last week they watched him ride triumphant through Washington. . . . So there must be an Almighty who rights the wrongs of the downtrodden even among nations.

Little McCarthy Quiz — Wonder what the Rockefeller family now thinks of the Republican congressmen who inspire testimony that their foundation is the next thing to communism? . . . . The Rockefellers contributed a neat $84,000 in 1952 to elect a Republican administration. Today Congressman Carroll Reece of Tennessee and other Republicans have permitted testimony which makes the Rockefeller Foundation's great work in stemming typhoid, bubonic plague, disease all over the world, look as if it was dictated from Moscow. . . . The Fords also shelled out heavily for the GOP. Ford dealers all over the country were asked to pony up for the Grand Old Party in 1952. Last week GOP congressmen permitted testimony indicating that the Ford Foundation is akin to communism . . . . Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, two business buccaneers who were criticized for a lot of things, but never for being communistic, must be turning over in their graves!

Dr. Bunche's Loyalty—The loyalty of Dr. Ralph Bunche, the distinguished Negro diplomat, nearly gave the Republican high command heebee-jeebies. They figured they would lose the Negro vote, which—as a result of the Supreme Court's decision plus Senator Maybank's slap at nonsegregated public housing—seems leaning a bit toward the GOP . . . . Actually Dr. Bunche's loyalty investigation has been under way for about two months. It was kept so hush-hush that for a time not even he knew about it . . . . However, Dag Hammarskjold, secretary of the United Nations, did know, and was so furious at the Eisenhower administration he purposely promoted Bunche to be undersecretary of the U. N. . . . He had great confidence in Bunch as do everyone who has even known him . . . . It was to offset political repercussions of the Bunche probe that the White House carefully made it known that he was invited to the official dinner for Haile Selassie. . . . Sometimes it pays to be a member of a minority group. When Dr. Philip Jessup of Columbia was appointed delegate to the U. N., Senate Republicans refused to confirm him because he had belonged to one subversive group many years ago, even though he had an O.K. from his boss, President Eisenhower of Columbia . . . . But Channing Tobias, Negro leader who belonged to nine organizations listed by the Un-American Activities Committee as subversive, was confirmed as a U. N. delegate like a breeze. Republican senators, afraid of a well-organized minority group vote, were afraid to oppose him . . . . Today Dr. Oppenheimer's loyalty probe is still continuing. Dr. Bunche's has been terminated.

H-Bombs And Diplomats — The Army has two witnesses who will testify in rebuttal that Pvt. Schine spent much of his weekend time in night clubs when he was supposed to be working for the McCarthy Committee . . . . Adlai Stevenson couldn't get his youngest son into Princeton, but Princeton will give Adlai an honorary degree. He'll also pick two up from Columbia and Vassar . . . . Harry Truman will also come East—not for degrees but for the Shrine convention in Atlantic City.

Defection Of Secret Agents Is Serious Blow To Reds

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Two more Soviet secret agents of the highest rank have recently defected, and are now telling their stories to the American intelligence authorities.

The names and identities of the new defectors have quite properly not been revealed. It is known, however, that they were key figures in the Kremlin's espionage net in Europe. They are said to have worked in two of the great centers of European espionage, Vienna and Berlin; but this has not been confirmed.

The meaning of the news is far greater than may appear on the surface. There is much more to these defections than mere spy drama, with mingled overtones of E. Phillips Oppenheim and George Orwell.

To grasp the meaning, consider how Washington would react if half a dozen officials of the Central Intelligence Agency, including at least three in top positions, should suddenly defect to the Soviets. It would then have to be assumed that the whole American intelligence system had been compromised, and that many vital American secrets had fallen into Soviet hands.

The new defections, added to those which are already known, make just that kind of picture. The two men, whose whereabouts are a closely guarded secret, are understood to have occupied posts at least equal, and probably superior to that of Yuri Rastovorov. Rastovorov, who led the parade in Japan, was second secretary in the Soviet embassy in Tokyo for public purposes. It can now be stated, however, that he had Tokyo ministerial rank in the Soviet intelligence service.

The other known defectors are the somewhat lower ranking Australian pair, Vladmir Petrov and his wife Petrova, and the much publicized but relatively unimportant Nikolai Kohlkov, who is now in this country. Besides these, it is further reported that a number of other small fry of the Soviet intelligence have recently come over without attracting public attention.

Connected With Beria

With two defectors from key posts in the European net, and with Rastovorov from Japan and the Petrov couple from Australia, the free world now has in its hands a representative sample from the two critical areas, Europe and the Far East. It is not too much to say that the Soviet system is thoroughly compromised. Thus the Soviets will have to reconstruct it from the ground up.

The reason for this sudden rash of defectors among the secret agents, who are the most carefully tested of all Soviet officials, is not very difficult to find. Lavrenti Beria has fallen. The MVD was Beria's apparatus. And the fall of Beria has therefore sent a thrill of terror, a fearful spasm of doubt and apprehension, through the ranks of the MVD.

The suspicion directed at all Beria-linked officials, the even greater suspicion aroused by the recent defections, must surely have caused the Kremlin to lose faith in the MVD intelligence system everywhere in the world.

It is well to remember, however, that the first defector, Igor Gouzenko, revealed to the Canadian authorities that no less than three, and perhaps as many as five, different Soviet intelligence systems were all in business in Canada. The main net may be broken, but the subsidiary nets, not connected with Beria and indeed competitive with the MVD are no doubt still in working order.

The case of Yuri Rastovorov explains why the names and identities of the two new European defectors are being so closely guarded. Rastovorov originally intended to give himself up to the British Secret Intelligence Service. He had made the necessary contact with the SIS. He was even ready to board a British plane for London, when he changed his mind at the last moment.

After this disappointment of the SIS, contact was established between Rastovorov and Central Intelligence Agency representatives in Tokyo. Curiously enough, the tennis courts—for he was an enthusiastic player, and played often with the Americans and British—formed the needed bridge.

Serious Setback To Russia

When Rastovorov intimated his desire to defect to CIA representatives, he was in great agony of mind. He insisted, particularly, that the fact of his defection must never be published or admitted. That way, he said, members of his family and his friends in Russia would be far less likely to suffer. In the end, before taking his final decision to come over, he exacted an iron-clad promise of secrecy.

The promise even included a commitment to deny Rastovorov's defection to the Soviets, if they ever inquired officially about him. On this basis, Rastovorov finally came over. The fact may well be denied: but it is undoubted that the story was then leaked, complete with name, by Army G-2 in Tokyo. No doubt G-2 had been hankering for a little publicity since the dear, dead days of Gen. MacArthur, when the CIA was all but forbidden to operate in the MacArthur theater.

There are other curious facts about these defections. In the case of Kohlkov, for example, the man's story was at first not believed. On the one hand, his claim to be under orders as an assassin, sounded a bit high-colored. On the other hand, his plea to the CIA, to exact his wife and child from the very heart of the Soviet Union, sounded more than suspicious.

Before his bona fides were accepted, Kohlkov was subjected to the most ruthless grilling, of the ugly, scientific kind that is customary among intelligence agencies in this (Orwellian) world. He passed all tests, however. And so his firm convictions that the CIA could snatch his family from the heart of Russia, has now been taken as an indication of the fear of this country in the ranks of the Soviet intelligence system.

Overall, the significance of the pattern of Soviet defections can hardly be exaggerated. The setback to the Soviet Union has certainly been very serious. In achieving this setback for the enemy, the American intelligence service has done admirable work. But most of the credit must go to the Soviet system which, Meloch-like, consumes its own; in which the spies are those most spied upon, and those most feared have most to fear.

Pearl Harbor has become a great tourist attraction. Fourteenth Naval District "guides," under the command of Lt. Comdr. Jay Smith, public information officer, do a fine job of showing folks around. The spiel is a combination history lesson and military briefing. In it the tourist learns such things as:

As late as a day and a half after the U.S.S. Oklahoma had turned upside down, survivors were pulled through holes burned in her keel... Only 38 of the 450 American planes in the area got off the ground during the two-hour raid. All 450 were destroyed or damaged... The flag over the sunken Arizona is not at half-mast because the Navy sentimentally regards her as still commissioned.

The battleships caught in the attack averaged 21 years old. Only two of the eight had radar. . . The Jap task force was made up of 33 ships. All reached the homeland, but 32 of the 33 were eventually sunk. . . We shot down 29 of the 353 Jap planes used . . . The Navy counterpunched quicker than most people think: a sub sank a Jap freighter December 11, 1941. . . If the Navy ever pulled out of Hawaii the place could hardly afford to be a state. The 1953 total income of the islands was $600 million. The Navy alone chipped in better than $200 million.

Identification Of Insects Sometimes Aids Diagnosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

From time to time strange items are sent to scientific laboratories for identification. Some of our readers also mail us dead worms or bugs; imagine the squeals that come from the secretaries when they open a letter or box and out pop such specimens.

William Headlee, Ph.D., was working in his parasitology laboratory at the University of Indiana, when he was summoned to the office of the state toxicologist, who introduced the manager of an industrial cafeteria and an officer of the state police.

On the table were three bologna sandwiches, two bites having been removed from one. An industrial plant worker had been eating the sandwich when he noted some white material on the meat. The war was in progress at the time and sabotage was suspected. Was the material arsenic? Tests showed none of the characteristics of arsenic or any other chemical but when a small portion wa placed under the microscope, the material looked like insect eggs. The sandwiches were placed in an incubator to hatch the eggs and a few days later, wormlike maggots appeared. They turned out to be larvae of the green bottle fly.

Professor Headlee also wrote about an experience with a student who brought him an insect for identification. It was a bedbug. For several weeks the young man had been suffering from dermatitis on the arms that was thought to be of allergic origin but the young man wondered if the rash might be related to the bedbug. Headlee learned that evenings, the student sat in a wicker chair he had bought from a local used furniture dealer. It was infested, and as soon as the chair was burned the eruption disappeared.

The parents of two little girls who were thought to be suffering from chicken pox came to the laboratory with an insect that had been found on the scalp of one of the children. It was recognized immediately as a flea. Investigation showed where the fleas were coming from. The family lived in an upstairs apartment and a den of squirrels was found in the attic. The rodent borne fleas rather than chicken pox were the cause of the eruption.

An epidemic of grain or straw itch in 1950, also was studied in the Headlee laboratory. This skin condition is caused by a mite that lives on the larvae of grain moths, or joint worms which in turn are harbored in the stems of weeds or other plants. Infestation is noted most frequently among workers who handle contaminated straw. The epidemic was traced to the straw used at the Indiana State Fairgrounds and estimates showed that 1,700 cases of grain itch dermatitis developed from this single source.

TOMORROW: Cortisone in shingles.

LUMPY VEINS

E. R. M. writes: After walking a while, a varicose vein in my leg knots up and I have to rest until the lump goes down. Have you any suggestions for relief?

REPLY

As soon as the varicosed veins are eliminated, your problem will be solved.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some bright advertising lads in the Madison Avenue sector have invented a new method of torturing people on the telephone. At a very late hour, one will call a number culled at random from the directory and inquire sweely, "Is this Mr. Oberender?" "It is," says Oberender. "Is Clarence there?" "Clarence? There's nobody here named Clarence." "Whoops—sorry." Then he hangs up.

At ten-minute intervals, three or four other geniuses go through the same routine. By this time, Oberender is fit to be tied. The last joker completes the torture. When he gets Oberender on the phone, he booms, "Hi there, Oberender! This is Clarence. Any messages?"

Dorothy Stickney (famed "Mother" in "Life With Father") tells about the Cockney mother in London who regarded her snivelling

10-year-old daughter with considerable disgust and commented, "I've 'ad her vaccinated and I've 'ad her tonsils out, but nothing seems to please her!"

Zadok Dumkopf says it's difficult to teach a woman how to drive properly — whether it's automobiles, nails or golf balls.

At London's Royal Academy exhibition a painting, "Peony and Bees" by Chinese artist Cheng Wu-fei, was accidentally hung upside down and no one noticed it. Maybe in China bees look like winged peonies.

Grandpappy Jenkins opines we sure are a funny race—as soon as a suburbanite gets into the bluer chips he has his home air-conditioned—and then spends the summer in his garden or on the golf course.

It's a mighty good thing Wild Bill Hickcock and Deadwood Dick can't read this — one of the candidates for sheriff of Cheyenne, Wyo., is a 35-year-old housewife.

HELPS PEOPLE PAY THEIR BILLS

GLENN DUNNING

Many people here have discovered a new, happy way to get rid of old bills and high monthly payments.

They use the "Bill-Payer" Plan offered by Aetna Finance Co. Bills get paid immediately, with just one payment at one place each month.

"I'm here to help folks who need cash or want to get rid of money worries. Amounts from $50 to $1000 may be obtained on signature only. (Loans over $300. made under Md. Industrial Finance Act.) One visit does it. And everybody likes our friendly, courteous and rapid way of doing business," said the Aetna manager.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The wonderfully dramatic story of Eddy Duchin, famous pianist, has been bought by Dore Schary from Eddy's estate. There was bidding from all the studios, and this plum, with original treatment by Leo Katcher, goes to MGM.

Edmund Purdom, who has the same dark good looks that Eddy had, will be starred.

Duchin, who died of leukemia, lost his beautiful first wife, socialite Marjorie Oelrichs, in childbirth. I remember so well when he used to bring Peter, his little boy, out here when the child was so delicate. Now Peter, a husky captain of his football team, lives with his stepmother, a charming woman.

One reason Bill Wellman's direction of "The High and the Mighty" is so good is because Bill, himself, flew with the Lafayette Escadrille in World War I.

"Wings" was the first big air picture, and Bill directed that. Now he is very eager to put the story of the Lafayette Escadrille on the screen, and he has obtained legal release from three of the most prominent flyers of that group and their families.

At the premiere of "The High and the Mighty," it was hard to tell whether cute little Mrs. Wellman was producer of her husband or her young son who was so good in the picture as the child traveling alone on the plane.

Things are happening fast for Frankie Laine. He's all set to do a musical revue in Germany this fall for the Schaeffers-Pinelli Film Company. Yvonne De Carlo has been offered the femme lead and it's to be quite a production.

Germany is reviving the days when UFA made some of the best pictures turned out, and the film studios are getting help from the United States through Eric Pommer, who was one of the greatest pre-war film producers.

While Frankie is in Europe he will play a return date at the London Palladium.

One of my favorite comediennes, Imogene Coca, will not be coming to California after all. She has rented Gayelord Hauser's house in New York and will do her TV show from there.

Her new show will not be "Midge," as has been reported, but a live half hour program emanating out of New York over NBC.

I hope this does not mean that Imogene will not be in Rosalind Russell's picture, "Girl Rush." Roz wants her so much, too.

It always happens, and I knew it would with Anna Maria Alberghetti. Three well known Hollywood producers saw her act at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas and offered her a picture.

Someone said if Anna Maria ever wanted to leave acting she could open a spaghetti restaurant in Las Vegas. Every night after the show at the Sahara she cooked spaghetti and Bill Miller offered to back her and her mother if they wanted to open a restaurant.

Well, there's already one awfully good spaghetti parlor in Las Vegas called Rocco's, where the raviolis would win a prize.

Glamorous Rossana Podesta, starring in "Helen of Troy" in Rome, won't come to Hollywood immediately after the picture. She'll take her face "which launched 1000 ships" first to Mexico where she's commited for two films — one with her Italian husband, Marco Vicario.

Warner Brothers probably will be a little fretful over the Mexican detour. When an actress is given as important a role as Rossana has in "Helen," the producers hope to capitalize on her as soon as possible.

One of Podesta's scenes in "Helen" was shown at "The High and the Mighty" premiere and it received much favorable comment.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

At the Valley Tail O' the Cock, Ann Sheridan with Rudolph Acosta, who is still here from Mexico visiting her. He's crazy about our Annie.

Clifton Webb, who has been to Europe 40 times, but never to Spain, has canceled his plans to go there this summer. He wants to remain with Maybelle who prefers her own home.

The first gift to arrive for Dinah Shore and George Montgomery's newly adopted son is a tiny fringed buckskin suit from George's dad in Montana. But it will be quite awhile before John David is big enough to wear it.

Great rejoicing at 20th! The good business "Three Coins in the Fountain" is doing at the New York Roxy Theater brought a wire of congratulations from the manager.

Several of the film companies have put in a bid for the life story of Martin Block, the original disc jockey.

Robert Taylor and Ursula Thiess have been promised a wonderful Christmas present. Their new house will be ready by December 25.

Now I've heard everything! Norman Taurog sent Spike Jones a live kangaroo wearing black boxing gloves, and Spike plans to use the animal in his TV show. But while he's away on tour, he'll park Mr. Kangaroo in the local zoo.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Acquire an attractive tan by protecting your skin against burn with a cream, lotion or oil.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Like a snapshot, you'll be less than perfect if under-exposed—or over-exposed—to the light of the summer sunshine.

The sun's rays are a beautifying agent, a stimulant improving both the texture and the quality of your skin. Under-exposure will leave you pale and lacking in vitality. Over-exposure will give you an unbecomingly broiled look and, in time, will parch the skin or make it coarse. Moderation is the wisest course, whether you're a blonde, brunette or redhead.

Since you're a big girl now, you know how much sunshine you can take. You avoid the sun at noonday when its ultraviolet rays are most intense. If you're a blonde or have titian tresses, you realize that you burn easily, so you're extra-careful about the length of time you spend in the sun.

For Protection

Depending upon your tendency to burn, use a cream, lotion or oil that will give you complete protection, or a tan without a burn. Creams are usually best for those who burn easily, while oils help those with less sensitive skins to acquire an even tan. Find out which works best for you and apply it frequently. Always re-apply the protective coat when you emerge from a dip.

To accustom your skin to outdoor exposure, you may want to start with a sunlamp, indoors. Dermatologists recommend 10 to 15 minutes for your first exposure to ultraviolet rays, and theirs is an extremely intelligent rule to observe. Limit yourself faithfully, with an alarm to keep you from dozing under the lamp.

If your sunbathing is done in prone positions on the beach, turn over frequently to avoid a splotchy tan. Wear your sunglasses, as they are important protection for your eyes. If you remove your glasses, cover the eyelids with cotton balls soaked in witch hazel. Even better than the spitlike turning from back to tummy, is an actively acquired tan that accumulates as you play catch or volleyball on the beach.

For Hair and Skin

Protect your hair from the sun's strong rays, too. Over-exposure tends to bleach, or dry out your hair. Wear a bathing cap when swimming, a pert hat or pretty scarf when you're sunning.

If you are so sensitive to sun that your skin immediately blotches when exposed, just don't take chances. A healthy tan is a lovely asset, but not everyone can acquire one. If you are one who cannot, then concentrate on making the most of other beauty potentials.

Last Four Convicted In Morals Case Freed

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP)—Probation was ordered today for four young Baltimore men, the last of 15 jailed for morals charges involving two young girls, 11 and 13 years-old.

When they were sentenced, Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith told them good reformatory behavior would reduce their two-year sentences to 60 days confinement with the remainder on parole.

The last four to be released were George H. Baccala, 24; Philip A. Sudano, 22, and his 18-year-old cousin, Michael George Sudano, and Armand Corridi, 23.

Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 21-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor, was found innocent in the case and also was acquitted of perjury charges brought in connection with his testimony at the morals trial.

Louisiana now produces enough oil every 10 days to pay for the Louisiana Purchase.

Southern Tops Northern, 5-0, Concludes Unbeaten Season

Oakland Team Posts Seventh Straight Win

Howard Sweitzer Hurls 2-Hitter; Toby Colaw Belts 2nd Home Run

OAKLAND, Md., June 1—Southern High School's Highlanders concluded their baseball campaign with a 7-0 record by defeating their Garrett county rival, Northern High School, here today by the score of 5-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Howard Sweitzer.

The win gave Southern a sweep of the series, having copped the first game by the score of 4-3. The locals also won series from Keyser and Parsons and defeated Thomas in a single game, 1-0.

In posting his fourth straight win, Sweitzer fanned four and issued one base on balls. One of the two hits he yielded was a two-bagger by Baker.

Sweitzer collected two of Southern's six hits. Toby Colaw belted his second homer of the season and Bob Glaze rapped a triple.

Leonard Ritchie coached Southern's undefeated nine.

Speedway Payoff Is Record $269,375

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1 (AP) — Driver Bill Vukovich, owner Howard Keck and their crew picked up $74,934.84 tonight for winning the fastest 500-mile race in the history of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The total speedway payoff was $269,375, the biggest in history, but Vukovich's total purse was substantially less than the $89,496.96 he took away last year. The main difference was in lap prizes. Last year he led 195 laps at $150 each, and this year only 90.

Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., got $35,884.84 for second, and Jack McGrath of South Pasadena, Cal. took $26,909.84 for third.

Athletics Rout Red Sox, Zernial Hits Two Homers

Gus Belts Home Six Runs In 16-6 Game

BOSTON, June 1 (AP) — Big Gus Zernial powered a 23-hit Philadelphia attack with his 10th and 11th homers of the year and batted in six runs today as the Athletics trounced the Boston Red Sox 16-6. Negro righthander Bob Trice, who came up to the A's from Ottawa late last season, batted in three runs with a homer and double as he posted his fifth triumph in eight decisions.

Trice, a 6-3, 190-pounder, ran his season's record against the Red Sox to 2-0 but tired after pitching six scoreless innings and was nicked for three runs in the seventh and Sammy White's three-run homer in the eighth.

Zernial banged his 10th round-tripper off starter Truman Clevenger in the first inning after Spook Jacobs singled and Elmer Valo doubled.

Big Gus drew a bases-filled walk in the second inning for another RBI, singled home a tally in the fifth and slammed his 11th homer off Lefty Bill Werle in the ninth.

Zernial thus pulled within two homers of Cleveland's Al Rosen, the 1953 American League home run derby winner, who has 13. A year ago Rosen banged 43 round-trippers to Zernial's 42.

Playing manager Eddie Joost who inserted himself into the lineup at shortstop in an effort to spark his sluggish ball club—had a great day as he socked his first homer of the season and had three hits in four trips. Joost, whose A's suffered one-sided 20-10 and 9-0 defeats by Boston yesterday, retired from the game after his sixth inning round-tripper.

Speedway Payoff Is Record $269,375

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1 (AP) — Driver Bill Vukovich, owner Howard Keck and their crew picked up $74,934.84 tonight for winning the fastest 500-mile race in the history of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The total speedway payoff was $269,375, the biggest in history, but Vukovich's total purse was substantially less than the $89,496.96 he took away last year. The main difference was in lap prizes. Last year he led 195 laps at $150 each, and this year only 90.

Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., got $35,884.84 for second, and Jack McGrath of South Pasadena, Cal. took $26,909.84 for third.

33,868 See Dodgers Win

MILWAUKEE, June 1 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers moved into a virtual tie for first place in the tight National League pennant race tonight on their fourth straight victory, a 2-0 six-hitter by Russ Meyer over the Milwaukee Braves before a 33,868 crowd at County Stadium.

Athletics Rout Red Sox, Zernial Hits Two Homers

Gus Belts Home Six Runs In 16-6 Game

BOSTON, June 1 (AP) — Big Gus Zernial powered a 23-hit Philadelphia attack with his 10th and 11th homers of the year and batted in six runs today as the Athletics trounced the Boston Red Sox 16-6. Negro righthander Bob Trice, who came up to the A's from Ottawa late last season, batted in three runs with a homer and double as he posted his fifth triumph in eight decisions.

Trice, a 6-3, 190-pounder, ran his season's record against the Red Sox to 2-0 but tired after pitching six scoreless innings and was nicked for three runs in the seventh and Sammy White's three-run homer in the eighth.

Zernial banged his 10th round-tripper off starter Truman Clevenger in the first inning after Spook Jacobs singled and Elmer Valo doubled.

Big Gus drew a bases-filled walk in the second inning for another RBI, singled home a tally in the fifth and slammed his 11th homer off Lefty Bill Werle in the ninth.

Zernial thus pulled within two homers of Cleveland's Al Rosen, the 1953 American League home run derby winner, who has 13. A year ago Rosen banged 43 round-trippers to Zernial's 42.

Playing manager Eddie Joost—who inserted himself into the lineup at shortstop in an effort to spark his sluggish ball club—had a great day as he socked his first homer of the season and had three hits in four trips. Joost, whose A's suffered one-sided 20-10 and 9-0 defeats by Boston yesterday, retired from the game after his sixth inning round-tripper.

The other game washed out yesterday was Flintstone at Allegany.

Barton Is Winner Over Ridgeley, 3-2, In Pony League

BARTON, June 1—Barton nosed out Ridgeley by the score of 3-2 in a Bi-State Pony Baseball League game here Memorial Day, with George Lauder gaining the decision over Harness and Bill Scott in a pitching duel.

Lauder fanned five batsmen in succession, had a total of nine for the game and only two Ridgeley players got on base after the second inning, one on a base on balls and the other on an error.

Dave Warnick's double with the bases loaded in the fifth inning scored the tying and winning runs. Russell's single produced Barton's initial run in the third frame.

Bob Scott banged a triple and Chaney rapped a two-bagger for Ridgeley.

Longden To Ride Blue Sail Today In Epsom Derby

Wins On Bird Song In Durdans Stakes

EPSOM, England, June 1 (AP)—Johnny Longden polished off practice for tomorrow's Epsom Derby with a winning ride today in a tuneup race, proving the rolling Derby course and Tattenham Corner are no puzzles for the cocky American.

Longden, 45-year-old Yorkshireman turned American, brought Bird Song home in front today in the minor Durdans Stakes. The Durdans covered a mile and a quarter of the mile and a half Derby course.

His mount in the 175th Epsom Derby tomorrow will be the Irish-bred and trained Blue Sail, a 20-1 shot. The entry is owned by Max Bell and Frank McMahon of Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

The last time an American rode a Derby winner was 1912 when Johnny Reiff brought in Tagalie. Since then the uphill, downhill, "U" shaped Epsom classic course with its tightly banked Tattenham Corner has been too strange and difficult for several American jockeys.

A field of 22 is expected to open the derby which is Britain's greatest race. Two of the entries are American owned—Never Say Die and Blue Prince II.

In recent odds call-overs neither was considered a serious threat to win. Never Say Die, owned by Robert Sterling Clark of Upperville, Va., has ranged around the 33-1 bracket, and Blue Prince II, owned by W. M. Jeffords of New York, has ranged around 40-1.

Joe Page Is Given Unconditional Release

PITTSBURGH, June 1 (AP)—Veteran lefthander Joe Page today was given his unconditional release by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Page, 36-year-old former ace Yankee relief pitcher, was put on the waiver list last Friday. None of the 15 other major league clubs claimed him.

Page, who comes from Springdale, Pa., attempted a comeback this year. He reported to the Bucs' spring training camp for a tryout and was signed by the Pirates.

He pitched in seven games this season, winning none and losing none giving up 16 hits in 9 2-3 innings.

Grim And Bauer Star As Yankees Down Nats, 9-3

Rookie Bags 5th Win, Hank Bats In 4 Runs

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — Hank Bauer drove in four runs with a home run and single and rookie righthander Bob Grim turned in his fifth victory as the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators 9-3 today.

Grim permitted six hits, none after the fourth inning as he retired the last 10 batters he faced. Only three Senators reached base after the fourth, all on walks. Grim handed out four free passes in all but helped his own cause by starting two double plays.

The Yankees accumulated only 10 hits off four Washington pitchers but made them count. Seven bases on balls also helped considerably. Bauer had a perfect day at the plate, drawing three walks in addition to his single and fourth homer of the year. The homer came in the second following a single by Gil McDougald and a walk to Mickey Mantle.

It was quite a day for Grim, who made the big jump to the Yankees from the Binghamton club of the Class A Eastern League. In addition to his mound performance, the young service returnee starred at bat and in the field. He singled in the fifth to score two mates and he handled five chances flawlessly, two of them leading to inning ending double plays.

Cockell Captures Decision Over Matthews In London

Briton Beats Seattle Fighter Second Time For 9th Win In Row

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—Britain's Don Cockell switched from a body to a head attack midway of the 10-round fight to outpoint Harry Matthews of Seattle, Wash. tonight.

Cockell, who weighed 210½ to Matthews' 180½ pounds, kept alive his hopes for a possible shot at the heavyweight title this fall. It was the Briton's second victory over the American and his ninth straight success since being knocked out by Randy Turpin June 10, 1952, in a British empire light heavyweight title scrap.

The Briton won a split decision over Matthews last Aug. 7 in Seattle after flooring the American three times in the ninth round.

At the half way point, Cockell became the aggressor and began using his bulk. He threw rights which reddened the Seattle boxer's body and then back-danced out of range making Matthews miss with returning rights.

Two Cockell right-crosses slowed the American but the British champion, gunning for a shot at world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in September, was not good enough to follow up the advantage.

Late in the fight, Cockell, bleeding from a puffed eye and a battered nose, looked in worse shape than the American. It appeared to the crowd of 35,000 that Matthews might come out ahead.

At least three of Cockell's blows appeared to be low. Two were right hand punches delivered by the one-time blacksmith while the referee was standing to the left of him.

The Associated Press scorecard had Cockell the winner five rounds to four with one even.

Purse distribution was unofficially estimated at some less than $25,000 dollars per man.

On the same card Gordon Hazell of England scored an upset 10-round decision over Tiberio Mitri, Italy's recently crowned European middleweight champion, in a non-title bout. Each man weighed 162.

Orioles, Tribe Trade Players

Vic Wertz Swapped For Bob Chakales

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today traded outfielder Vic Wertz for pitcher Bob Chakales in an even swap with the Cleveland Indians.

Art Ehlers, general manager of the Orioles, said Chakales will join the team in Philadelphia tomorrow. Wertz leaves immediately to join the Indians in New York.

The 27-year-old Chakales comes from Richmond, Va. and played for Indianapolis of the American Association before joining Cleveland last year. He throws and bats right handed.

His record so far this year was two wins and no losses for Cleveland. He allowed four hits and only one earned run in 10 1-3 innings of relief pitching.

Wertz played in 29 games for the Orioles, garnering five runs and 19 hits in his 94 times at bat. The 29-year-old outfielder hit one homer and a double, and was batting .202.

Chakales, a six-foot, 180-pound hurler, born in Asheville, N. C. had an 0-2 record with the Indians last year and won four games for Indianapolis.

Emil Zatopek Sets Two More Records

BRUSSELS, June 1 (AP)—Incredible Emil Zatopek smashed his own world distance running records for six miles and 10,000 meters tonight. He broke the world 5,000 meter record Sunday.

His 10,000 meter time of 28 minutes 54.2 seconds was 7.4 seconds under the old mark but the grimacing Czech shook his head sadly and declared:

"It is possible to do better."

His time for six miles was 27.59.2. The previous record was 28:08.4.

Carter Is Favorite

ST. LOUIS, June 1 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and Charley Riley did their best today to work up some excitement among the local fight gentry over their scheduled 10 round bout here tomorrow night.

Their televised 135-pound limit fight (CBS 9 p.m., EST) had engendered little advanced ballyhoo beyond the fact that Carter was a heavy favorite.

Longden To Ride Blue Sail Today In Epsom Derby

Wins On Bird Song In Durdans Stakes

EPSOM, England, June 1 (AP)—Johnny Longden polished off practice for tomorrow's Epsom Derby with a winning ride today in a tuneup race, proving the rolling Derby course and Tattenham Corner are no puzzles for the cocky American.

Longden, 45-year-old Yorkshireman turned American, brought Bird Song home in front today in the minor Durdans Stakes. The Durdans covered a mile and a quarter of the mile and a half Derby course.

His mount in the 175th Epsom Derby tomorrow will be the Irish-bred and trained Blue Sail, a 20-1 shot. The entry is owned by Max Bell and Frank McMahon of Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

The last time an American rode a Derby winner was 1912 when Johnny Reiff brought in Tagalie. Since then the uphill, downhill, "U" shaped Epsom classic course with its tightly banked Tattenham Corner has been too strange and difficult for several American jockeys.

A field of 22 is expected to open the derby which is Britain's greatest race. Two of the entries are American owned—Never Say Die and Blue Prince II.

In recent odds call-overs neither was considered a serious threat to win. Never Say Die, owned by Robert Sterling Clark of Upperville, Va., has ranged around the 33-1 bracket, and Blue Prince II, owned by W. M. Jeffords of New York, has ranged around 40-1.

Joe Page Is Given Unconditional Release

PITTSBURGH, June 1 (AP)—Veteran lefthander Joe Page today was given his unconditional release by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Page, 36-year-old former ace Yankee relief pitcher, was put on the waiver list last Friday. None of the 15 other major league clubs claimed him.

Page, who comes from Springdale, Pa., attempted a comeback this year. He reported to the Bucs' spring training camp for a tryout and was signed by the Pirates.

He pitched in seven games this season, winning none and losing none giving up 16 hits in 9 2-3 innings.

Grim And Bauer Star As Yankees Down Nats, 9-3

Rookie Bags 5th Win, Hank Bats In 4 Runs

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — Hank Bauer drove in four runs with a home run and single and rookie righthander Bob Grim turned in his fifth victory as the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators 9-3 today.

Grim permitted six hits, none after the fourth inning as he retired the last 10 batters he faced. Only three Senators reached base after the fourth, all on walks. Grim handed out four free passes in all but helped his own cause by starting two double plays.

The Yankees accumulated only 10 hits off four Washington pitchers but made them count. Seven bases on balls also helped considerably. Bauer had a perfect day at the plate, drawing three walks in addition to his single and fourth homer of the year. The homer came in the second following a single by Gil McDougald and a walk to Mickey Mantle.

It was quite a day for Grim, who made the big jump to the Yankees from the Binghamton club of the Class A Eastern League. In addition to his mound performance, the young service returnee starred at bat and in the field. He singled in the fifth to score two mates and he handled five chances flawlessly, two of them leading to inning ending double plays.

Cockell Captures Decision Over Matthews In London

Briton Beats Seattle Fighter Second Time For 9th Win In Row

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—Britain's Don Cockell switched from a body to a head attack midway of the 10-round fight to outpoint Harry Matthews of Seattle, Wash. tonight.

Cockell, who weighed 210½ to Matthews' 180½ pounds, kept alive his hopes for a possible shot at the heavyweight title this fall. It was the Briton's second victory over the American and his ninth straight success since being knocked out by Randy Turpin June 10, 1952, in a British empire light heavyweight title scrap.

The Briton won a split decision over Matthews last Aug. 7 in Seattle after flooring the American three times in the ninth round.

At the half way point, Cockell became the aggressor and began using his bulk. He threw rights which reddened the Seattle boxer's body and then back-danced out of range making Matthews miss with returning rights.

Two Cockell right-crosses slowed the American but the British champion, gunning for a shot at world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in September, was not good enough to follow up the advantage.

Late in the fight, Cockell, bleeding from a puffed eye and a battered nose, looked in worse shape than the American. It appeared to the crowd of 35,000 that Matthews might come out ahead.

At least three of Cockell's blows appeared to be low. Two were right hand punches delivered by the one-time blacksmith while the referee was standing to the left of him.

The Associated Press scorecard had Cockell the winner five rounds to four with one even.

Purse distribution was unofficially estimated at some less than $25,000 dollars per man.

On the same card Gordon Hazell of England scored an upset 10-round decision over Tiberio Mitri, Italy's recently crowned European middleweight champion, in a non-title bout. Each man weighed 162.

Orioles, Tribe Trade Players

Vic Wertz Swapped For Bob Chakales

BALTIMORE, June 1 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today traded outfielder Vic Wertz for pitcher Bob Chakales in an even swap with the Cleveland Indians.

Art Ehlers, general manager of the Orioles, said Chakales will join the team in Philadelphia tomorrow. Wertz leaves immediately to join the Indians in New York.

The 27-year-old Chakales comes from Richmond, Va. and played for Indianapolis of the American Association before joining Cleveland last year. He throws and bats right handed.

His record so far this year was two wins and no losses for Cleveland. He allowed four hits and only one earned run in 10 1-3 innings of relief pitching.

Wertz played in 29 games for the Orioles, garnering five runs and 19 hits in his 94 times at bat. The 29-year-old outfielder hit one homer and a double, and was batting .202.

Chakales, a six-foot, 180-pound hurler, born in Asheville, N. C. had an 0-2 record with the Indians last year and won four games for Indianapolis.

Emil Zatopek Sets Two More Records

BRUSSELS, June 1 (AP)—Incredible Emil Zatopek smashed his own world distance running records for six miles and 10,000 meters tonight. He broke the world 5,000 meter record Sunday.

His 10,000 meter time of 28 minutes 54.2 seconds was 7.4 seconds under the old mark but the grimacing Czech shook his head sadly and declared:

"It is possible to do better."

His time for six miles was 27.59.2. The previous record was 28:08.4.

Argos Sign Adkins

TORONTO, June 1 (AP)—The Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League said today they have signed center Tom Adkins of the University of Kentucky. Adkins is the 11th American to be signed by the Argos.

Carter Is Favorite

ST. LOUIS, June 1 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and Charley Riley did their best today to work up some excitement among the local fight gentry over their scheduled 10 round bout here tomorrow night.

Their televised 135-pound limit fight (CBS 9 p.m., EST) had engendered little advanced ballyhoo beyond the fact that Carter was a heavy favorite.

Mineral Court Term Closed

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See issued the order for closing the April term of Circuit Court in Mineral County Saturday morning. It was a light session but several sentences to the penitentiary were issued on guilty pleas and jury trial convictions. The balance of the term was taken up in civil matters, most of which were in chancery.

Unless something unforeseen occurs there will not be any jury trials until the October term. There will be the customary grand jury sitting in July for the July term of court, but if any indictments are issued they will be held over to the October term. There may be some civil matters heard before the court in the July term, but it is unlikely that there will be much work until fall, court attaches indicated.

In October the grand jury will meet and a full calendar will be carried out.

Visits In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — J. N. McIntire, Flemingsburg, Ky., visited his daughter, Mrs. Catharine McGibboney, Main Street. He attended the graduation exercises of Potomac State College at Keyser Friday. His granddaughter, Miss Nancy McGibboney, was a member of the graduating class.

"Timothy's Task" Is Subject Of Mt. Savage Senior Sermon

MT. SAVAGE — Rev. Charles W. Raley, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Ellerslie, delivered the sermon, "Timothy's Task," Second Timothy 2:1-15, at the baccalaureate services of Mt. Savage High School last night in the school auditorium.

Others who assisted with the service were the Rev. L. J. Moore, pastor of the Mt. Savage Methodist Church, and the Rev. T. E. Richardson, Corriganville.

At the opening of the service, the seniors, in academic attire, marched into the auditorium, followed by the faculty. The processional and recessional marches were played by the music instructor, Alfred Snyder, at the Hammond organ.

The Senior High chorus sang "My Creed," by Elizabeth Garret, and "Prayer Perfect," by E. J. Stenson.

Immediately following the service the teachers held a reception for the seniors in the school cafeteria.

The service was originally scheduled for May 30, but due to the Monday observance of Memorial Day, the date was changed until Tuesday.

Keyser High Graduates 115

KEYSER—"What Will You Do To Win" was the topic of Dr. Maurice Brooks, professor of wildlife management, West Virginia University, in his speech to the 115 graduates of the 65th annual commencement at Keyser High School. Dr. Brooks told the class that they were living in a world of competition; that temptation would come even when the top is reached. He said that the character of the American people is the most important thing in the world today—their honesty and square thinking.

He told the graduates that if they learn to like the people around them, keep a sense of humor, and are able to live with themselves, no matter where they are they will come out on top.

The Keyser High School band supplied the music for the commencement, the overture, processional and recessional.

Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of First Methodist Church, delivered the invocation. William Joseph Harris, member of the graduating class, gave an instrumental solo on the saxophone.

Parker C. Black, principal, presented the speaker to the group.

Tri Towns Briefs

Mineral Court Term Closed

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See issued the order for closing the April term of Circuit Court in Mineral County Saturday morning. It was a light session but several sentences to the penitentiary were issued on guilty pleas and jury trial convictions. The balance of the term was taken up in civil matters, most of which were in chancery.

Unless something unforeseen occurs there will not be any jury trials until the October term. There will be the customary grand jury sitting in July for the July term of court, but if any indictments are issued they will be held over to the October term. There may be some civil matters heard before the court in the July term, but it is unlikely that there will be much work until fall, court attaches indicated.

In October the grand jury will meet and a full calendar will be carried out.

Visits In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — J. N. McIntire, Flemingsburg, Ky., visited his daughter, Mrs. Catharine McGibboney, Main Street. He attended the graduation exercises of Potomac State College at Keyser Friday. His granddaughter, Miss Nancy McGibboney, was a member of the graduating class.

"Timothy's Task" Is Subject Of Mt. Savage Senior Sermon

MT. SAVAGE — Rev. Charles W. Raley, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Ellerslie, delivered the sermon, "Timothy's Task," Second Timothy 2:1-15, at the baccalaureate services of Mt. Savage High School last night in the school auditorium.

Others who assisted with the service were the Rev. L. J. Moore, pastor of the Mt. Savage Methodist Church, and the Rev. T. E. Richardson, Corriganville.

At the opening of the service, the seniors, in academic attire, marched into the auditorium, followed by the faculty. The processional and recessional marches were played by the music instructor, Alfred Snyder, at the Hammond organ.

The Senior High chorus sang "My Creed," by Elizabeth Garret, and "Prayer Perfect," by E. J. Stenson.

Immediately following the service the teachers held a reception for the seniors in the school cafeteria.

The service was originally scheduled for May 30, but due to the Monday observance of Memorial Day, the date was changed until Tuesday.

Keyser High Graduates 115

KEYSER—"What Will You Do To Win" was the topic of Dr. Maurice Brooks, professor of wildlife management, West Virginia University, in his speech to the 115 graduates of the 65th annual commencement at Keyser High School. Dr. Brooks told the class that they were living in a world of competition; that temptation would come even when the top is reached. He said that the character of the American people is the most important thing in the world today—their honesty and square thinking.

He told the graduates that if they learn to like the people around them, keep a sense of humor, and are able to live with themselves, no matter where they are they will come out on top.

The Keyser High School band supplied the music for the commencement, the overture, processional and recessional.

Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of First Methodist Church, delivered the invocation. William Joseph Harris, member of the graduating class, gave an instrumental solo on the saxophone.

Parker C. Black, principal, presented the speaker to the group.

HENRY — By CARL ANDERSON

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

SURE TO BE A SINGLETON

YOUR partner has led a low card of some side suit against a trump contract. You look first for lower ones. If you see none, then you know he did not have a doubleton or trebleton, from which he would have opened the top card. Next you wonder if it is a fourth-best. If there are not three higher cards outside of your view, you know it could not be the bottom of four. So what is it? It is sure to be a singleton.

	♠ A K 5 ♥ Q 6 ♦ K 10 4 ♣ A Q 8 7 5
♠ J 4 2 ♥ J 10 9 8 ♦ 5 ♣ K J 3 2	N W E S	♠ 9 3 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ A J 9 8 ♣ 9 4
	♠ Q 10 8 7 6 ♥ A K ♦ Q 7 6 ♣ 10 6

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass

North felt, properly, that letting his partner know about his emphatic support in the rebid trump suit was more important than finding out about the number of aces held by the pair. So, instead of using the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, he invited slam with that jump of spades to a level above game. South got the idea, and felt that North had adequate ace material in order to make such a bid, so went on to small slam.

It was really hard luck that he failed to make it. The unbalanced nature of the diamond suit was all that defeated him—that and the teamwork of the defenders. West sensed that the cause was hopeless unless his side could get something not truly in the cards. That's why he led the diamond 5, whereas more players in his place might have opened the heart J.

East quickly saw that there were no lower diamonds out of sight. So he went in with his A in the hope that South could follow suit. When he did, with the 7, it proved that West could not hold three diamonds higher than the 5. Hence the 5 was a singleton. Acting on that, East led back the diamond 8 for West to ruff with the setting trick.

You can note that, without the diamond return, South would easily make his contract by merely finessing the club Q after first drawing the defenders' trumps.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 9 2 ♥ 10 9 5 4 ♦ A K 5 3 ♣ K 9 5
♠ 10 8 ♥ A K Q 7 ♦ 10 2 ♣ A Q 10 4 2	N W E S	♠ J 5 3 ♥ J 8 3 2 ♦ Q 9 7 6 ♣ J 7
	♠ A K Q 7 6 4 ♥ 6 ♦ J 8 4 ♣ 8 6 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the most hopeful play for 4-Spades by South after ruffing the second heart, but how may it be thwarted?

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

SURE TO BE A SINGLETON

YOUR partner has led a low card of some side suit against a trump contract. You look first for lower ones. If you see none, then you know he did not have a doubleton or trebleton, from which he would have opened the top card. Next you wonder if it is a fourth-best. If there are not three higher cards outside of your view, you know it could not be the bottom of four. So what is it? It is sure to be a singleton.

	♠ A K 5 ♥ Q 6 ♦ K 10 4 ♣ A Q 8 7 5
♠ J 4 2 ♥ J 10 9 8 5 ♦ 5 ♣ K J 3 2	N W E S	♠ 9 3 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ A J 9 8 3 2 ♣ 9 4
	♠ Q 10 8 7 6 ♥ A K 4 ♦ Q 7 6 ♣ 10 6

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass

North felt, properly, that letting his partner know about his emphatic support in the rebid trump suit was more important than finding out about the number of aces held by the pair. So, instead of using the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, he invited slam with that jump of spades to a level above game. South got the idea, and felt that North had adequate ace material in order to make such a bid, so went on to small slam.

It was really hard luck that he failed to make it. The unbalanced nature of the diamond suit was all that defeated him—that and the teamwork of the defenders. West sensed that the cause was hopeless unless his side could get something not truly in the cards. That's why he led the diamond 5, whereas more players in his place might have opened the heart J.

East quickly saw that there were no lower diamonds out of sight. So he went in with his A in the hope that South could follow suit. When he did, with the 7, it proved that West could not hold three diamonds higher than the 5. Hence the 5 was a singleton. Acting on that, East led back the diamond 8 for West to ruff with the setting trick.

You can note that, without the diamond return, South would easily make his contract by merely finessing the club Q after first drawing the defenders' trumps.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 9 2 ♥ 10 9 5 4 ♦ A K 5 3 ♣ K 9 5
♠ 10 8 ♥ A K Q 7 ♦ 10 2 ♣ A Q 10 4 2	N W E S	♠ J 5 3 ♥ J 8 3 2 ♦ Q 9 7 6 ♣ J 7
	♠ A K Q 7 6 4 ♥ 6 ♦ J 8 4 ♣ 8 6 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the most hopeful play for 4-Spades by South after ruffing the second heart, but how may it be thwarted?

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

Are you at the age where you would be interested in letting up a little, move out from town and take on a business? You may have members of the family who could adapt themselves to business and aid to the extent that other needed lines could be added to this set-up.

Or, you may be younger and wanting to get out on your own and take over a store and ESSO station with possibilities of expanding to a real full time business, as this once was. Much depends upon Y-O-U, the man who stands behind the counter. This place has possibilities.

Trading a city property would likely put you in possession of this opportunity.

Cumberland, Md.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF A VALUABLE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY SITUATED ON THE EASTERLY SIDE OF BEDFORD STREET, IN THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MRAYLAND.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Charles L. Sisk and Amanda Sisk, his wife, to W. Boyd Smith, dated December 9, 1926, and recorded in Liber 103, folio 416, one of the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and dully assigned to Lewis M. Wilson, default having occurred in the terms, conditions and covenants of said mortgage, the undersigned Assignee will sell at public auction, alongside The Second National Bank at the corner of Baltimore and South Liberty Streets, in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, on SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1954, at 11:00 A. M., the following described property, to-wit:

All that lot, piece and parcel of ground lying and being along the Easterly side of Bedford Street Extended, in the subdivision of the property of C. G. Smith and H. A. Hensey, Northeastwardly from the City of Cumberland, Maryland, Allegany County, Maryland, and being particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same at a point on the Easterly side of Bedford Street (as now located) at the end of the lines South 35 degrees 11 minutes West 20.06 feet; South 39 degrees 23 minutes West 72 feet drawn from a planted stone marked "A.A." standing at the beginning of the lot of ground conveyed to Charles Daehler by William Reuschlein, by a deed dated February 28, 1903, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 607, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, said point of beginning being also distant 72 feet measured in a Southerly direction along the Easterly side of said Bedford Street from the division line between the property of said C. G. Smith and H. A. Hensey, and the property of Charles Daehler; and running thence with the Easterly side of Bedford Street, South 39 degrees 23 minutes West 40 feet; thence South 45 degrees 42 minutes East 178.95 feet to the Westerly side of an alley 20 feet wide; thence with the Westerly side thereof, North 39 degrees 51 minutes East 39.97 feet to intersect a line drawn South 45 degrees 42 minutes East from the place of beginning; thence reversing said intersecting line, North 45 degrees 42 minutes West 179.28 feet to the place of beginning.

IT BEING the same property conveyed unto the said Charles L. Sisk, et ux., by C. G. Smith, et al., by a deed dated December 6, 1926, and recorded in Liber 154, folio 379, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The above described property is improved by a two-story frame dwelling, containing two separate apartments. It is equipped with baths, electricity, water and furnace. The building is covered with a metal roof. The property is also improved by a garage and out building and it is in a good state of repair. It is No. 921 Bedford St.

TERMS OF SALE: CASH. State, County and City taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale.

Edwin H. Cupler, LaVale, Maryland, Complainant, vs. Elizabeth T. Cupler, 1357 Girard Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., Respondent.

No. 23667 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Complainant from the Respondent A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill states the parties were married in Oakland, Maryland, on August 10, 1929; that they lived together until October, 1947, at which time the Respondent abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that the said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly down to the present time, is of at least eighteen months duration, is deliberate and final, and beyond hope of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage.

That the Complainant has been a resident of Allegany County for more than one year prior to the filing of this suit, and that the Respondent's last known address was 1357 Girard Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon, this 14" day of May, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, that the Complainant causes this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four weeks before the 17" day of June, 1954, giving notice to the said Elizabeth T. Cupler, absent Respondent, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 5" day of July, 1954, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Aircrafts And Non-Ferrous Metals Spark Market Gain

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — The Stock Market made moderate progress today with excellent gains shown in aircrafts and non-ferrous metals.

There were several backward areas including the recently strong steels, but the price erosion didn't get very far.

The advance took the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 20 cents to $125.70, a new high for the year and the best level for the average since Oct. 25, 1929, a period right after the Stock Market started its big crash.

The industrial component of the average was up 50 cents at a new high of $170.80, the railroads were up 10 cents at a new high of $93.10, and the utilities were unchanged only 10 cents under their high of the year established last week.

There were 1,154 individual issues traded of which 525 advanced and 350 declined with 102 new highs and only 2 new lows for the year registered.

Packard was the day's most active issue, up ¼ at 4¼ on 113,900 shares.

Boeing was second most active up 1⅞ at 43¼, while Studebaker was third off ⅛ at 17⅞.

Also higher were Copper Range up 5⅛ at 39⅞, American Locomotive, Bath Iron Works, St. Joseph Lead, Monterrey Oil, American Car & Foundry, Howe Sound, Grumman Aircraft, Bell Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, International Nickel, General Electric, American Woolen, American Can, and Canadian Pacific.

There are 51 miles of bicycle paths in New York City.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

Are you at the age where you would be interested in letting up a little, move out from town and take on a business? You may have members of the family who could adapt themselves to business and aid to the extent that other needed lines could be added to this set-up.

Or, you may be younger and wanting to get out on your own and take over a store and ESSO station with possibilities of expanding to a real full time business, as this once was. Much depends upon Y-O-U, the man who stands behind the counter. This place has possibilities.

Trading a city property would likely put you in possession of this opportunity.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND
By JAMES G. STEVENSON, Clerk
—Adv. N-T May 26 June 2

LAW OFFICES OF
LEWIS M. WILSON
111 Union Street
Cumberland, Md.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF A VALUABLE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY SITUATED ON THE EASTERLY SIDE OF BEDFORD STREET, IN THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MRAYLAND.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Charles L. Sisk and Amanda Sisk, his wife, to W. Boyd Smith, dated December 9, 1926, and recorded in Liber 103, folio 416, one of the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and dully assigned to Lewis M. Wilson, default having occurred in the terms, conditions and covenants of said mortgage, the undersigned Assignee will sell at public auction, alongside The Second National Bank at the corner of Baltimore and South Liberty Streets, in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, on SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1954, at 11:00 A. M., the following described property, to-wit:

All that lot, piece and parcel of ground lying and being along the Easterly side of Bedford Street Extended, in the subdivision of the property of C. G. Smith and H. A. Hensey, Northeastwardly from the City of Cumberland, Maryland, Allegany County, Maryland, and being particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same at a point on the Easterly side of Bedford Street (as now located) at the end of the lines South 35 degrees 11 minutes West 20.06 feet; South 39 degrees 23 minutes West 72 feet drawn from a planted stone marked "A.A." standing at the beginning of the lot of ground conveyed to Charles Daehler by William Reuschlein, by a deed dated February 28, 1903, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 607, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, said point of beginning being also distant 72 feet measured in a Southerly direction along the Easterly side of said Bedford Street from the division line between the property of said C. G. Smith and H. A. Hensey, and the property of Charles Daehler; and running thence with the Easterly side of Bedford Street, South 39 degrees 23 minutes West 40 feet; thence South 45 degrees 42 minutes East 178.95 feet to the Westerly side of an alley 20 feet wide; thence with the Westerly side thereof, North 39 degrees 51 minutes East 39.97 feet to intersect a line drawn South 45 degrees 42 minutes East from the place of beginning; thence reversing said intersecting line, North 45 degrees 42 minutes West 179.28 feet to the place of beginning.

IT BEING the same property conveyed unto the said Charles L. Sisk, et ux., by C. G. Smith, et al., by a deed dated December 6, 1926, and recorded in Liber 154, folio 379, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The above described property is improved by a two-story frame dwelling, containing two separate apartments. It is equipped with baths, electricity, water and furnace. The building is covered with a metal roof. The property is also improved by a garage and out building and it is in a good state of repair. It is No. 921 Bedford St.

TERMS OF SALE: CASH. State, County and City taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale.

Edwin H. Cupler, LaVale, Maryland, Complainant, vs. Elizabeth T. Cupler, 1357 Girard Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., Respondent.

No. 23667 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Complainant from the Respondent A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill states the parties were married in Oakland, Maryland, on August 10, 1929; that they lived together until October, 1947, at which time the Respondent abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that the said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly down to the present time, is of at least eighteen months duration, is deliberate and final, and beyond hope of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage.

That the Complainant has been a resident of Allegany County for more than one year prior to the filing of this suit, and that the Respondent's last known address was 1357 Girard Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon, this 14" day of May, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, that the Complainant causes this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four weeks before the 17" day of June, 1954, giving notice to the said Elizabeth T. Cupler, absent Respondent, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 5" day of July, 1954, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Aircrafts And Non-Ferrous Metals Spark Market Gain

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — The Stock Market made moderate progress today with excellent gains shown in aircrafts and non-ferrous metals.

There were several backward areas including the recently strong steels, but the price erosion didn't get very far.

The advance took the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 20 cents to $125.70, a new high for the year and the best level for the average since Oct. 25, 1929, a period right after the Stock Market started its big crash.

The industrial component of the average was up 50 cents at a new high of $170.80, the railroads were up 10 cents at a new high of $93.10, and the utilities were unchanged only 10 cents under their high of the year established last week.

There were 1,154 individual issues traded of which 525 advanced and 350 declined with 102 new highs and only 2 new lows for the year registered.

Packard was the day's most active issue, up ¼ at 4¼ on 113,900 shares.

Boeing was second most active up 1⅞ at 43¼, while Studebaker was third off ⅛ at 17⅞.

Also higher were Copper Range up 5⅛ at 39⅞, American Locomotive, Bath Iron Works, St. Joseph Lead, Monterrey Oil, American Car & Foundry, Howe Sound, Grumman Aircraft, Bell Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, International Nickel, General Electric, American Woolen, American Can, and Canadian Pacific.

There are 51 miles of bicycle paths in New York City.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Roeder And Eves Run Close In City Mayoralty Primary

Commissioner Wins 121 Lead Over Incumbent

Carries 13 Of City's 25 Polling Places In Hard-Fought Race

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder won first place in a four-way mayoral contest in yesterday's primary election when she polled a total 3,298 votes, 121 more than incumbent Roy W. Eves who finished in second place, with 3,177.

Eliminated from the June 15 general election ballots were A. Lee Marple, who was in third place with 615 votes, and French Sensabaugh, who finished fourth with 513 ballots.

Mrs. Roeder, who is completing her second term as commissioner of streets and public property, carried 13 of the city's 25 polling places and Mayor Roy W. Eves, who is completing his first term as chief executive, carried the other 12.

THE RESULTS

Lucile W. Roeder	3,298
Roy W. Eves	3,177
A. Lee Marple	615
French Sensabaugh	513

She is the first woman in the history of Cumberland to seek the city's top office.

Mrs. Roeder was also the first woman to win a place in the City Council in 1950, and was re-elected in 1952.

Mayor Eves secured 446 votes to Mrs. Roeder's 386 in the first five polling places to report, but by the time the 11th polling place reported, Mrs. Roeder had a lead of 25. Her majority was 235 with the 19th precinct but narrowed to 121 in the final count.

Yesterday's primary found Mayor Eves in the second spot as he was in the 1952 primary, when William H. Buchholtz polled 3,547 votes, topping Eves by 465 votes.

Despite hot, humid and unpredictable weather, 51.53 per cent of the city's registered voters went to the polls yesterday in the municipal primary election.

The total vote cast was 7,766. Registration totals 15,070.

In 1952's primary the figure was about 55 per cent, and in the 1950 municipal primary, 47 per cent of the city's registered voters cast their ballots.

The first results came in at 8:50 p.m. from Ward 3, Precinct 3, at 623 Bedford Street, where 172 of the 302 registered voters cast ballots.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, with 81 votes, topped the Mayoral candidates, followed by Roy W. Eves, 66; A. Lee Marple, 12, and French Sensabaugh, 8.

The leading Council candidate in the precinct was William J. Edwards, with 90 votes. Trailing were Sisk, 77; Keegan, 74; Buchholtz, 68; Long, 61; Hauger, 38; Tederick, 37; Weatherholt, 30; Davis and Keller, 21; Zorick, 20; Butts, 10; Griffin, 9; Hensell, 5, and Lewis, 4.

A mid - afternoon rainstorm dampened the ardor of some of the polling place workers and the voters, but after the storm abated, activity at the polls climbed.

The election got off to a rapid pace in some precincts, with 15 per cent of the voters hitting the polls before 10 a.m. This was attributed by some veteran poll workers as due to the activity of a number of women workers who had lined up friends and neighbors to get them in as early as possible before "someone else tried to change their minds."

By noon, voting had slowed to a mere trickle, but as the afternoon began, just before the storm, a speedup was noted. Had it not been for the rain and the threat of rain later in the day, it is quite possible another thousand or so voters might have cast ballots.

All in all, however, it was an excellent turnout for a primary election, and no one seemed to be complaining, most of all those who finished in the top spots.

An analysis of any of the precinct returns became quite difficult as tabulations were prepared. With 19 names on the whole ballot, four for mayor and 15 for council, most of the 25 precincts in the city were represented by a candidate. However, some precincts claimed more than one "favorite son". Some of these home precinct candi-

407 Registrants Added In County In Final Days

Some 407 Allegany County residents signed up in the final four days last week so they can vote in the state and county elections, according to Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars for the County Board of Election Supervisors.

The registrants included 224 Republicans, 182 Democrats and one independent. All except the independent will be able to vote in the state and county primary elections Monday, June 28.

Busiest place of the five where registrations were accepted last Wednesday through Saturday was the board office in the Court House basement where 149 were signed, 67 Republicans, 81 Democrats and the independent.

Next came the Mt. Savage community building where 90 registered, 62 Republicans and only 28 Democrats. Other totals included Frostburg, 89 (58 Republicans and 31 Democrats); Westernport 42 (10 Republicans and 32 Democrats) and Lonaconing 37 (27 Republicans and 10 Democrats.)

The poll books will remain closed until Friday, July 9, when they will be opened for registrations for the November 2 general election.

Meanwhile, William A. Wilson, chairman of the Board of Election Supervisors, reported that absentee ballots are now ready to be mailed to service men and women. Applications will be accepted until five days before the primary. The ballots will be received by Secretary of State John R. Reeves until 7 p. m. June 28.

3 Incumbents, Buchholtz In Top Positions

Tederick, Hauger Weatherholt, Sisk Also Nominated

Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan was the high man among eight councilmanic candidates who managed to get nomination in yesterday's first June city primary election.

The results:

William V. Keegan	3,836
William H. Buchholtz	3,336
William J. Edwards	3,230
John J. Long	2,890
George H. Tederick	2,136
Keith T. Sisk	1,785
F. Allan Weatherholt	1,607
Ward N. Hauger Jr.	1,509
Philip E. Keller	1,170
Frank J. Davis	1,026
Joseph H. Griffin	979
Stanley E. Zorick	954
Charles W. Hensell	481
George O. Butts	396
William B. Lewis	264

Gaining nomination along with Keegan, who outdistanced his nearest rival by 500 votes, were two other members of the present council, Edwards and Long; two former councilmen, Buchholtz and Tederick, and another man, Sisk, who got past the primary two years ago only to lose in the general election.

The other nominees who will compete in the general election June 15 are Weatherholt and Hauger.

In setting a fast pace in yesterday's election Keegan was high man in 15 of the 25 precincts. Buchholtz, who was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor two years ago, outdistanced all other candidates in five precincts.

Edwards carried two precincts, and Long, Tederick and Keller led in one each.

Keegan's lowest vote was in 3-3, the first one to report, where he got only 74 votes. There was only one precinct in which a candidate failed to get a single vote. That was in 1-2 A-K, where Butts drew a blank.

Buchholtz is from Ward 1, Precinct 3, residing at 713 Fayette Street. A total of 383 of 716 voted.

Butts, whose home address is 125 Polk Street has Ward 2, Precinct 1 as his home territory. A total of 300 of 615 voted.

John Kenny Is Renamed Mayor At Parsons

Mayor John Kenny was re-elected to his second term as mayor of Parsons, W. Va., while three of four incumbent councilmen were returned to office in the Tucker County seat's biennial election yesterday.

Final unofficial returns from the town's three wards showed:

FOR MAYOR

John Kenny	160

FOR RECORDER

Forrest Isner	144

FOR COUNCIL

Willard Wilson	48
Hansel Armentrout	42
George Bowley	35
Bruce Auvil	34
Clarence Barr	21
Charlie Buchanan	18
Ralph Shrout	18

Others who received councilmanic votes in Ward 1 were Fred Butcher, 32; Robert Parsons Jr., 37; and in Ward 3, Roy Lewis, 17.

Under Parsons' elective system candidates run on two tickets, the Progressive and Democratic tickets. A mayor, recorder and two councilmen from each of the three wards are elected.

Mayor Kenny and Recorder Forrest Isner ran unopposed on both tickets while Bowley and Auvil, both incumbents, were unopposed on the two tickets for Ward 2 councilmen. Wilson was re-elected Ward 1 councilman while Armentrout is a new office holder for Ward 1 council.

Clarence Barr captured one of the Ward 3 council posts while Charlie Buchanan, incumbent Ward 3 councilman, and Ralph Shrout tied with 18 votes apiece. A decision will be made later as to which will get the second Ward 3 council post.

Tracy Nestor, present recorder who was not seeking re-election, received 24 write-in votes.

A referendum on the continuation of street improvements levy was defeated, 107 to 69.

Blasting Cap Danger Cited

The warning, "don't touch a blasting cap" was sounded yesterday by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, in launching a broad safety campaign to protect children from blasting cap accidents that last year blinded or maimed over 100 children and adults.

Blasting caps are shiny, pencil-sized metallic cartridges which, when inserted in sticks of dynamite and detonated by a burning fuse or electric charge, set off the explosion.

Caps in themselves are dangerous since they contain a powder charge that can be set off by careless handling, shock or heat.

When this happens fragments from the cap's disintegrated metal casing can puncture an eye, sever a hand, or in extreme cases, cause death.

Blasting caps, Chief Parker said, are needed to set off dynamite to mine coal, build roads and tunnels, drain swamps and clear fields but, if carelessly handled and the caps fall into the hands of boys and girls, serious injury can result.

Film Owner Is Guilty Of Violation Of Code

Exhibited Print Without State Seal

John Rose, owner and operator of Rose Road Shows, yesterday was found guilty of leasing a film which was shown in Allegany County April 25, 1953, without the Maryland State Board of Censors approval and seal.

Rose, who claimed the film was shipped to the Hi Rock Drive-In Theatre at McCoole by mistake for an approved version, was fined $25 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick in Trial Magistrate's Court for violation of Section 2, Article 66-A of the Annotated Code of Maryland which prohibits the leasing, selling or viewing of pictures without approval by the board of censors. Magistrate Dick suspended the fine because the violation was a first offense by Rose.

Charged along with Rose were R. E. Binns, vice president of the Highway Express Company, which transported the film from Washington to McCoole, and John Obert, head shipper of the Clark Film Distributors, Inc., who stored and shipped the objectionable print.

Rose appeared in court yesterday, but Binns and Obert, both of whom claimed they were not guilty of any overt act, refused to come to Cumberland to stand trial. Authorities yesterday had not decided whether they would prosecute Binns and Obert after having won a conviction against Rose.

Dick, before passing sentence on Rose, told the film owner, "You don't seem to realize you have something which is dynamite. The very title of the film, 'Midnight Frolics,' is an inducement for teenagers and school children as well as adults to attend the showing of the picture.

"All you have to do is suggest," Dick continued in censuring the film company owner, "and the fact you advertised the film as a legitimate picture is no excuse. It was shown at midnight which was another inducement.

"We saw the film today," Dick stated, "and the public got rooked. There was no entertainment value of any sort in the film. This court gets utterly disgusted with people who produce, film and exhibit such prints.

"This court can not let you go free just because a mistake was made and crack down on the next guy. You are first and it is unfortunate but we find you guilty as charged."

Sydney R. Traub, chairman of the Maryland State Board of Censors, and Mrs. Eva M. Holland, former vice chairman and now supervisor of films for the board, testified the board had received a copy of the picture with deletions and that the board had approved this print.

However, they added, the license was approved specifically stating no other uncensored prints could be exhibited. Rose admitted having three other uncensored prints of the film in his possession.

Rose contended that when he gave orders for the picture to be sent to McCoole he meant for the censored version to be shipped. However, he claimed, through an error which was not his fault the distribution company had sent an uncensored version.

The board of censors was notified in a telegram from the operator of the Hi Rock Theatre, Leslie Fisher, that he had an uncensored print in his possession but, Fisher testified, he exhibited the picture as advertised because he had received no word of what other

Ursuline Will Graduate 22 Here Tonight

Today is graduation day for 22 seniors of Ursuline Academy.

A solemn high mass this morning at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will begin the activities of the day. The seniors, attired in caps and gowns, will attend the mass along with all other students of the academy and SS. Peter and Paul School.

After the mass, the graduating seniors will be guests of the faculty at breakfast, according to Sister Marjorie, principal.

The commencement exercises at SS. Peter and Paul Church will get under way at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Father Marius J. Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will be celebrant at solemn benediction which will follow the exercises. Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM Cap., will be deacon, Rev. Diego Jose, subdeacon, and Rev. Kenan Crowley, OFM Cap., master of ceremonies.

Diplomas will be presented by Father Marius.

Carmen DiBacco Wins 5th Term As Thomas Mayor

Thomas, W. Va., voters returned Carmen G. "Zeke" DiBacco to office as mayor of the Tucker County community for his fifth consecutive two-year term yesterday.

DiBacco, along with the recorder and four councilmen, all ran unopposed.

Final unofficial returns of 93 votes cast:

FOR MAYOR

Carmen G. DiBacco	89

FOR RECORDER

Carmen Monda	80

FOR COUNCILMAN-AT-LARGE

C. R. Thayer	81

FOR COUNCILMAN, First Ward

J. C. Cooper Jr.	62

FOR COUNCILMAN, Second Ward

Glen Hammrick	21
Elwood Paugh	19

Monda, the new recorder, replaced Ed Breedlove, who did not seek election. Hammrick was named for a four-year term and Paugh for two years in the second ward.

Holdover councilman from the first ward is Salvadore DiBacco. The mayor and four councilmen all were incumbents. They will take office the second Tuesday in July.

Heavy Rainstorm Hits Throughout Tri-State Area

Lightning Strikes Frederick St. Home

A blinding rainstorm, accompanied by thunder and lightning and followed by a colorful double rainbow, struck the Tri-State area yesterday evening, pouring almost an inch of water onto the earth in a short period of time.

Storm clouds gathered in the afternoon of a hot and sultry day, with light, scattered showers falling until evening. Then the heavens opened up with nearly a half inch of rain falling in the space of about an hour.

Lightning Damage Reported

Lightning damage was reported in several instances. Flooded streets and basements also were reported in Keyser with possibly heavy damage in the residential and business sections.

The hard rain, which struck about 7 p. m., was accompanied by bolts of lightning and some hail. A transformer on a utility pole at Arnold and State streets in Keyser was struck by lightning, a high voltage line was hit by another bolt at Orchard and St. Cloud streets there, and the home of Mrs. Lloyd Trenton in Keyser also was struck.

The South End of the city was without electricity for over an hour, Keyser authorities said. Wind and hail accompanied the storm, flooding streets and basements. In some spots the water rushing by was high enough to cover running boards of passing automobiles. Police were forced to re-route traffic at the approach to the McCoole-Keyser bridge because of the high water in the streets.

"Cracked Like Gun"

Edwin R. Hunt, 730 Frederick Street, reported lightning struck his home about 8 p. m. The bolt entered through a vent in the roof and damaged the interior of his bathroom, which was covered with steel tile.

"It cracked like a gun," Hunt said. A light circuit was knocked out, putting out lights in the bathroom and bedroom and knocking out the refrigerator.

However, there was no fire and little other damage.

The heavy rain was reported throughout the area in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland. Visibility was only about 20 feet, state police reported.

Highways were wet and state police in all three states advised caution in driving, although the rain had stopped last night and skies were clearing.

Temperature Is Highest

The general thunderstorm moved across Maryland, Southern Pennsylvania and parts of West Virginia, and the Weather Bureau predicted strong winds would accompany some of the electrical storms.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported .96 of an inch of rain fell during the day with .49 coming down during the hour-long storm between 7 and 8 p. m.

Temperatures soared to 92 degrees, highest for the year yesterday. The low was recorded at 60 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. thermometers registered 66. Humidity was 90 per cent.

Romney Elects Recorder, Three Councilmen

Romney voters re-elected G. Edward Nogle recorder and returned two of three incumbent councilmen to office in their yearly general election yesterday.

FOR RECORDER

G. Edward Nogle 117
George Shanholtz 1 (write-in)

FOR COUNCIL

Lewis D. Pugh 128
Albert Corbin 92
Merle L. Wolford 91
A. W. Van Fleet 77
George Shanholtz 19 (write-ins)
Sally Turner 12 (write-ins)

Pugh is the only newcomer to the Romney council, ousting incumbent A. W. Van Fleet. Corbin and Wolford were re-elected.

Romney elects each year, a mayor and three councilmen for two year terms one year, and a recorder and three councilmen for two years the next year.

David Shear is mayor of the Hampshire County seat and holdover councilmen are Mrs. George Judy, Robert D. Hott and Merle Combs. New officers will take office July 1.

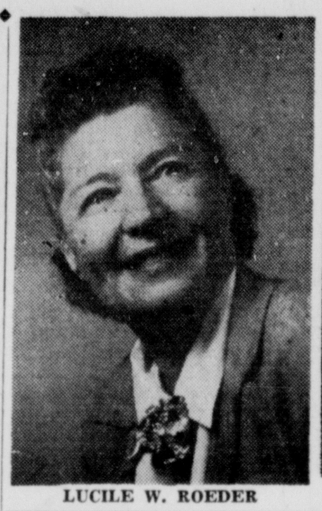
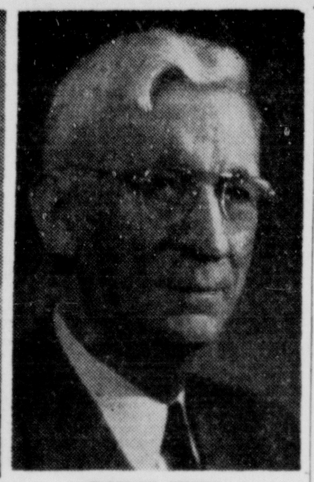
Roeder And Eves Run Close In City Mayoralty Primary

Commissioner Wins 121 Lead Over Incumbent

Carries 13 Of City's 25 Polling Places In Hard-Fought Race



LUCILE W. ROEDER



ROY W. EVES

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder won first place in a four-way mayoral contest in yesterday's primary election when she polled a total 3,298 votes, 121 more than incumbent Roy W. Eves who finished in second place, with 3,177.

Eliminated from the June 15 general election ballots were A. Lee Marple, who was in third place with 615 votes, and French Sensabaugh, who finished fourth with 513 ballots.

Mrs. Roeder, who is completing her second term as commissioner of streets and public property, carried 13 of the city's 25 polling places and Mayor Roy W. Eves, who is completing his first term as chief executive, carried the other 12.

THE RESULTS

Lucile W. Roeder	3,298
Roy W. Eves	3,177
A. Lee Marple	615
French Sensabaugh	513

She is the first woman in the history of Cumberland to seek the city's top office.

Mrs. Roeder was also the first woman to win a place in the City Council in 1950, and was re-elected in 1952.

Mayor Eves secured 446 votes to Mrs. Roeder's 386 in the first five polling places to report, but by the time the 11th polling place reported, Mrs. Roeder had a lead of 25. Her majority was 235 with the 19th precinct but narrowed to 121 in the final count.

Yesterday's primary found Mayor Eves in the second spot as he was in the 1952 primary, when William H. Buchholtz polled 3,547 votes, topping Eves by 465 votes.

Despite hot, humid and unpredictable weather, 51.53 per cent of the city's registered voters went to the polls yesterday in the municipal primary election.

The total vote cast was 7,766. Registration totals 15,070.

In 1952's primary the figure was about 55 per cent, and in the 1950 municipal primary, 47 per cent of the city's registered voters cast their ballots.

The first results came in at 8:50 p.m. from Ward 3, Precinct 3, at 623 Bedford Street, where 172 of the 302 registered voters cast ballots.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, with 81 votes, topped the Mayoral candidates, followed by Roy W. Eves, 66; A. Lee Marple, 12, and French Sensabaugh, 8.

The leading Council candidate in the precinct was William J. Edwards, with 90 votes. Trailing were Sisk, 77; Keegan, 74; Buchholtz, 68; Long, 61; Hauger, 38; Tederick, 37; Weatherholt, 30; Davis and Keller, 21; Zorick, 20; Butts, 10; Griffin, 9; Hensell, 5, and Lewis, 4.

A mid - afternoon rainstorm dampened the ardor of some of the polling place workers and the voters, but after the storm abated, activity at the polls climbed.

The election got off to a rapid pace in some precincts, with 15 per cent of the voters hitting the polls before 10 a.m. This was attributed by some veteran poll workers as due to the activity of a number of women workers who had lined up friends and neighbors to get them in as early as possible before "someone else tried to change their minds."

By noon, voting had slowed to a mere trickle, but as the afternoon began, just before the storm, a speedup was noted. Had it not been for the rain and the threat of rain later in the day, it is quite possible another thousand or so voters might have cast ballots.

All in all, however, it was an excellent turnout for a primary election, and no one seemed to be complaining, most of all those who finished in the top spots.

An analysis of any of the precinct returns became quite difficult as tabulations were prepared. With 19 names on the whole ballot, four for mayor and 15 for council, most of the 25 precincts in the city were represented by a candidate. However, some precincts claimed more than one "favorite son". Some of these home precinct candi-

407 Registrants Added In County In Final Days

Some 407 Allegany County residents signed up in the final four days last week so they can vote in the state and county elections, according to Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars for the County Board of Election Supervisors.

The registrants included 224 Republicans, 182 Democrats and one independent. All except the independent will be able to vote in the state and county primary elections Monday, June 28.

Busiest place of the five where registrations were accepted last Wednesday through Saturday was the board office in the Court House basement where 149 were signed, 67 Republicans, 81 Democrats and the independent.

Next came the Mt. Savage community building where 90 registered, 62 Republicans and only 28 Democrats. Other totals included Frostburg, 89 (58 Republicans and 31 Democrats); Westernport 42 (10 Republicans and 32 Democrats) and Lonaconing 37 (27 Republicans and 10 Democrats.)

The poll books will remain closed until Friday, July 9, when they will be opened for registrations for the November 2 general election.

Meanwhile, William A. Wilson, chairman of the Board of Election Supervisors, reported that absentee ballots are now ready to be mailed to service men and women. Applications will be accepted until five days before the primary. The ballots will be received by Secretary of State John R. Reeves until 7 p. m. June 28.

3 Incumbents, Buchholtz In Top Positions

Tederick, Hauger Weatherholt, Sisk Also Nominated

Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan was the high man among eight councilmanic candidates who managed to get nomination in yesterday's first June city primary election.

The results:

William V. Keegan	3,836
William H. Buchholtz	3,336
William J. Edwards	3,230
John J. Long	2,890
George H. Tederick	2,136
Keith T. Sisk	1,785
F. Allan Weatherholt	1,667
Ward N. Hauger Jr.	1,509
Philip E. Keller	1,170
Frank J. Davis	1,026
Joseph H. Griffin	979
Stanley E. Zorick	954
Charles W. Hensell	481
George O. Butts	396
William B. Lewis	264

Gaining nomination along with Keegan, who outdistanced his nearest rival by 500 votes, were two other members of the present council, Edwards and Long; two former councilmen, Buchholtz and Tederick, and another man, Sisk, who got past the primary two years ago only to lose in the general election.

The other nominees who will compete in the general election June 15 are Weatherholt and Hauger.

In setting a fast pace in yesterday's election Keegan was high man in 15 of the 25 precincts. Buchholtz, who was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor two years ago, outdistanced all other candidates in five precincts.

Edwards carried two precincts, and Long, Tederick and Keller led in one each.

Keegan's lowest vote was in 3-3, the first one to report, where he got only 74 votes. There was only one precinct in which a candidate failed to get a single vote. That was in 1-2 A-K, where Butts drew a blank.

Buchholtz is from Ward 1, Precinct 3, residing at 713 Fayette Street. A total of 383 of 716 voted.

Time Out For Lunch

These election workers at West Side School, polling place for Ward 1, Precinct 4, take time out for lunch before piling into the stack of ballots cast in the city's biggest precinct (registration 852) in yesterday's municipal primary. Part of the ballots can be seen in ballot box at right. Around the table (clockwise) are Mrs. Mary L. Goodhand, Mrs. Minnie Mullin, Mrs. Viola Serf, Mrs. Margaret M. Morehead, Mrs. Bessie Meyers, Mrs. Gertrude B. Reid.

John Kenny Is Renamed Mayor At Parsons

Mayor John Kenny was re-elected to his second term as mayor of Parsons, W. Va., while three of four incumbent councilmen were returned to office in the Tucker County seat's biennial election yesterday.

Final unofficial returns from the town's three wards showed:

FOR MAYOR
John Kenny 160

FOR RECORDER
Forrest Isner 144

FOR COUNCIL

Willard Wilson	48
Hansel Armentrout	42
George Bowley	35
Bruce Auvil	34
Clarence Barr	21
Charlie Buchanan	18
Ralph Shrout	18

Others who received councilmanic votes in Ward 1 were Fred Butcher, 32; Robert Parsons Jr., 37; and in Ward 3, Roy Lewis, 17.

Under Parsons' elective system candidates run on two tickets, the Progressive and Democratic tickets. A mayor, recorder and two councilmen from each of the three wards are elected.

Mayor Kenny and Recorder Forrest Isner ran unopposed on both tickets while Bowley and Auvil, both incumbents, were unopposed on the two tickets for Ward 2 councilmen. Wilson was re-elected Ward 1 councilman while Armentrout is a new office holder for Ward 1 council.

Clarence Barr captured one of the Ward 3 council posts while Charlie Buchanan, incumbent Ward 3 councilman, and Ralph Shrout tied with 18 votes apiece. A decision will be made later as to which will get the second Ward 3 council post.

Tracy Nestor, present recorder who was not seeking re-election, received 24 write-in votes.

A referendum on the continuation of street improvements levy was defeated, 107 to 69.

Blasting Cap Danger Cited

The warning, "don't touch a blasting cap" was sounded yesterday by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, in launching a broad safety campaign to protect children from blasting cap accidents that last year blinded or maimed over 100 children and adults.

Blasting caps are shiny, pencil-sized metallic cartridges which, when inserted in sticks of dynamite and detonated by a burning fuse or electric charge, set off the explosion.

Caps in themselves are dangerous since they contain a powder charge that can be set off by careless handling, shock or heat.

When this happens fragments from the cap's disintegrated metal casing can puncture an eye, sever a hand, or in extreme cases, cause death.

Blasting caps, Chief Parker said, are needed to set off dynamite to mine coal, build roads and tunnels, drain swamps and clear fields but, if carelessly handled and the caps fall into the hands of boys and girls, serious injury can result.

Film Owner Is Guilty Of Violation Of Code

Exhibited Print Without State Seal

John Rose, owner and operator of Rose Road Shows, yesterday was found guilty of leasing a film which was shown in Allegany County April 25, 1953, without the Maryland State Board of Censors approval and seal.

Rose, who claimed the film was shipped to the Hi Rock Drive-In Theatre at McCoole by mistake for an approved version, was fined $25 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick in Trial Magistrate's Court for violation of Section 2, Article 66-A of the Annotated Code of Maryland which prohibits the leasing, selling or viewing of pictures without approval by the board of censors. Magistrate Dick suspended the fine because the violation was a first offense by Rose.

Charged along with Rose were R. E. Binns, vice president of the Highway Express Company, which transported the film from Washington to McCoole, and John Obert, head shipper of the Clark Film Distributors, Inc., who stored and shipped the objectionable print.

Rose appeared in court yesterday, but Binns and Obert, both of whom claimed they were not guilty of any overt act, refused to come to Cumberland to stand trial. Authorities yesterday had not decided whether they would prosecute Binns and Obert after having won a conviction against Rose.

Dick, before passing sentence on Rose, told the film owner, "You don't seem to realize you have something which is dynamite. The very title of the film, 'Midnight Frolics,' is an inducement for teenagers and school children as well as adults to attend the showing of the picture.

"All you have to do is suggest," Dick continued in censuring the film company owner, "and the fact you advertised the film as a legitimate picture is no excuse. It was shown at midnight which was another inducement.

"We saw the film today," Dick stated, "and the public got rooked. There was no entertainment value of any sort in the film. This court gets utterly disgusted with people who produce, film and exhibit such prints.

"This court can not let you go free just because a mistake was made and crack down on the next guy. You are first and it is unfortunate but we find you guilty as charged."

Sydney R. Traub, chairman of the Maryland State Board of Censors, and Mrs. Eva M. Holland, former vice chairman and now supervisor of films for the board, testified the board had received a copy of the picture with deletions and that the board had approved this print.

However, they added, the license was approved specifically stating no other uncensored prints could be exhibited. Rose admitted having three other uncensored prints of the film in his possession.

Rose contended that when he gave orders for the picture to be sent to McCoole he meant for the censored version to be shipped. However, he claimed, through an error which was not his fault the distribution company had sent an uncensored version.

The board of censors was notified in a telegram from the operator of the Hi Rock Theatre, Leslie Fisher, that he had an uncensored print in his possession but, Fisher testified, he exhibited the picture as advertised because he had received no word of what other

Today is graduation day for 22 seniors of Ursuline Academy.

A solemn high mass this morning at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will begin the activities of the day. The seniors, attired in caps and gowns, will attend the mass along with all other students of the academy and SS. Peter and Paul School.

After the mass, the graduating seniors will be guests of the faculty at breakfast, according to Sister Marjorie, principal.

The commencement exercises at SS. Peter and Paul Church will get under way at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Father Marius J. Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will be celebrant at solemn benediction which will follow the exercises. Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM Cap., will be deacon, Rev. Diego Jose, subdeacon, and Rev. Kenan Crowley, OFM Cap., master of ceremonies.

Diplomas will be presented by Father Marius.

Carmen DiBacco Wins 5th Term As Thomas Mayor

Thomas, W. Va., voters returned Carmen G. "Zeke" DiBacco to office as mayor of the Tucker County community for his fifth consecutive two-year term yesterday.

DiBacco, along with the recorder and four councilmen, all ran unopposed.

Final unofficial returns of 93 votes cast:

FOR MAYOR
Carmen G. DiBacco 89

FOR RECORDER
Carmen Monda 80

FOR COUNCILMAN-AT-LARGE
C. R. Thayer 81

FOR COUNCILMAN, First Ward
J. C. Cooper Jr. 62

FOR COUNCILMAN, Second Ward

Glen Hammrick	21
Elwood Paugh	19

Monda, the new recorder, replaced Ed Breedlove, who did not seek election. Hammrick was named for a four-year term and Paugh for two years in the second ward.

Holdover councilman from the first ward is Salvadore DiBacco. The mayor and four councilmen all were incumbents. They will take office the second Tuesday in July.

Heavy Rainstorm Hits Throughout Tri-State Area

Lightning Strikes Frederick St. Home

A blinding rainstorm, accompanied by thunder and lightning and followed by a colorful double rainbow, struck the Tri-State area yesterday evening, pouring almost an inch of water onto the earth in a short period of time.

Storm clouds gathered in the afternoon of a hot and sultry day, with light, scattered showers falling until evening. Then the heavens opened up with nearly a half inch of rain falling in the space of about an hour.

Lightning Damage Reported

Lightning damage was reported in several instances. Flooded streets and basements also were reported in Keyser with possibly heavy damage in the residential and business sections.

The hard rain, which struck about 7 p. m., was accompanied by bolts of lightning and some hail. A transformer on a utility pole at Arnold and State streets in Keyser was struck by lightning, a high voltage line was hit by another bolt at Orchard and St. Cloud streets there, and the home of Mrs. Lloyd Trenton in Keyser also was struck.

The South End of the city was without electricity for over an hour, Keyser authorities said. Wind and hail accompanied the storm, flooding streets and basements. In some spots the water rushing by was high enough to cover running boards of passing automobiles. Police were forced to re-route traffic at the approach to the McCoole-Keyser bridge because of the high water in the streets.

"Cracked Like Gun"

Edwin R. Hunt, 730 Frederick Street, reported lightning struck his home about 8 p. m. The bolt entered through a vent in the roof and damaged the interior of his bathroom, which was covered with steel tile.

"It cracked like a gun," Hunt said. A light circuit was knocked out, putting out lights in the bathroom and bedroom and knocking out the refrigerator.

However, there was no fire and little other damage.

The heavy rain was reported throughout the area in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland. Visibility was only about 20 feet, state police reported.

Highways were wet and state police in all three states advised caution in driving, although the rain had stopped last night and skies were clearing.

Temperature Is Highest

The general thunderstorm moved across Maryland, Southern Pennsylvania and parts of West Virginia, and the Weather Bureau predicted strong winds would accompany some of the electrical storms.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported .96 of an inch of rain fell during the day with .49 coming down during the hour-long storm between 7 and 8 p. m.

Temperatures soared to 92 degrees, highest for the year yesterday. The low was recorded at 60 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. thermometers registered 66. Humidity was 90 per cent.

Romney Elects Recorder, Three Councilmen

Romney voters re-elected G. Edward Nogle recorder and returned two of three incumbent councilmen to office in their yearly general election yesterday.

FOR RECORDER
G. Edward Nogle 117
George Shanholtz 1 (write-in)

FOR COUNCIL
Lewis D. Pugh 128
Albert Corbin 92
Merle L. Wolford 91
A. W. Van Fleet 77
George Shanholtz 19 (write-ins)

Sally Turner 12 (write-ins)

Pugh is the only newcomer to the Romney council, ousting incumbent A. W. Van Fleet. Corbin and Wolford were re-elected.

Romney elects each year, a mayor and three councilmen for two year terms one year, and a recorder and three councilmen for two years the next year.

David Shear is mayor of the Hampshire County seat and holdover councilmen are Mrs. George Judy, Robert D. Hott and Merle Combs. New officers will take office July 1.
